Antrim Congregational Church donates $15,000

Melissa Gallagher, Executive Director of The Grapevine Family & Community Resource Center, announced today that the Antrim Congregational Church Society has made a $15,000 contribution to The Grapevine Family & Community Resource Center. Leaders of the former church sought to donate their remaining proceeds to non-profit organizations serving the Antrim area. Said Ms. Gallagher, "A donation of this scale was a wonderful surprise to us, and we are truly grateful for the trust and faith that these church members have placed with our organization. These funds will go a long way toward serving the children and families of Antrim and surrounding communities."

John Robertson, a former church member, described The Grapevine as a "shining success story" in Antrim and said, "We know that The Grapevine will put these funds to good use." Robertson, along with church member Barbara Black, delivered the check to The Grapevine and shared stories of the church's membership and history in the community.

New Boston approves purchase of Recreation Van

Recreation Director Mike Sindoni met with the New Boston Selectmen to review bids received for a minibus for the Recreation Department. Two bids were received for a 15 passenger vehicle with a handicap access lift in the back. A commercial driver's license is not needed to drive the vehicle. These were sealed bids. Once ordered it will take three months for the vehicle to come in. The current Recreation Department van will be traded in for the new vehicle. The Recreation Department prefers the El Dorado proposed from Alliance with a $2,800 trade in offer but both offers were similar. Sindoni checked with other Recreation Departments that purchased vehicles from both bidders for references. The vehicle comes with a three year 36,000 mile warranty. The Selectmen accepted the proposal from Alliance Bus for $62,187 and asked Sindoni to research extended warranty details.

Hillsboro-Deering Schools awarded six grants to improve school security

During Monday's meeting, the Hillsboro-Deering School Board accepted six grants under the Public School Infrastructure Fund totaling $278,439.00. The grants will provide security cameras and protective window film at the Elementary, Middle and High Schools.

There will be roughly 100 cameras throughout the district. The cameras will be placed to view hallways, cafeterias, gymnasiums, entrance ways, parking lots, and roadways. These locations were recommended during the security audit conducted by the NH Department of Homeland Security.

Each camera will continually record at a reduced resolution then when it senses motion the camera will begin to record at full resolution. This is done to reduce bandwidth on the camera network and saves storage space on the server. The cameras will not record audio.

There will be a dedicated server for the cameras and that will have 20-40TB of storage space, and each building principal will be able to view the activity in their building. The grants are awarded on an 80%-20% basis, so the district will need to contribute $69,608.00 to the project. The Board expects to be able to take this money from surplus funds at the end of the year.

Antrim Selectmen defer matters

After explaining that Administrator Donna Hanson was not going to be present because of the death of her mother, Selectman Robert Edwards expressed condolences from the Board. Edwards then referred to a letter written to the Board by Steve Ullman. The letter pointed out that in the winter there is not a second egress from Gregg Lake Road which could be a problem if there was an emergency as Craig Road is not maintained in the winter. He suggested that the highway department plow as far as the bridge and in case of an emergency a truck could plow the bridge. As neither Selectman Mike Genest nor Mr. Ullman were present to discuss the letter, the matter was tabled until a future time. Also tabled was a discussion of future items for the Selectmen to review and prioritize.

Belmont man arrested on multiple counts

Stephen E. Anderson, 22, of Belmont, is being held on bail after officers used a police dog and a Taser to arrest him on felony warrants. Belmont Police were alerted that he was wanted on warrants issued by authorities in both Belknap and Merrimack counties. When Anderson became aware police were outside he tried to flee through the back door of the house, but was immediately confronted by the Department's K-9 officer and his dog. Anderson was wanted in Belknap County for possession of methamphetamine and driving after being deemed an habitual offender. In addition to the felony charges he was also charged with two misdemeanor counts of resisting arrest.

