Stark teacher resigns

Investigated for inappropriate relations with students

The Messenger has learned that a John Stark social studies teacher at John Stark resigned in March amid a police investigation into his relationships with female students.

In an email to parents, Principal Chris Corkery wrote that the resignation was accepted by the school board at its April meeting. After receiving the December complaint, he was placed on paid administrative leave, while SAU 24 conducted their own investigation. When his computer underwent a technical analysis, no inappropriate content was found. However, Weare Police received a separate complaint and opened an investigation. Officers visited the school to meet with Corkery and the teacher, who admitted downloading a picture of a 14 or 15 year old female student in a dress, and later to downloading pictures of multiple female students from social media and masturbating to the photographs. The investigation has been suspended due to lack of evidence. Corkery wrote that the district would take no further action, but did not name the teacher.

Plans for Corvus Group's Bradford Facility derailed

The Messenger has received unconfirmed reports that the Corvus Group's plans to construct a para-military training facility on 1,400 acres in Bradford and Hillsboro has been dealt a death blow. Reports indicate that major landowner Naomi Payne has decided to sell her property to the Ausbon Sergeant Land Trust instead of to Corvus. Debbie Stanley, Executive Director of the Ausbon Sergeant Trust, would neither confirm nor deny the reports, saying that conversations with landowners are confidential until an agreement is signed.

Nighttime use of Goffstown Rail Trail draws strong opposition

If the Goffstown Select Board allows dusk to dawn use of the Rail Trail, it will do so over the objection of most residents who live along its route. Monday night the Board conducted its second public hearing on an amendment to the Rail Trail Ordinance that would permit night use of the trail with proper lighting.

As with the first hearing, the meeting room was filled with residents who wanted to express their views. Chair Peter Georgantas opened the hearing by reading several letters into the record, including 17 from Caitlin Johnston's fourth grade class at Bartlett Elementary School. As part of their Social Studies curriculum Johnson wanted to introduce her students to their rights and responsibilities as citizens. With good reasons, both pro and con, the students' opinions broke down as 5 in favor of nighttime use and 12 opposed.

The same ration applied to the adults who spoke. The first speaker was Warren Denby, President of the Friends of the Goffstown Rail Trail. In a surprise to many, he reported that his organization was neither in favor nor against the proposal, but chose to be neutral. Speaking as an individual, he offered a potential compromise adopted by other Rail Trails nationally. Rather than allowing dusk to dawn use, Denby suggested restricting use between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Nighttime use of Goffstown's Rail Trail drew a crowds.

Is Stark teacher a millionaire?

John Stark Regional High School English Teacher Grace MacMillan was a contestant on "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" (ABC) taped earlier this year. The episode will air locally on June 3 at 12:30 PM on WMUR-TV.

Antrim Selectmen vote to add Main Street Crosswalk

At this week's meeting the Antrim Select Board voted to add a crosswalk on Main St. in front of Edmunds Store. Siting safety concerns, Rick Edmunds requested that the town add the crosswalk. Not only is the volume of traffic a problem, but the speed at which they travel was also a concern. By having an additional crosswalk between those that are already on Main St., and adding signs stating that pedestrians have the right of way, pedestrians should be safer when crossing the street. Selectman Bob Edwards questioned the ability of a motorized wheelchair being able to use the crosswalk and was assured that the crosswalk would be angled to avoid the curbs in order to be used by wheelchairs.

The Selectmen also voted to add two more WEX cards for the Ambulance to use. The program, now in effect for six months, has been a good way for the departments to purchase gas for the Town vehicles according to Town Administrator Donna Hanson. Each card is assigned to a person and has an assigned PIN to use and was originally designated to only Ambulance officers. Because of assignments sometimes there is not an officer responding and therefore there wasn't a WEX card available. The addition of two more cards still makes the program manageable and allows crews to get gas when needed.

