Galligan leaving CSC

Colby-Sawyer College's president is stepping down after the end of this academic year. Thomas Galligan, Jr., who has been president since 2006, will leave the school at the end of his current five-year contract in June, the college announced in a statement on its website. In his time at Colby-Sawyer, Galligan increased the number of majors, diversity, and full-time faculty members, while expanding facilities and reducing the college's carbon footprint.

An excavator from New Hampshire Demolition began to tear down the old bowling ally building in Newport on September 8. The building now owned by New London Hospital will provide needed parking while the new Newport Health Center is constructed on the corner of Elm Street and Route 11. The new health center will be completed in about a year. Paul Howe photo.

ATM warning

Users of Goffstown ATM at Shaw's Plaza warned

Goffstown Police are urging people who may have used the Bank of America ATM at the Shaw's Plaza on Mast Road to check their bank and credit card statements for unusual transactions. Police say they found a credit card skimming device. Police say a fake front was placed over the magnetic strip reader that would unlock the door leading into the ATM. Bank officials have been notified. Anybody who has used the Bank of America ATM at the Shaw's Plaza in Goffstown in the past month should request a new bank card.

"Look at the door before you put your card in. If it's raised a little, it's a skimmer," officials say. "You have to be vigilant, look a little closer." Anyone with information regarding the skimming device has been asked to contact police. An investigation is underway.

City of Franklin awarded two Federal Grants

The Franklin Mayor's Drug Task Force, begun five years ago by Mayor Ken Merrifield, has been notified that the Drug-Free Communities Support Program run by the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy has awarded the city a $625,000 grant to continue for another five years.

The program, one of the first of its kind to be initiated by a city government and a mayor nationwide, uses the money to fund a full-time drug program coordinator. Merrifield now wants to apply for a "Mentoring Grant" so Franklin can assist other communities battling the problem.

In other good news, City Manager Elisabeth Dragon announced that the city has been awarded a $12,500 Rural development Grant to install a wheelchair lift at City Hall.

Franklin City Council & School Board candidate forum Sept. 28th

Olivia Zink is running for a Ward 2 council seat in hopes of breaking the all male representation on the Franklin City Council. She faces incumbent Glen Feener and Rene Desmarais, a five-year resident of the city. Zink has been disappointed in previous municipal elections, with of a lack of names on the city's ballot. Write-in campaigns have Councilor Tony Giunta, who is seeking re-election for a Ward 1 seat, faces a challenge from Delaney Carrier. Ward 3 incumbent Scott Clarenbach is uncontested.

Four women currently serve on the nine-member School Board, but two of the four open positions are contested. In Ward 1, Charles Carey is not seeking re-election and no one filed for the seat. In Ward 2, two seats are open with one candidate filed for each. Scott Burns, who was appointed to the school board this year, is running to fulfill that term, and Carla Lavoy is running for the full three-year position.

School board Chair Tamara Feener did not file for re-election, but is running a write-in campaign against Lavoy for the Ward 2 seat. Feener, being city moderator, prevents her from appearing on the ballot (also a three-year term, is the most contested) Three newcomers are running for the Ward 3 seat. Karen McAllister, Deborah Brown and Mark Dixon.

Choose Franklin, a community organization, is planning a Meet the Candidates night a week ahead of the election. The event, which will give community members an opportunity to hear from the candidates for mayor, city council and school board, will be Sept. 28 at 6 p.m. at city hall. The forum will be open to all candidates, including write-in candidates, said Dzujna, who is also a member of Choose Franklin.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

A new study published in JAMA Internal Medicine links a significantly increased risk for developing dementia, including Alzheimer's disease, to taking commonly used medications with anticholinergic effects at higher doses or for a longer time. Many older people take these medications, which include nonprescription diphenhydramine (Benadryl) and tricyclic antidepressants like doxepin (Sinequan), first-generation antihistamines like chlorpheniramine (Chlor-Trimeton), and antimuscarinics for bladder control like oxybutynin (Ditropan). The study estimated that people taking at least 10 mg/day of doxepin, 4 mg/day of chlorpheniramine, or 5 mg/day of oxybutynin for more than three years would be at greater risk for developing dementia. Substitutes are available for the first two: a selective serotonin re-uptake inhibitor (SSRI) like citalopram (Celexa) or fluoxetine (Prozac) for depression and a second-generation antihistamine like loratadine (Claritin) for allergies. It's harder to find alternative medications for urinary incontinence, but some behavioral changes can reduce this problem.