Three injured in Bow motorcycle crash

Three people were seriously injured and I-93 southbound was closed following a crash involving a car and two motorcycles Saturday afternoon. State troopers from Troop D and the Concord Police Department shut down I-93 southbound for roughly one and a half hours at approximately 1:30 p.m. Saturday after the crash, which occurred between Exits 12 N and 12 S. Upon arrival at the scene, troopers located two motorcycles lying in the roadway and a sport utility vehicle stopped in the high speed lane. While there were no fatalities, three people were treated by Concord Fire and EMS and transported to Concord Hospital with serious injuries.

He was driving north on Route 31/ Forest Road when his car drifted over the center line, into the southbound lane of travel, and then off the road, striking a tree. Ducharme was the only person in the vehicle, and he was treated at the scene for multiple injuries and was transported to the Lyndeborough Town Hall in order to meet the Dartmouth-Hitchcock Advanced Response Team Helicopter in order to be med-flighted to UMASS Medical Center in Worcester, MA.

Newport voters approved largest municipal solar project in the state

By a margin of 652 to 235 Newport voters approved a 2.2-Megawatt solar energy project capable of providing the entire annual energy needs for Newport town and school facilities.

The solar installation will be the largest municipal project in New Hampshire and one of the state's largest overall. Likewise, the solar arrays will make Newport the largest town in the state to net its entire municipal and school district energy demand from solar energy. The Town vote on Tuesday, May 8 authorized the Town and School District to enter into a 25-year Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) with local solar developer Norwich Solar Technologies for the project.

The project will serve the School District offices and the Town's three schools, as well as all town-owned facilities, including the public library, airport, wastewater treatment plant, the police, EMS and fire departments. Town Manager Hunter F. Rieseberg said, "Being the 'Sunshine Town' we thought that it was appropriate that the Town embrace solar power as a means of offsetting our carbon footprint and saving the taxpayers' money along the way." In the past two years, the Town has converted all of its offices and street lighting systems to LEDs. In May 2018 the Town and Norwich Solar Technologies will begin construction of the 2.2-MW solar arrays that will offset 100 percent of the electrical power requirements for the municipality, the school district, the library, as well as the police and fire departments. Work on the project will begin immediately.

Members of the Weare Police Department, Sergeant Austin Maguire, and Officer Matthew Belletete met with Boy Scout Troop 24 in Weare to help them to earn the Cycling Merit Badge. They shared valuable tips and information on bike safety.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

Users of statins, widely prescribed for prevention of cardiac disease, have a 27% lower risk of contracting Staphylococcus aureus (S. aureus) bloodstream infection outside of a hospital, according to a new study in Mayo Clinic Proceedings. Researchers report that statin use, especially among elderly patients with preexisting chronic conditions such as diabetes, kidney, or liver disease, may be protective against this serious bloodstream infection. As the western world's population is aging and more people live with chronic medical conditions, any potential preventive effect of statins could have important clinical implications. S. aureus is a bacterium that can colonize skin. It has the propensity to cause serious infection which can be fatal if the bacteria disperse into the bloodstream.

The overuse of antibiotics has left some doctors questioning whether to give such drugs to children diagnosed with uncomplicated staph infections. Such infections often occur on the skin and look like a pus-filled bug bite. A new study published in the journal Clinical Infectious Diseases indicates that prescribing antibiotics — in addition to lancing and draining staph infected areas — reduces the risk of recurrent infections. Staph may become life-threatening when it enters the bloodstream, bones or organs through skin-to-skin contact or by touching a contaminated object. When an infection turns serious, health-care workers typically give patients intravenous antibiotics. However, some health-care workers have hesitated prescribing antibiotics for children with minor staph infections because of increasing antibiotic resistance. The most common such strain is known as methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus, or MRSA, which may cause pneumonia, severe organ damage and death. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports that 11,000 adults and children die annually of MRSA infections.

Drunk driver clocked at 134 mph in Bow

State police arrested a Concord man on drunk driving charges early Sunday, after he was clocked going 134 mph on Interstate 93 in Bow. About 1 a.m. Sunday State Trooper Daniel Livingstone was monitoring traffic on Interstate 93 North in Bow when he observed a vehicle traveling 134 mph, which he pulled over. Further investigation showed the driver, identified as Cody Lang, 25, of Concord, was intoxicated while driving.