White Birch given School Recycling Award

White Birch Center of Henniker was recognized by the Northeast Resource Recovery Association for outstanding school recycling efforts. White Birch received the "Rookie Recycler of the Year" Award for new and successful recycling initiatives in their Early Learning and School-age programs. The award ceremony was part of the Association's annual School Recycling Conference & Expo, held at the Radisson Hotel in Nashua. The person behind the success of the recycling program at White Birch Center is Erica Miller, Assistant Director of Education. "I am excited to educate and empower children to take action in their community and to play an important role in protecting our planet," states Miller. At White Birch, the children collect recyclables in their own classroom bins and are responsible for sorting them into larger outdoor bins on a weekly basis. They also participate in contests like the Milk Jug Stomp and activities such as Recycled Art. All the while, children are encouraged to question how materials are used and reused, and to share these ideas at home and with others.

Hancock Woman's Club Scholarships

The Hancock Woman's Club would like to congratulate the two applicants who were chosen to receive a $1000 scholarship each, out of the twelve applications received from local women living within the ConVal School District. This year the club decided to open the application process to all towns within the district. We were fortunate to increase the number of scholarship recipients to two due to a donation from Harvey and Doreen Ames. We thank them for their generosity and belief in supporting our club's Scholarship Fund. Our first recipient, Amy Poisson of Hancock is attending the University of New Hampshire, Durham. She will graduate from UNH Durham with a Master's Degree in nursing and a RN License after passing the NCLEX. She is looking toward a nursing specialty in Geriatrics. Amy O'Dell Wilson of Peterborough is our second recipient of a $1000 scholarship. Amy is pursuing a Master's Degree program from New England School of Acupuncture at their Worcester, MA facility. Her goal is to set up a private practice in this area.

Residents contribute $81,900 to pave road

The Sunapee Select Board voted unanimously to accept an $81,990 donation to pave Woodland Road. Residents of Woodland Road are making the donation. Highway Director, Scott Hazelton answered each objection read before the board. Highway Director, Scott Hazelton said he believes the maintenance costs on the road will be less and the environmental benefits will be substantial after the drainage problems are fixed.

Bow Veterans Memorial proposed as Eagle Scout project

Andrew Nicholls, a junior at Bow High School met with the town's selectmen Tuesday evening, seeking permission to erect a Veterans Memorial on town property as his Eagle Scout project.

Nicholls proposes a "Clifford R. Kenney Veterans Memorial" be constructed in honor of Seaman First Class Clifford Kenney of Bow who is listed as MIA and presumed dead with the sinking of the USS Hancock CV-19 on March 24, 1944.

He is currently working on two proposed designs consisting of 5 granite posts surrounding a 7 foot radius patio made with engravers. The cost of one design is estimated at $4,132.64, with a similar, but more modest design at $2,632.64. Nicholls has set an ambitious timetable for his project, hoping to have the BSA Eagle Board's approval on June 12th. Fundraising would begin immediately by selling engraved pavers, with construction completed and a dedication on August 20th.

The gazebo area was suggested as a location for the memorial, with other sites given as alternatives.

Chair Harry Judd said that the gazebo might not be an appropriate site and suggested working with selectman Eric Anderson who sits on the Heritage Commission for a better site, perhaps at the Evens Cemetery. Judd told Nichols that he could tell the Eagle Board that the selectmen approveed of his plan and that he should return to them for final approval once the site is secured.

Andrew Nicholls outlines his plans for a veterans' memorial.

Major expansion in Warner

John Matthews from Market Basket, Andrew Davis from the Liquor Commission and Gregory Moran from Aubochon Hardware met with the Warner Selectmen to discuss plans to expand the Market Basket complex.

John Matthews explained a liquor store will go in the field next to McDonalds. Aubuchon Hardware will be expanding their existing store as well by 2,600 square feet. The Liquor Commission would like to open next spring. Both the Aubuchon expansion and the building of the liquor store will happen at the same time. The liquor store will be about 10,000 square feet, a single tenant store. There will be extra parking spaces as well to accommodate the Aubuchon expansion and parking for the liquor store. The lighting will be situated so there is no spill over on to another property.

