Franklin arson arrest

New Hampshire State Fire Marshal J. William Degnan, Franklin Police Chief David Goldstein and Franklin Fire Chief Kevin LaChapelle announced that Amber Cowan, 28, of Franklin, was arrested for felony Arson, in connection with the fire that occurred on September 16th at an apartment building on School Street in Franklin. She is currently being held at the Merrimack County House of Corrections in lieu of $250,000 cash-only bail. The investigation is still ongoing at this time.

The Sunapee Lions Club sponsored another successful car show at Mt. Sunapee. Paul Fouillard repeated his win in the "Best Motorcycle" category with handmade 1940 Triangle, and Bruch Welch won the "People's Choice" award with his 1959 Saab.

Let there be light

Franklin debates reducing its 513 streetlights

Recently, the Municipal Services Department (MSD) Committee proposed a policy be adopted reducing Franklin's 513 streetlights by 80-100 before their conversion to LEDs.

They prioritized the need of a streetlight as follows: 1. Crosswalks 2. Sidewalks 3. Intersections within the school walking zones 4. Elevated public hazard (high accident/crime area) 5. Economic - retail, business centers. Franklin Schools have a required walking route where children have to walk sometimes during dark hours.

They recommended the removal of approximately 80-100 lights instead of the 215 proposed in 2008. Councilor Glen Feener objected saying streetlights were a crime deterrent, and Councilor Tony Guinta agreed, stressing the recent break-ins.

Feener's motion to table succeeded, with a request to the Committee and Director Brian Sullivan to provide a list of lights to be removed.

Request that Pinarville share Goffstown zip code

The Goffstown Police and Fire Chiefs discussed possible solutions to 911 calls in the Pinarville section of town being dispatched mistakenly to Manchester. The problem results from many streets in Manchester having similar or identical names to streets in Pinarville, and the fact that Pinarville has a Manchester ZIP code. Police Chief Robert O'Brien told the board that they've come up with two possible solutions to the issue. The first would be to incorporate Pinarville into Goffstown's ZIP code of 03045; the second would be to re-name all Pinarville streets with similar names to streets in the city. They recommended that the ZIP code change is preferable. Town Administrator Sue Desruisseaux will write to USPS informing them of the recent 911 problems, and request changing the addresses to "Goffstown NH 03045."

Commissioner's decision on Mount Sunapee expansion due soon

As Department of Resources and Economic Development Commissioner Jeff Rose makes his final decisions on the proposed expansion of the state-owned Mount Sunapee Resort, opponents of the expansion are not giving up hope that Rose and Gov. Maggie Hassan might stop the expansion.

Rose said Monday his final decision will be made in the coming weeks, and will reflect the "constructive dialog" between DRED, supporters of the expansion and the proposal's many opponents.

DRED has received more than 700 comments from people representing many points of view, he said, since Rose announced his draft decision on April 16 permitting "an amended version" of the resort's 2015-19 Master Development Plan. Supporters of the expansion say it will allow a needed expansion of the resort while protecting natural resources. Rose's draft acceptance allows the development of 150 acres of new ski trails in the West Bowl area of the mountain with four top-to-bottom trails and a 5,100-foot, high-speed, detachable quad chair lift, among other additions. The draft "compromise" would protect delicate areas on the lands, Rose said. It requires that no further development

For years, infection rates from open fractures have remained stubbornly high. But a new study has found that infection rates can be reduced dramatically by giving patients antibiotics within the first hour of injury. The finding suggests that allowing paramedics to administer antibiotics in the field "may substantially improve outcomes for severe open fractures," according to a report in the Journal of Orthopaedic Trauma.

BY SARAH CHAPIN

Among cigarette smokers not willing or able to quit smoking in the next month but willing to reduce with the goal of quitting in the next 3 months, use of the nicotine addiction medication varenicline (trade name Chantix) for 24 weeks compared with placebo produced greater reductions in smoking prior to quitting and increased smoking cessation rates at the end of treatment and at 1 year, according to a study in JAMA.

Ranibizumab, a prescription drug commonly used to treat age-related vision loss, also reverses vision loss caused by diabetes among Hispanic and non-Hispanic whites, according to a new study led by investigators from the University of Southern California (USC) Eye Institute. Diabetic retinopathy and diabetic macular edema are the leading causes of vision loss in working-age adults in the United States, according to the National Eye Institute. Laser surgery is the standard treatment for advanced stages of the disease, characterized by blurred vision, but previous research has shown that only 30 percent of patients saw improvement in their vision.