Digoxin, a drug commonly used to treat heart conditions, was associated with a 71 percent higher risk of death and a 63 percent higher risk of hospitalization among adults with diagnosed atrial fibrillation and no evidence of heart failure, according to a study that appears in the current online issue of Circulation: Arrhythmia and Electrophysiology. Digoxin is a drug derived from digitalis, which has been used for more than a century for heart-rate control in patients with atrial fibrillation, and it remains commonly used for this purpose worldwide. Current clinical practice guidelines for the management of atrial fibrillation recommend the use of digoxin alone for resting heart-rate control in sedentary individuals.

Video leads to Goffstown man's arrest

A Goffstown man was charged with attempted burglary after being recognized on video surveillance footage provided by the homeowner, police said. John M. Liacos, 18, is also charged with misdemeanor criminal trespass and endangering the welfare of a child, police said in a release Sunday. Police responded to the home on Gorham Pond Road for a report of an attempted break-in Friday. The homeowner had a video surveillance system and provided police with footage showing two males attempting to enter the building sometime overnight. An officer recognized Liacos and police obtained a warrant for his arrest. He is scheduled for arraignment Monday. Police said the investigation was continuing and more arrests are expected.

Weare man faces negligent homicide

Nicholas Palangas, 50, of Weare, was arrested on Sept. 5, 2015, and charged with negligent homicide, aggravated driving while intoxicated, and other charges. Officers were called to a rollover accident. Officers responding found a 1970 Chevrolet Chevelle, resting on its roof. His brother, Eric Palangas, 49, was located within the vehicle and pronounced dead at the scene, according to Sgt. Devon Kimball of the Bedford Police Department. During the investigation, it was determined that speed and alcohol appear to be factors in this crash as Palangas failed to negotiate a curve in the roadway before losing control. Palangas was arrested, charged, and held on $50,000 cash bail. Traffic on Kilton Road was re-routed for most of the evening and overnight while the crash was investigated, according to Kimball.

Franklin City Council reinstates curfew for 16 -years old and younger

The Franklin City Council has reinstated the city's Curfew Ordinance and the Curfew Signal which were suspended over a year ago due to enforcement problems. Changes in the NH Juvenile Statutes have eliminated those problems, making clear that parents or guardians of any juveniles who violate the ordinance may be charged with the offense.

As proposed by Franklin Police Chief David Goldstein, children younger than 16 years old would not be allowed on public streets or places between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. Sunday through Thursday. On Fridays and Saturdays, the curfew would be extended to 11 p.m. Once the curfew signal sounds from the fire station on Bow Street, children younger than 16 would be allowed out only with a suitable person, older than 18 who is not under the influence of drugs or alcohol and has been approved by the child's guardian to supervise the child. If someone is found in violation of the curfew, the minor would be released by Franklin Police to the guardian or parents. On a subsequent violation, the parent or guardian of the child would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Hillsborough man arrested

Nathaniel Clarke, 36, of Hillsboro. Clarke is charged with nine counts of human trafficking for forcing three people to engage in sexual activity, between April 3 and May 7, by controlling their access to drugs and/or by confiscating identity documents. An accomplice also was indicted on felony theft for taking items valued at more than $1,000 from Macy's.

The season opener at the Open Door Coffeehouse featured a rocking performance by Hillsborough's own 2nd Time Around.

Jimmy Hendrix and Eric Clapton in Hillsborough

Jimmy Hendrix and Eric Clapton made an appearance at the season opening performance of Hillsborough's Open Door Coffeehouse on Saturday. No, it wasn't really them. But, if you had your eyes closed, you would have thought so.

Hendrix appeared in the form of John Heir, lead guitarist for Dwight Gould's 2nd Time Around band, while Clapton was represented by soloist JP Stohrer. Listening to these two in the basement of Smith Church, you would swear that you were at Woodstock listening to the two icons of the guitar world.