Goffstown woman sentenced for embezzling $1 million

A Goffstown woman was sentenced to 27 months in prison for stealing over $1 million dollar from Henry's Collision Center in Manchester. Court documents say Suzan Harbinson 52, forged the owner's signature on 145 checks and then reported she voided them because of mistakes she made. The forged checks were deposited by Harbinson into her business – ATA Martial Arts of Southern New Hampshire, LLC, in Bedford. As the deposits were made, Harbinson wrote checks drawn on the school's account to be mailed to creditors and then used the remainder of the stolen money for personal use. In addition to the period of imprisonment, Chief United States District Court Judge Joseph Laplante ordered Harbinson to make restitution payments totaling $1,007,999.83 to the victim.

Franklin Historial Society honors three

On Sunday, May 22nd, the Franklin Historical Society recognized Alice M. Shepard, John S. Shepard Jr., and Albert G. Garneau by naming two spaces within the Society's museum to honor their monumental contributions to the chronicling of Franklin's storied history. Alice Shepard began writing her history of Franklin around 1930, taken up by her son John after her death, and finally printed almost seven decades later in 1996. The main exhibition room at the Society is now named for them. Alice's grandson, John S. Shepard III was in attendance to witness the new plaque's placement on the door leading to rotating displays documenting Franklin's heritage, one of which is dedicated to the efforts of Alice and John Jr. The Society meeting room is now dedicated to the memory of Albert G. Garneau, also the author of a history of Franklin, as well as being the official city historian for many years and a valued member of, and an incredible resource to, the Franklin Historical Society. It is with the deepest respect that these Franklin residents are now permanently acknowledged for their inspirational achievements.

Hopkinton murderer denied early release

Eric Windhurst of Hopkinton, convicted of murdering his friend's abusive stepfather in 1985 has been denied early release. Judge Richard McNamara denied the request. Windhurst, has about four years left in a 15-year sentence. Although ruling that a release now would detract from the goal of general deterrence, McNamara saw Windhurst as a "model prisoner," and said he would consider granting him earned time credits in which inmates can knock a few months off their sentences through education and programming. McNamara agreed that Windhurst has worked hard in prison to rehabilitate himself and prepare for life on the outside. Windhurst has already completed job training and several nonviolence seminars in prison. It's unclear whether he is already eligible for earned time credits.

Bids too high for Warner roundabout

Gene McCarthy from McFarland Engineering presented 2 bids for the roundabout: Weaver Brothers $927,970.75 and F.L. Merrill Construction $765,507.00, Both bids came in higher than what was estimated for Phase III. Gene said his firm will be going back and comparing the pricing against their estimate to see what's the best course of action. Chairman Carson asked what are the options available. Gene said to re-bid. The Town Administrator confirmed the budgeted amount for construction and engineering was $735,000.

Newport guidance counselor convicted of indecent exposure

Thomas Mauzy of Sunapee, a Newport High School guidance counselor has been sentenced to a year in the Sullivan County House of Corrections suspended for two years, including two years of probation and psychological testing. Mauzy was found guilty of seven counts of indecent exposure and lewdness in Newport District Court on Tuesday. Following the trial that lasted nearly five hours, the judge found there was a "reasonable inference" to be made that Mauzy was guilty of all misdemeanor offenses under state law.

The testimony by two eyewitnesses revealed that Mauzy on multiple occasions stood naked, with his genitals exposed, in his bedroom window in full view of his upstairs neighbor, Viva Hilgerson, who reported him to Sunapee police. The judge was particularly "troubled" by the cell phone video of Mauzy standing nude with the "interior light on." Hilgerson said that the incidents took place between Dec. 8 and Dec. 28, 2015, and always between 6:30 a.m. and 6:40 a.m. as she was leaving to go to work. On one occasion, Hilgerson asked her co-worker, Charles Ferrell, for a ride to work. Ferrell testified that he saw Mauzy standing at the window and that he was naked. When he picked up a spotlight and shined it on him. Mauzy backed away from the window, returning still naked.