Ausbon Sargent adds 37 Sunapee acres

Patricia Sorento of Sunapee has donated the 37-acre Sorento Conservation Easement to The Ausbon Sargent Land Preservation Trust. This property is a beautiful, undeveloped mix of fields and forests with a stream that flows through the southeastern portion of the property providing a natural habitat for many woodland birds, animals, reptiles, amphibians and insects. The soils are highly ranked for forest production. There is a snowmobile trail that winds through the Sorento easement offering opportunities for low impact public recreation. The gift of the Sorento Conservation Easement is important for the many assets listed above, but its proximity to other important protected properties makes this property even more valuable. The Sorento property lies near Ausbon Sargent's Wendell Marsh easements and the NH Fish and Game's Dobles Tract, as well as the Town of Sunapee's Webb-Flint Lot and Dewey Woods Preserve.

Newport hopes to break its own Guinness World Mustache Record

As the historic 100th Newport Winter Carnival quickly approaches, the Winter Carnival Committee is preparing for 10 days of fun! We are excited to announce the newest addition to the 100th Winter Carnival - as the Mustache Contest returns! In 2011, we shattered the Guinness World Record, with 462 participants entered into the Mustache Contest, with the winner of The Grand 'Stache Steve Lucas. And now for the biggest Winter Carnival in history, we plan on breaking our own record.

Set for Saturday February 6th, we are looking for as many people as possible to enter our contest. This year we have a new addition, beards! That's right, now guys with the best beard, goatees, muttonchops, mustaches, or whatever else you can grow, can enter into this contest, and get us one step closer to topping the record books once again.

The Mustache and Beard Contest will be once again hosted by the Newport Recreation Department and WCNL Country AM 1010/FM 94.7.

In 2011, every state in New England was represented in our contest and made the media headlines in the New Hampshire Union Leader, Eagle Times, Valley News, as well as WMUR Channel 9, New England Cable News, WCAX Channel 3, and even Good Morning America twice.

The Newport Winter Carnival is the oldest continuous town winter carnival in America, first launched in 1916 and running every single winter to the present day. This year's Winter Carnival is February 5th - 14th.

As we hope to break this record again, we ask anyone interested in joining in the fun to start growing their facial hair now.

To enter the contest, just show up the day of the event (Feb 6th) and sign in. The number to break is 462. We know we can do it.

Founders Rick and Toni Spiegel return for perhaps their final performance at the Open Door Coffeehouse on October 3rd.

Drug dependency forum in Antrim set for Oct. 6

There was a 55 percent increase in drug deaths in 2014 as compared to 2013, according to the New Hampshire Drug Monitoring Initiative. There were 326 deaths from overdoses in N.H. last year — 80 of them in Hillsborough County. The heroin epidemic is now a public health emergency. Substance abuse disorders can happen to anyone at any time in their life. Learn how you can be proactive in the fight against drugs.

The Monadnock Community Hospital "Be the Change" committee, along with the Monadnock Voices for Prevention Regional Network, will present a forum Oct. 6 from 6 to 8 p.m. in Antrim Town Hall on how to address substance misuse in the region.

The forum, called "From Substance Dependency to Recovering: Sharing Their Story" will include speakers who are in recovery and others whose lives have been affected by addiction. A nurse will address signs and symptoms, and local police will speak. The forum is designed for teenagers, and will feature door prizes that include iTunes and pizza gift card.

David Hewey named Weare's 2015 Hometown Hero

Over 300 attendees turned out for Granite State Communications' (GSC) 23rd Annual Open House Cookout on Saturday, September 19th at its Customer Service office in Weare.

"We want our customers to know how much we appreciate their business," explains Susan Rand King, GSC President. "Our Open House celebration is one of the long standing ways we say thank you. The separate luncheon for our business customers was our 5th annual and also one we look forward to hosting each year."

The September 19th Open House featured a cookout and plenty of entertainment. Mad Science entertained the crowd with science, magic, and plenty of comedy, while Simplicity the Clown fashioned marvelous balloon creations for both adults and kids alike.