The Open Door welcomes the area's top musicians on the first Saturday of the month at 7:00 p.m. Admission is by donation and light refreshments are served. Do yourself a favor and come on October 3rd. It may be Elvis or Johnny Cash this time.

Change in work schedule opposed by Henniker Highway Dept.

A request by Selectman Leo Aucoin for the agenda of the Board meeting to include a discussion of adjusting the work hours of the Highway Department brought the entire highway crew to the meeting in force.

Currently, the Highway Department works five 8 hour days from October 16 to April 14th changing to a 4 day, 10 hour (6 a.m. to 4 p.m.) schedule from April 15 to October 15.

Aucoin reported that he has received several complaints from citizens that no one is available many Fridays and no work is observed at 6 a.m.. selectmen Kris Blomback and Bob French said they have received similar complaints. Aucoin would prefer a straight 5 day, 8 hour schedule but would be satisfied with limiting the 4 day, 10 hours to May 15 to September 15.

One after another members of the crew objected to the change. They stress that during the winter they often work a 70 hour week with no breaks keeping the roads plowed. They are not allowed to take vacation during that time and the 4 day week gives them the time for family vacations and work around the house. Transfer similar concerns. The Board decided it was not fair to make the change so quickly.

The Bow Public Safety Building Committee held a well attended Bidder's Conference and Site Walk on Wednesday.

Addict shot by Henniker officer sentenced

Aaron Cadman, the 19-year-old addict who slipped out of detox at a facility in Franklin, stole a truck and led a police officer on a dangerous chase through Henniker, which ended with him slamming into two oncoming vehicles and being shot in the arm after refusing to remove what turned out to be a butter knife in his pocket. He was sentenced to two-and-a-half more months. He has been in county jail ever since, minus a couple of unsuccessful attempts at outside treatment. His parents, who attended the hearing, have said they will pay for him to enter a private sober-living facility in Derry. He will remain on probation for two years after his release from jail.

Abraham & Mary Lincoln in Andover

Steve and Mary Wood of Claremont will present "Abraham and Mary Lincoln: the Long and Short of It," a living history set in 1861, Thursday, October 15, 2015 7 pm at the East Andover Grange. Their stories tell of the distinctly different paths that led each of the Lincolns to Springfield, Illinois, where they met, married, and began a family. The years that followed their move to the White House were filled with personal and national crises. After the program, the Woods will step out of character and answer audience questions. The Andover Historical Society, with a grant from the New Hampshire Humanities Council, is sponsoring the event at the East Andover Grange. A brief business meeting will be held prior to the program. The program is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served.

Peterborough Republicans reconstituted

The Peterborough Republican Committee was reconstituted August with the following officers: Chair, George Sterling, Vice Chair, Bob Lambert, and Treasurer, Mary Jane Lambert.

The Board discussed objectives for 2015-16. Priority one is to have a Republican Candidate to run for each office on the ballot. Membership is key to all organizations, and a membership drive will be started to increase both the benefits of joining the Committee, and to bring more awareness to State Reps and State Senators of the wishes of Peterborough constituents. In order to be a full member, one must be a registered Republican. A survey is being conducted to determine the best day and time to hold regular meetings.

Sunapee to repair clock and paint Harbor House Livery prior to sale

Chairman Trow opened the second of two public hearings on the potential sale of the Harbor House Livery. Donna Nashawaty read one of the covenants of the “draft” deed that might give the public a better understanding of what the Town has in mind for the building.

“The property conveyed herein shall be used for community use. In accordance with this covenant, the owner is required to provide for public access and community use of the buildings herein conveyed. Community use is defined as a use that highlights the property’s social, cultural, architectural, and historical significance in the town’s history and may be accomplished by the following, including but not limited to, dedicating physical space within the building open for community use and/or offering programs to the general public that make use of the building for community use purposes.”

Trow feels it would be in the worst possible interest of everybody and setting a horrible precedence of the town were to sell it in broken condition. The Board met on Tuesday, September 8th at 7:00pm for a vote on selling the building. Scott Hazelton put together two Request for Proposals for the Harbor House Livery Repairs which include the cost of all equipment, materials and labor necessary to complete the projects. The Board unanimously approved spending the total amount of the two proposals, $12,100 for the clock and chime repair and $10,720 for painting the cupola from the HHL capital reserve .