Peterborough Library $8.5 million restoration and reconstruction project

At the Peterborough Town Meeting, voters approved an $8.5 million restoration and reconstruction project for the library. According to Library Director Corinne Chronopoulos, the project is a public-private partnership with some funds for the project to be raised privately and the remainder to come from taxation.

A capital campaign hoping to raise $5.5 million in private funds for the project has so far raised about $4,080,000, and the group anticipates additional announcements that could push the amount closer to its goal.

That leaves about $3 million needed in taxpayer funding. A 30-year bond for the library project is estimated to impact taxes by about .26 cents per $1,000 of valuation. A property valued at $200,000 would see an increase of about $52 per year. A 15-year bond would increase the rate by .41 cents per $1,000 of valuation, or about $82 per year for the same $200,000 property. Residents pay taxes twice a year.

The new design plan by Ann Beha Architects calls for the original 1892 segment of the building to be restored and integrated into a new segment of the facility. The 1957 and 1978 additions are proposed to be demolished and replaced with a new wing that will shift the facility's focus to Concord Street and the Contoocook River.

Newport Community Center

Newport Town Meeting voters have approved spending $200,000 to finance the next step to bring a new Community Center to town. The measure was approved, but barely, by a vote of 457,443.

The next step is to hire an architect and engineers to develop a budget and design for approval at next year's Town Meeting.

The Hillsboro-Deering High School National Honor Society inducted 13 new members. Mia Carter, Destiny Conover, Miranda Feighery, Elizabeth Falconer, Caitlin Bettez, Cooper Brien, Nate McGillicuddy, Sawyer Jones, Gunner Hagstrom, Adanja Minard, Lily Gibson, and Amos Ek (not pictured--Julian Howell).

The Hillsboro-Deering Band & Chorus.

H-D Band & Chorus performs at “Trills and Thrills” Music Festival

On Friday, May 4, 75 Chorus and Concert Band students from Hillsboro-Deering High School travelled to East Longmeadow, Massachusetts to perform in the “Trills and Thrills” Music Festival where they received scores, ratings, and feedback from adjudicators.

The chorus performed “Like a Mighty Stream” by Moses Hogan under the direction of Keene State College Student Teacher Hailley Dufresne and “Light of a Clear Blue Morning” by Craig Hella Johnson under the direction of Heidi Welch featuring senior soprano soloist Heather Cavender.

The chorus received high praise from the judges and earned a score of 87 for their performance which garnered an “Excellent” rating. The band performed two pieces under the direction of Heidi Welch that afternoon including “Boundless” by Chris Bernotas, and the well-known Foster arrangement of Wagner’s “Elsa’s Procession to the Cathedral.” The band achieved a score of 90 which earned them a “Superior” rating from the judges.

Both the Chorus and Concert Band will be performing on Thursday, May 24 at 6:30 p.m. in a concert in the HDMS cafegymatorium entitled “Small But Mighty” – which will be the final concert for Heidi Welch who has been at the helm of HDHS Music for 20 years. Alumni, friends, community members and staff will be joining on two pieces of the concert including a piece commissioned by acclaimed concert band composer Andrew Boysen called “Small But Mighty” and a chorus arrangement of “Bridge Over Troubled Water.” It will be an evening of celebration, fun, and memories and is free and open to all.

Miller now plans indoor shooting facility in Concord

Having his plans for an indoor gun range and retail store in Warner denied, Eric Miller is shifting his focus to Concord and Pembroke. Miller sold his Warner Road land to an abutter, a major objector to the Warner project. Unlike the battle to bring the gun range to Warner, Miller thinks his project will come to fruition soon. He plans to have a lease in place shortly and once secured it would only be a matter of appearing before a planning board for drainage and lighting requirements.