SAU 43 Superintendent Cindy Gallagher, who was present during the trial, said that with Mauzy's conviction the Department of Education will next decide whether or not to revoke his certification as a guidance counselor, and the Newport School Board will have to decide whether to terminate him or not.

Goffstown Fire Chief Richard O'Brien recently informed the Selectmmen that he had received two bids to renovate the Church Street Fire Station. The Board approved his recommendation of Regeant Construction's bid of $2.3 million, with work to begin in mid July. The Station will remain open during work.

Grand jury indicts Bow man

Alexander Burke, 32, of Bow man pleaded not guilty to negligent homicide, aggravated driving while intoxicated and other charges stemming from a November car crash that killed a woman. The indictment charges Burke with being under the influence of liquor while driving on November. 29th, when he collided with an SUV after running a red light at the intersection of Union Street and Lake Avenue in Manchester. Isabel Pena Batista, 47, was killed in the crash. She was a passenger in a Honda Pilot driven by Francisco Tavarez Valdez, who broke an arm in the collision. Another passenger in the SUV sustained soft tissue injuries and a woman in Burke's car suffered broken bones.

Stop signs to be erected at Emerald Lake

After weeks of discussion, the Hillsboro Selectmen decided to concur with the engineers' recommendation to erect two additional Stop signs at the intersection of Bog and Gould Pond Roads. The Emerald Lake Village District Commissions had requested a solution to the "near misses" as the only posted right of way was a Stop sign on Bog Rd. Now everyone will have to stop at the intersection. In addition, the Selectmen will ask the Hillsboro Police Chief to put the message/speed sign on Bog Road in the hopes that the sign will help to slow down traffic. Highway Department Director Bill Goss will also look at the vegetation on the corner of Bog and Whitney Roads to see if cutting that back will help with visibility at that intersection. The final recommendation was for everyone to "slow down". Administrator Laura Buono reported as that as of the meeting 111 campers had signed up for Manahan Park camp, which is scheduled to open on June 20. A "beach party" is scheduled for Friday, June 17 from 6-8:30 as a kick-off to the program.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Uptravi (selexipag) tablets to treat adults with pulmonary arterial hypertension (PAH), a chronic, progressive, and debilitating rare lung disease that can lead to death or the need for transplantation. PAH is high blood pressure that occurs in the arteries that connect the heart to the lungs. It causes the right side of the heart to work harder than normal, which can lead to limitations on exercise ability and shortness of breath, among other more serious complications.

Postmenopausal African-American women who use female hormone supplements containing estrogen and progestin ("combination" therapy) are at an increased risk for estrogen receptor positive breast cancer. A study in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute found the overall increase in risk was 50 percent, with greater increases for recent and long-term users.

The drug sildenafil, sold as Viagra and other brand names, improves insulin sensitivity in people at risk for diabetes, researchers reported in Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism. Sildenafil inhibits an enzyme called phosphodiesterase 5 (PDE5), resulting in relaxation of smooth muscle, vasodilation and increased blood flow. Sildenafil is used to treat erectile dysfunction and pulmonary arterial hypertension.

In My Opinion by JP Marzullo

Deering Selectman ran on Transparent Government, what happened?

Recently Deering's Town Road Agent from Weare decided to leave his position in Deering and return to the Weare Highway department at a higher salary. He was selected after the position was posted with, what seemed to me, requirements that could not be met by any of the Highway employees in Deering. If I remember correctly the candidate had to have a college education.

Now I could be wrong with that but I do recall it was very difficult for most to qualify for it. The job was posted in several papers not only in our area but in major papers. There were few who could qualify and certainly not any of those experienced Town Highway workers in the area. Fast-forward a year and at the last Deering Selectmen meeting they appointed a fairly new Deering Highway worker as the new Road Agent.