GSC presented its 11th Annual Hometown Hero Award to David Hewey, Sr. Mr. Hewey is a long-time resident of Weare. He has been a member of the Weare Fire Department since 1988, and worked tirelessly for the Weare Highway Department from 1995 through his retirement 2010. He helped build the concession stand at the John Stark Football Field in 2008, and in his spare time today he mows the lawn for St. Theresa's Church in Henniker. In the winter months, he shovels snow and sands the walkways at the Town Office and Town Hall. He also finds time to perform maintenance work for the town's Safety Complex.

Mr. Hewey was nominated for this award by the Weare Board of Selectmen in recognition of his hard work, caring attitude, and outstanding contributions to the Town of Weare. It is our honor to recognize him as our 2015 Hometown Hero!

Captured emu being held in Henniker

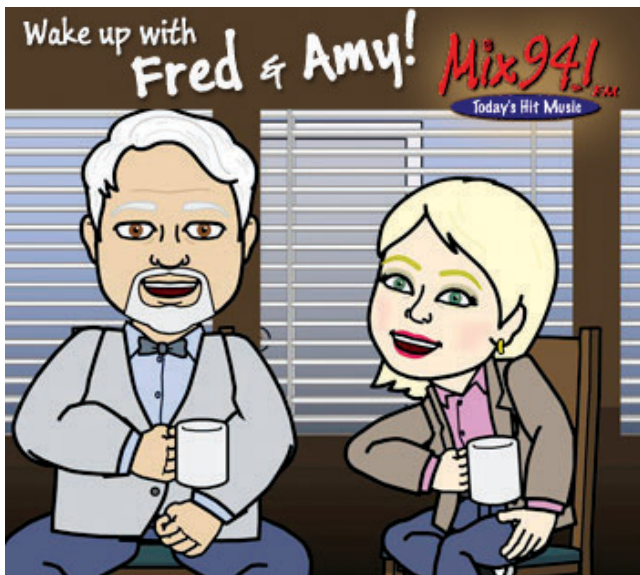

The elusive emu seen wandering in Bow over the past week was captured Sunday by a group of neighbors on Brown Hill Road. Maria Colby, owner of the Wings of the Dawn wildlife rehabilitation center and bird sanctuary in Henniker, confirmed Sunday that the emu was captured, placed in a cage, and brought to her center. "He's doing very well," said Colby. "A group of neighbors along Brown Hill Road were able to catch him and bring him here. Now that he's out of the elements, I think he'll be OK. We still have no idea who he belongs to, though."

NH Court unseals Francestown minutes

A NH Superior Court Judge has ordered the town of Francestown to release three sets of non-public minutes, ruling that the Select Board did not properly notice meetings held in other towns, in a decision last week. Filed earlier this summer by five residents against the town and Select Board Chair Abigail Arnold, it sought to overturn a contract between the town and the company Municipal Resources Inc., and the acceptance of the resignation of former Police Chief Steve Bell, but the court narrowed the scope to Right to Know violations. Of four minute meetings sealed under the law that protects reputation of people other than board members, the court ordered three unsealed, finding that the contents did not adversely affect anyone's reputation.

Congratulations Londonderry Schools opt out of Obama meals

Londonderry High School officials have found that because of the many regulations on menu items, lunches found their way into the trash instead of being eaten, and as a result, it has decided to opt out of the national school lunch program.

According to Business Administrator Peter curro, "The real issue came down to the restrictions on portions, calories and items that had to be included in what they call a reimbursable meal," he said "In our opinion, students didn't like it. It affected the overall lunch program financially, but more importantly we were providing food that the students didn't want."

The national school lunch program is funded by the USDA and provides financial assistance to schools to help offset the costs of those students who qualify for free and discounted lunches. To qualify for the aid, lunches must reach certain standards to be considered a "reimbursable meal."

For example, the meals have to be within a certain calorie limit based on age group and have a certain amount of calories associated with fat and saturated fat. The Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 brought more restrictions on sodium and mandated all bread products to be 100 percent whole-grain.

Director of Dining Service Amanda Venezia, formerly of H-D schools, echoed those statements. "It's because it's not a part of their household food culture to eat whole grain items, they're looking for white bread that they've always had in mom's pantry."

"When they're being introduced to a bread that's browner in texture or perhaps has some whole grains ribboned into the bread, they were having a hard time accepting that. We had very healthy trash cans," Venezia said.

Nate Greenberg, Superintendent of Schools, said "You want to make sure that they actually have some good nutritional meals in a serving size that they feel is appropriate," said Greenberg. "You look at whether it's a 5 foot 2 inch 105-pound flute player in the band or a 6 foot 6 285-pound linebacker on the football team — you want them to be able to have enough nutrition to get through the day."

