9 and 11 year-old girls aid VT & NH flood victims

Kaitlin and Morgan Fleury (6th and 4th graders) are sisters from Springfield, N.H. On a drive to their grandparents house in North Pomfret, Vermont to deliver a dehumidifier to help dry out their flooded basement, several days after Hurricane Irene, they witnessed firsthand the devastation caused by the flooding. The drive through West Hartford was heartbreaking and emotion invoking. The girls decided then and there that they wanted to do something to help the people who had lost their homes and belongings in the flood. At first they thought they would make woven bracelets and sell them to raise money. After more careful thought, they realized that this would be very time consuming. They pondered a few more ideas and decided on making necklaces with shrink art in the shape of Vermont and New Hampshire with hearts attached. The necklaces are made with shrink plastic which first has to be sanded by Todd, the girls' dad, then the templates made by the girls' mom, Sara, are traced with a Sharpie marker. The girls color the states and hearts with colored pencils, green for Vermont (the Green Mountain State) and gray for New Hampshire (the Granite State). The hearts are colored a variety of shades in red and pink. Once colored in, Sara cuts them out and then punches holes in them. They are baked by either Todd or Sara and then assembled with jump rings and strings tied on by the girls. To date, the girls have made nearly 900 necklaces on their own and devoted countless hours and energy to this process.

Their first debut with the necklaces began at a pancake breakfast fundraiser for their second cousin and his girlfriend at Applebee's restaurant in Lebanon, N.H. who had lost their home and all of their belongings in the flood. They sold many necklaces on that date and decided that the money they raised would be split evenly between the Upper Valley Haven and Granite United Way, two organizations that were helping the flood victims already. Soon after, the girls, with help from their parents, started putting necklace stands up in local businesses to try and raise more money.

During a radio-on-location promotion at Bridgman's Furniture, Steve and Arleen Rutledge part owners of Bridgman's, invited the girls to sell the necklaces. It was at this time that the girls recorded a PSA for 92.3, a local radio station. This PSA has been playing since October on 92.3 and its sister stations 100.5, 93.9 and 94.3. Kaitlin and Morgan were invited to attend the Norwich Farmers' Market by a neighbor and at this all-day event, they raised over $400! They also set up a table outside of the Quechee Gorge

Kaitlin and Morgan Flenry are still continuing with their fundraiser for the Vermont and New Hampshire flood victims. With the help from students at KRES-New London, the total amount donated thus far is $3,640.10 from the necklace sales. They presented the check to Granite United Way and the Haven during an assembly on Dec. 9, 2011. Kaitlin and Morgan have raised an additional $800, which puts their total raised to nearly $4,500. They need to sell about 100 more necklaces to reach their goal of $5,000. Gift Shop and, in the wind, rain and cold, sold over 50 necklaces! Another Saturday at Bridgman's resulted in several more necklace sales and even a live on-air interview with Justin Tyler from Kixx 100.5. An additional adventure included selling the necklaces at the Grantham Holiday Bazaar which resulted in raising over $130. Other businesses that are now displaying and selling the necklaces include Pizza Chef, Springledge Farm, Morgan Hill Bookstore, Artisan's, and Ellies Cafe (all in New London), and Lake Sunapee Bank in Grantham and most recently the Quechee Antique Mall. The girls also have several friends and family members helping them to sell the necklaces.

On 11-8-11, the girls presented checks to the Upper Valley Haven and Granite United Way for $1,062.55 each, a combined total of $2,125.10.

Morgan's elementary school, Kearsarge Regional Elementary-New London, also had 13 classes participate in making and selling the necklaces under Sara's direction. Separately, the school raised $1,515 (which is included in the girls total amount raised). The school wrapped up their portion and donated this money to the Upper Valley Haven and Granite United Way in an all-school assembly. The school children also presented the Haven and United Way with cards and letters that they had made with well wishes for the flood victims.

Kaitlin and Morgan wrote letters to Governor Lynch and enclosed a necklace so he could see what it looked like. He sent back a fantastic letter and even enclosed a $5 bill for the necklace they had sent him!

Granite United Way was so impressed with the girls' efforts that they nominated them Hometown Heroes! Certificates were presented to Kaitlin and Morgan from the United Way and a segment filmed by WPTZ TV at the Haven which aired on Thursday, January 19th! This will also be accessible through WPTZ.com for those who are not able to view it during the nightly news. Kaitlin and Morgan also surprised the Haven and United Way with additional checks on this date and presentation of the checks was caught on film by WPTZ TV! This additional amount was $1,074.50, split evenly between the two organizations.

As of today, the girls have donated $4,714.60 ($2,357.30 for each organization). They have raised an additional $110 since their most recent donation which puts their total raised to $4824.60. They have set a goal of $5,000 which will give each organization $2,500.

The necklaces are not only going to places throughout the U.S. such as Washington State, California, Utah, Texas, Louisiana, Ohio, Connecticut, Florida, New Jersey and Massachusetts but are also traveling far away to places like England, Milawi and the Phillipines!

Bennington to fix bridge and sidewalks

Bennington voters will face three warrant articles at Town Meeting time. The largest seeks $60,000 to replace a bridge at the Antrim and Bennington town line on North Bennington Road. Antrim and Bennington have received a State of NH grant covering 80 percent of the $1.35 million replacement cost, leaving the towns to raise 10 percent, or $135,000. Benmngton currently has $75,500 in a capital reserve fund. Antrim has plans to repair two other bridges on the same stretch of North Bennington Road, so they only have to close the road once.

A second Bennington article asks for $54,000 for sidewalk improvements. The town received a $596,000 Transportation Enhancement grant to improve drainage and upgrade the sidewalks, Bennington must raise 20 percent of the money before the grant expires in April. The third article calls for $16,100 to replace the compactor being used by the recycling center and Transfer Station. The current machine, bought 15 years ago is still functional, but has been failing.