The Light of Freedom

This essay was originally written shortly after the attacks on the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001. We reprint it today as a reminder that the War On Terror has not yet been won. Victory belongs to the vigilant.
Leigh Bosse

A dark shadow passed over the United States this week. The deadliest attacks ever launched against American civilians hit our symbols of economic and military power and shook our civilization awake to the realization that we live in a dangerous world. The monstrous barbarism we endured was not directed at the passengers and crew flying in hijacked airliners, or at the employees doing their jobs at the World Trade Center or even at the soldiers protecting our nation from the Pentagon. The thousands of innocent victims killed on Tuesday were not the true target of these attacks.

The motive behind these atrocities was to incite fear and uncertainty into the hearts of the millions of Americans who survived. Those behind these acts of terror hoped to strike, at the heart of the American financial sector and at the nerve center of our armed forces. While they may resent American money and American muscle, what they fear is the American way of life. Stocks and bonds do not make America great. Freedom does. It is freedom that drives our economy to lead the world. It is freedom that rallies people to democracy wherever and whenever they taste it. And it is freedom that threatens tyrants holding onto power at the expense of their subjects. Freedom to travel, freedom to work, freedom to live in safety all came under fire from the forces of darkness. Our enemies are trying to break our spirit. They express their political will not through democracy and diplomacy, but in blood and rubble. Frightened men who live in shadows and send suicidal soldiers to kill defenseless civilians; these are the enemies of freedom. We are neither invulnerable nor invincible. In fact, the freedoms we enjoy in the United States provide opportunity for our enemies. Freedom brings risk, and we have paid a terrible price. Even as we assess the final cost of these attacks, we should remember the rewards of living in the greatest civilization in the history of man. We have built a nation of unparalleled prosperity and opportunity and set an example for the world. Our ongoing, experiment in democracy has spread across the continents and provided every American with freedoms never contemplated in an earlier age.

I was shocked and saddened at our tremendous national loss but had controlled my emotions throughout the day. Then I watched members of Congress gather on the Capital steps, offering words of support for the President. As the press conference broke up, these men and women who devote much of each day to each other's political downfall, joined in singing "God Bless America". And, for the first time all day, I cried. I am an American, and I live in a land where factions struggle for political control but stand shoulder to, shoulder in times of crisis. I am an American, and I am proud and grateful.

We will track down those behind these attacks. We will strike back, not for revenge but for Justice. Our retaliation will not replace the loss we feel from our departed friends but it will show other tyrants and thugs that freedom can not be attacked with impunity. We stand today as a nation, strong and resolute wounded but not weakened attacked but not defeated. The enemies of freedom lurk in the shadows, mistaking our liberty for weakness. They can only survive in darkness, but the light of freedom shall carry the day.

Capitol Comments By District 8 State Senator Jerry Little

LABOR DAY THOUGHTS ON ORGANIZED LABOR

Ask many people what Labor Day is all about and they'll tell you it's the end of summer, or time for the kids to go back to school. Few will say something like, "Labor Day is a yearly national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity, and well-being of our country," which is how the U.S. Department of Labor describes it on their web site. Like too many other holidays we seem to have forgotten why we have the day off from work, which is richly ironic in the case of Labor Day.

According to the Department of Labor we should thank labor unions for the holiday, although there is no agreement on which one gets the credit. Apparently a carpenters' union in Seattle and a machinists' union in New York had the idea around the same time, with the first celebration being held on September 5, 1882 in New York. The idea of a holiday to honor the important role of workers caught on and in little over a decade a dozen states created official holidays honoring them. The jump to a national holiday adds some political spice to the history of Labor Day, which you probably won't find on a government web site.

But a very well-referenced Wikipedia page links foundation of the national observance of Labor Day to the Pullman Strike of 1894. The nation was in the midst of an economic depression and orders for new passenger rail cars plummeted. The Pullman Company of Chicago, the leading manufacturer of those cars, lowered wages. In response the American Railway Union called for a nationwide rail strike at a time when everything, including the mail, moved by train. President Grover Cleveland sought and received an injunction to prevent the union from impeding the mail cars, which the union ignored. President Cleveland sent in federal troops, violence broke out, 30 people died and the strike ended. Six days later Cleveland signed legislation creating Labor Day. It was seen at the time as a conciliatory gesture.