Not only was food being wasted, but also the school was losing money because many students were no longer buying lunch. Participation went down to 33 percent. Opting out gives the high school creativity to provide more options for students. On "Try it Tuesdays" the school will test out new menu items before investing in them.

Opting out also means no more government assistance. The high school still provides free and discounted lunches to those who qualify, but the district now pays for it, but Greenberg said the increase in sales would compensate for those costs, and even create a profit that will allow the school to continue to add on to the program.

Londonderry officials deserve praise for their courage to defy the federal government. This approach needs to be closely monitored. If successful, it could spread nationally.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The Schnitzelfest in the beginning was never about the money. It was about having a family affordable event. About bringing lots of folks to Hillsborough. And especially about offering authentic German food. Local vendors were offered a sales spot for $5 or $10. Raffle prizes were donated by the business community in huge amounts. Volunteers came in droves.

We oversaw the purchasing and cooking of the food to assure the authenticity. German John's supplied the rolls and desserts and donated the breads.

The profits were split between local non profits and seed money for the next year.

Letters to the Editor

When the Hillsborough Chamber of Commerce took over from the original committee, it became more about the money. Prices went up. Vendors paid more.

German John's still worked hard to keep the food authentic. ...and still supplied the desserts and hard rolls and still donated the bread. We were excluded from the planning for the most part.

Then in 2011 John broke his arm 10 days before the event. We had to step back from the rolls and bread and food preparation. We helped to find substitutes for that year and still supplied the desserts. The bread supplier was King Arthur Flour Company of Vermont.

The next year the Chamber still bought the bread from Vermont. Reason given? They slice. We didn't slice. (Our price---$0.00 was not important)

No one asked us to come back to the food prep.

Later on, they only wanted 50% of the desserts from us. This year none. I asked why. No explanation given. Everything will be supplied by King Arthur Flour Vermont.

Our customers come from all over New England for the authentic breads and desserts. Many of them no longer come to Schnitzelfest.

We have been in Hillsborough for over 19 years. 17 of those we were a member of the Greater Hillsborough

Chamber of Commerce.

It seems that "greater Hillsborough" covers a lot of territory-- even across state lines.

I guess they seemed to have forgotten that without German John's there never would have been a Schnitzelfest in the first place.

Dear Editor:

On Friday September 4th, Sgt. Michael Martin was out on foot patrol on Bridge Street when a New England College (NEC) student walked away from a group of friends he was with to introduced himself as "Peter," to Sgt. Martin. He asked Sgt. Martin how his night was going and then wished him well before returning to his friends. Sgt. Martin would like to send a message to Peter: "I tip my hat to you and want to thank you for your positive demeanor and for going out of your way to make a lasting impression on this officer. I felt that it was warranted that you be recognized and I hope you have an awesome year at NEC, I wish you well in the future." It's interactions like these that we encourage from our officers on foot patrol and the college students who walk past us, hopefully we can be seen as Law Enforcement Officers serving and protecting our town but also as people behind the uniform.

Separate Pickleball lines have been placed on tennis courts in Claremont, New London, Sunapee and elsewhere, but for unknown reasons Hillsborough has forbidden them on its tennis courts. As the courts are scheduled to be replaced in the spring, perhaps common sense will also prevail here, (LDB).

Newport 1st, H-D 2nd: The Tigers moved into double digits in the win column as they prevailed in a closely-fought match to improve to 12-1 on the season. Newport 163, Hillsboro-Deering 183, Newmarket 217.

Hillsboro-Deering 1st: The Hillcats recorded a low score of 170, defeating Franklin (184) and Farmington (195) at Angus Lea. Jacob Cole earned medalist honors, shooting a 37, while freshman Landon McClure (42), Emma Moore (43) and Dakota Wayashe (48) rounded out H-D's scoring.

Hopkinton 2nd: Nick Fairney earned medalist honors, and Parson Burack played one of his best matches of the season and all four scoring golfers shot in the 40s, as the Hawks (207) split a match against hosts Inter-Lakes (199) and Newmarket (300).