When I found out that the Town had not posted the position publically I contacted our Town Administrator and discussed it with him he said, "The Selectmen could do whatever they wanted to without posting it" REALLY? Why was that true today but not last year? Were they trying to avoid hiring someone who already worked for the Town last time, I think so. He also said that there was an RSA that said municipalities didn't need to post the job. I asked him to produce the RSA and guess what, he couldn't.

Now to be fair there may be and RSA, but the Federal Equal Employment Commission requires any Municipality that receives Federal Funds to put the EEC poster up which States that all positions must be posted. The only poster that the Town has up is a poster from 2001 hmmm why haven't they kept it up to date? The job should have been posted in the paper and at the Town Hall or on the Town website. It is my understanding that there were people in other towns that heard about it and were interested. The Selectmen might say one of the requirements is that the Road Agent must live in Deering, the one that just left didn't and neither does the one who was appointed although apparently he is looking to buy in Deering. I wonder if the Town could be in line for a Lawsuit and once again wasting taxpayer's money because they have decided NOT to be transparent or follow the rules? Deering has received Federal funding from FEMA and Welfare so we are required to post jobs that are open to the public at large. One of our Selectmen campaigned on being transparent; I guess he decided not to, and that it was OK for them to move ahead with their choice. They chose to post a job opening for Grader Operator instead, which would replace the Grader Operator who is now our Road Agent. Something seems wrong to me. Now let me be transparent, I don't care if they choose who they want or not, but shouldn't they at least follow the law and post the job? If they decide that the person who they chose, without notification, is the most qualified so be it. Enough of the Cronyism it is rampant in politics but shouldn't be in our town.

Deering Resident

Publisher's Perspective by Leigh Bosse

Let's not rush into it

"The Hillsborough Selectmen took another step toward establishing a new Parks & Recreation Department at Tuesday's meeting. Last week, Alan Urquart suggested combining the Park Board with the Youth Services Department in an effort to expand the town's recreation offerings. Urquart envisions Brigham, who had organized recreation programs in a prior job, as a full-time department head with the Park Board serving in an advisory capacity. Further discussion will be held prior to any decision."

The above is a direct quote from The Messenger of May 30, 2014. The same topic was on Wednesday's agenda but was passed over as one of the selectmen was absent.

A Guy's Guide to Selecting the Perfect Engagement Ring

Getting engaged is a very personal and intimate experience for a couple. But for many guys, the purchase of the engagement ring can be a bit overwhelming. Color, clarity, cut, carat weight -; there's a lot to consider! But by understanding the basics of diamonds and keeping the future bride in mind, guys can find the process of selecting a ring much less daunting.

Jewelry designer Craiger Drake of Craiger Drake Designs offers the following tips to help men select a ring for their bride:

❤ Know the 4Cs. Men should always consider the color, clarity, cut and carat weight of a diamond. Color and clarity, less commonly understood, are critical to the quality of the stone. Choose a diamond valued higher on both the color and clarity grading scales to limit the presence of color and unwanted inclusions. Carat and cut, on the other hand, are personal preferences.

❤ Get certified. To guarantee the diamond's authenticity and quality, be sure to purchase a diamond that is certified from the Gemological Institute of America. The diamond's certificate outlines all the individual characteristics of the stone, including the 4Cs, serving as proof of the diamond's identity and value.

❤ Be unique. For many women, an engagement ring is their most treasured piece of jewelry, so it's important that it is special and unique. To personalize the piece further, consider custom designing a one-of-a-kind ring tailored to the bride's individual style. (NewsUSA)

Ms. Mario is a 7 year old spunky female. She can be quite affectionate, but is easily frustrated with her human friends! She swats on occasion, but is declawed in the front. She's looking for a child free home because of this. She does, however, seem to tolerate dogs rather well. She's had a difficult transition to shelter life so we hope to find her a tolerant home looking to give her time to adjust and relax in a space to call her own.