Labor unions reached their zenith in the United States in the mid-1950s when almost 40 percent of working Americans were represented by one. They've been on a downward trend ever since, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. By 1983 just 20 percent of workers nationwide were union members. Today barely 11 percent of American workers belong to a union and most of those are public employees. What happened?

Free trade and global competition happened. Politics happened. Technology happened. The U.S. economy changed from being primarily manufacturing-based to being information-based. Cheaper, better, faster happened and unions failed to keep up. It's hard for any organization to stay relevant in today's fast-changing world, more so if your pledge to members is that nothing will change. Change happens. So, when the world evolves and a company or organization faces competition from a new lower-cost provider it must respond or die. Today jobs easily move to where the more cost-effective workers are. Whether that's right or not is another, very long debate. The bottom line is that unions seem to have lost much of their leverage along with their mojo.

To be clear, unions brought us much more than a holiday. Balanced social commentators generally agree that unions can claim a share of the credit for creation of the healthy middle class that formed the foundation of the American Dream. Despite that, times change and while unions find themselves on the ropes now I don't think they're facing extinction. Just struggling a bit while they look for relevance in the new economy. If they are willing to change with the times they may find it.

Crew members from the USS Kearsarge.

Warner hosts the crew of USS Kearsarge

Eight sailors worked feverishly to clear the growth from two overlooks on Mt. Kearsarge last week. They are crew members of the USS Kearsarge and opening up the vistas was their community service project. Early that morning, they hiked up the mountain of their ship's namesake along with several townsfolk from Warner. At the summit, they flew the flag of the chief petty officer selectees, the rank six of them will hold for a few more weeks before being promoted. They sang Navy songs and snapped photos, drinking in the experience and enjoying the cool breeze. Before descending, they gathered granite stones to keep as souvenirs, perhaps lowering the elevation of the mountain ever so slightly. A committee of dedicated Warner residents met weekly to plan and ensure this visit would be an enjoyable one for the sailors. Meals were provided by the Warner Selectmen, the citizens of Warner, Kearsarge Area Chamber of Commerce, and American Legion Post #39, with funding from the Nancy Sibley Wilkins Town of Warner Trust Fund of the NH Charitable Foundation. After touring local museums and a sugar house the following day, the sailors gathered with Warner town officials, members of American Legion Post #39, and townsfolk to dedicate the new state historical marker, "Mt. Kearsarge and the USS Kearsarge." Filled with the warmth of friendship, the sailors headed back to their home base in Virginia. The USS Kearsarge will be deployed to the Mediterranean and the Middle East this fall for six to nine months.

The Bow Police seeking repeat offender

The Bow Police Department is seeking the public's assistance in locating Brennan Szanto, according to a Concord Regional Crime-line alert. Szanto, according to Sgt. Art Merrigan of the Bow Police Department, is wanted for resisting detention and "is a person of interest in a recent prowling incident as well as a residential burglary," which took place on Aug. 30. Szanto is 5-feet, 9-inches tall, he weighs 150 lbs. and has brown eyes and brown hair. He is believed to be living in Northfield but also is known to frequently visit Concord. If you have seen Szanto, or know of his whereabouts, please call the Bow Police Department at 228-0511 or the Concord Regional Crimeline at 603-226-3100. Szanto was arrested in March on a felony drug possession charge in Concord. In 2013, also in Concord, he was arrested for prowling, criminal trespass, and default or breach of bail conditions. He's also been arrested in other communities around New Hampshire, including Amherst, Londonderry, and Tilton.

Peace Pole dedication in New Boston

The Community Church of New Boston is hosting a dedication ceremony for its new Peace Pole at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 13.

The pole will contain the prayer "May Peace Prevail on Earth" written in 12 languages and will be read by volunteers. The church hopes that the little peace garden will be a place people can sit for rest, reflection, contemplation, conversation and prayer for peace in the world. Congressman Jim McGovern from Massachusetts, a leader in looking for peaceful solutions to world problems and hunger issues nationally and internationally, will be the guest speaker. In 1989, McGovern was the lead investigator on the Moakley Commission Congressional investigation into the murders of six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and her daughter in El Salvador. Music will be provided by the Community Church of New Boston choir and the Spirit Song Drummers African drumming group. People are invited to a community lunch following the ceremony.