Greenfield Fire Dept equipment aging

Greenfield Fire Chief David Hall wants to repair two aging department vehicles with money from its Rescue Apparatus Capital Reserve Fund. He told the Select Board that two of the department's vehicles - a tanker and an engine - need repairs, and there is $106,000 in the Fire/Rescue Apparatus Capital Reserve Fund, not nearly enough to purchase a new fire truck which would cost $500,000 to $600,000 or a used vehicle would cost around $200,000. He also said a new brush truck was needed, and that the town could buy a used cab and frame for $20,000 to $25,000 and then transfer the bed with all the brush equipment onto the new truck. No decision was made but Hall said that the department would begin to seek bids for repairs for the vehicles in the coming weeks.

Weare nixes Clerk of the works position

Weare DPW Director Tim Redmond and CIP member Jack Dearborn met with the Selectmen to discuss the proposed public works garage. A Highway Garage Advisory Committee has been meeting for months. They have discussed past proposals and are working on a current proposal. The size of the building tentatively was calculated to the best of their ability but the CIP would like a more firm indicator of the cost before they forward it to the Selectmen and Finance Committee for consideration. Currently, the figure for the proposed building is up in the $1.35 million range and the committee would like to review and try to reduce the figures. Redmond sought the opinion of Weare resident Kevin Cahill, a former principal in North Branch Construction which does schools, highway garages and other municipal buildings. Cahill is presently the Clerk of the Works for the new Henniker DPW garage project. Redmond requested the Selectmen permit him to utilize but not exceed $2,500 of the highway department to hire Kevin Cahill as a consultant to look at the square foot needs and translate them into 2015 construction costs. His rate would be $65 per hour up to 38 hours utilizing 3-5 hours per week. The highway department has an unfunded contract service/miscellaneous line and there is a surplus in the payroll line due to unfilled positions that could be transferred over to the contract service line. Jack Dearborn said, "For $2,500 we are going to get a lot of validation for the CIP." He felt Mr. Cahill has the expertise they needed. The motion to approve the expenditure of $2,500 out of the 2015 Highway Budget for consultant services for the proposed highway garage failed, 1-2-2. Selectman Clow voted in favor. Selectmen Bohl and Hippler abstaining and Chairman Lacasse and Selectman Leary opposed.

Gov. Hassan, Mayor Merrifield lead Webster Place groundbreaking

The Easter Seals Farnum Center broke ground to add 62 new beds in Franklin to treat people with drug addiction, a year after a record number of people died from overdoses.

The Farnum Center's $1 million expansion project on Holy Cross Road — known as Farnum Center: Franklin — will reopen a substance abuse treatment center formerly operated by a different provider. Once renovated, the white, two-story building will house 20 co-ed treatment beds, roughly seven more than it had before. It is scheduled to open in February 2016.

The Farnum Center is also in the process of licensing roughly 42 existing beds at Webster Place for residential treatment. Those beds will open as soon as the building, located across the street from the Farnum Center, gets state approval.

"We have watched way too many people die from this disease," said the Farnum Center's Cheryl Wilkie, who said she is confident Webster Place will get licensed, and added it could happen before February. "We're in good shape," she said.

Easter Seals Farnum Center also announced Monday a $5 to $10 million fundraising effort that aims to turn two brick buildings on the Franklin property into a substance abuse treatment facility that could house another 40 to 60 beds, according to preliminary estimates.

Franklin Mayor Ken Merrifield said he is delighted the city will host the new treatment beds.

"Substance misuse is the problem that drives virtually every other difficulty we face in the country today," he said. "We are going to have to have treatment efforts like this here; we're going to need to address the problem from a number of facets."

Goffstown Drug disposal day

On Saturday, September 26th, 2015 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the Goffstown Police Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will give the public its tenth nationwide, one day collaborative effort to remove potentially dangerous controlled substances from our nation's homes. This national initiative will provide an opportunity for the public to surrender pharmaceutical controlled substances and other medications to law enforcement officers for destruction.

Expired, unused, or unwanted controlled substances in our homes are a potential source of supply for the increasing abuse of pharmaceutical drugs in the United States and an unacceptable risk to public health and safety. Bring your medications for disposal to Goffstown Police Department at 326 Mast Rd., Goffstown NH, 03045. No needles or liquids can be accepted. The service is free and anonymous, no questions asked. Americans are now advised that their usual methods for disposing of unused medicines—flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash—both pose potential safety and health hazards. For more information in regards to this initiative, please contact Detective Jason Ouellette at the Goffstown Police Department (603) 497-4858.