The Messenger's FREE AD POLICY

We purchased The Messenger in 1989. In that time, we have always felt that we held the paper in trust for the communities we serve. We firmly believe that a weekly newspaper can and should be a valuable community resource. In that light, we have never charged Chambers of Commerce, Lions, Rotary or Kiwanis Clubs, Masons, Historical Societies, Boy & Girl Scouts, PTOs, School Groups, or area Churches to advertise their events.

We give as large an ad as we can, space permitting, as frequently as we can, free of charge, provided the same ad is not being paid for in another publication. If a competitor is being paid we do charge, but we discount our ad by at least 50%.

We challenge our competitors to do likewise.

Franklin/Tilton/Sanbornton CROP Walk

Fall is approaching and that means it's time for the annual CROP Walk for Hunger. CROP, which stands for Communities Responding to Overcome Poverty, is sponsored by Church World Services. More than 2,000 CROP walks are held annually throughout the United States. On Sunday, October 4, the Franklin, Tilton, Sanbornton CROP Walk for Hunger will be held at O'Dell Park in Franklin. O'Dell Park was chosen because it has a safe track to walk on and play areas for children. Refreshments will be furnished by the area Clergy Association and prepared in The Golden Crest kitchen.

Registration will begin under the tent at 1:00 PM, and at 1:45 PM there will be a short kick off program. The walk officially begins at 2:00 PM with the Baker Valley Band giving the walkers a send off.

Churches participating in the walk are the Congregational Christian Church of Franklin-UCC, The Franklin United Methodist Church, The Unitarian/Universalist Congregation of Franklin, The Tilton Northfield United Methodist Church, Saint Gabriel Catholic Church of Franklin/Tilton, Sanbornton Congregational Church-UCC, and The Mountain View Church of Sanbornton. Community groups or individuals are also encouraged to join the walk. All walkers will need a collection envelope, so be sure to let Marilyn Ladew know of your interest. Walkers will designate where they wish 25% of their donations to go- the Twin Rivers Interfaith Food Pantry-Franklin/Tilton; the First Fruits Food Pantry in Sanbornton; Saint Gabriel Food Pantry in Tilton or to be divided equally between them. The rest of the monies raised will be used in the United States or worldwide to feed the hungry and to have food available during natural disasters through Church World Service. ### Goffstown teenager inspires whole town

A Goffstown teen fighting her own battle led her high school football team in their first game of the season. Junior Maddie Carlson suited up and served as an honorary captain as Goffstown High School took on Concord High School. A week after Maddie turned 16 in May, she was diagnosed with a rare bone cancer. Maddie had the tumor removed in a nine-hour surgery August 29 while her family and friends held a fundraiser. She says she is overwhelmed with the support from her fellow students. "Oh it's awesome. Like everyone's wearing yellow, "Maddie Strong" stuff everywhere. It's just awesome. And I'm so glad I finally get to be at a school game. I haven't been in school so being at these events is awesome," Maddie said. The Goffstown Grizzlies beat The Crimson Tide, 42-7.

Maddie inspired the Grizzlies to a convincing win.

A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

PUBLIC NOTICE

HILLSBORO-DEERING AND WASHINGTON SCHOOL DISTRICTS

In 1986 Congress passed the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA). In response to this law, the Hillsboro-Deering and Washington School buildings were inspected to identify any asbestos building materials. The law further requires the development of a Management Plan, based upon the findings of the inspection.

The school districts of Hillsboro-Deering and Washington are required to notify the public of the availability of the AHERA Management Plan which identifies areas having asbestos-containing materials and how these materials are being maintained in a safe manner. A copy of the Management Plan is on file for review at School Administrative Unit #34, 78 School Street 3rd fl., Hillsboro, NH. Copies of the individual building inspection reports are on file in the Facilities Director's office in the Hillsboro-Deering Elementary School.

Hillsboro-Deering Middle School, Hillsboro-Deering High School and Washington Elementary School, being of recent construction, have been certified as containing no asbestos building materials.