Records show that Miller sold the Warner Road property to MadgeTech for $240,000, or more than double what was paid for it last year. Rather than a gun range and retail store, Miller said his Dragonfly Ranges will be an indoor skeet and trap range.

Common Sense Conservative

By JP Marzullo

I thought I knew what I would lead off my column with today until I saw a brief debate on TV this morning about whether 16 year olds should vote. Did you know that there are some States that are actually considering this and will introduce Bills to their Legislators? So help me understand this, we will consider having 16 year olds vote. Is that because they have so much life experience, or is it because they are making demands that we should bow down to? Will they serve in our military, or hold a job, pay income taxes, have a drivers license, have a course in High School on Civics, understand our History as a Republic and have read and understand our Constitution, or live on their own instead of in their parents basements? How about juries, do you really think a 16-year-old child could sit on a jury and make a decision to put someone to death, (I'm not sure I could) or determine which parent should get custody of a child? I can see it now, we will have our first American Idol President or will it be the Bachelorette, or maybe a fictional Character like Harry Potter? What I really wanted to write about was choice. Choice can be complicated and difficult to explain and understand; if people say that they are Pro-Choice does that mean with everything? Some women feel that they should have the "choice" of giving a life or not. Who am I to question, that it is their "choice" right? Then why is it that many of these same people are vehemently against "school choice"? Shouldn't every parent have the choice to send their children to schools that will give them the best chance to succeed in their lives? Why should you be locked into a

Zip Code to determine your children's future? So why not allow, "school choice" in NH? The argument by some that the State would downshift the cost to our property taxes is just nonsense and frankly a scare tactic. If you send your child to a private school now the public school in your town is still collecting your taxes for schools. It will not increase your property tax but what it may do is have the public school in your town become more competitive to keep their enrollment up. Competition in education would give parents a choice for their children's education. Pro-Life, there are those, including me that are Pro-Life when it comes to the unborn, but recently I've thought if I am truly pro-life, how could I be for the death penalty? If someone commits a heinous crime how should we punish him or her? Some argue the cost of incarcerating someone for years is a concern, others say, what if the wrong person has been put to death? These arguments have been debated for years. Some people think that maybe Hammurabi's Law should apply. No I don't have an answer either.

Maybe we should concentrate on Wisdom. I don't believe that Wisdom is advanced learning, or rare insight. It is not mysterious truth hidden from most but revealed to a few. Wisdom is like common sense or even street smarts. It is an understanding of how the world works. The focus should not be on what we know, but on what we do. Wisdom in my mind, deals with everyday situations, especially decisions and moral choices that impact our future. So I ask you, should 16-year-old children be able to vote? Think about what the wisdom of that would be.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I had to laugh reading Deering Selectman, Aaron Gill's letter attacking The Messenger's credibility in last week's issue. Gill stated that he doesn't read The Messenger. Apparently, he doesn't read his own Board minutes either, it is also interesting to note that the agenda for the May 2nd selectmen's meeting calls for a non-public session to review the "Fire Chief performance issues."

Name submitted, Deering

To the Editor:

Until recently, I didn't know much about

Kanye West. He's a young, black rapper and cultural superstar who has a huge following. He caused quite a stir recently on social media for his Twitter comments about President Trump, tweeting "You don't have to agree with Trump, but the mob can't make me not love him. We are both dragon energy. He is my brother". How unusual for someone in his position to express those sentiments. What explains it? Simply put, Kanye West thinks for himself. Unlike the vast majority of blacks who instinctively vote with democrats, Kanye has broken the mold in his open consideration of Trump and what he has to offer. He's not ► the only one who's done so, but his dragon energy could have a far-reaching effect. His message of love and acceptance is worth listening to.

Timothy J. Lord, Hancock

To The Editor:

The Hillsboro District Food Pantry would like to send out a "Thank You" to everyone who supported our annual fundraiser "The Hillsboro Challenge". Although we didn't quite reach our last year's total, we still had a fantastic year. We received $400 in pledges from several area businesses. We also received cash donations from organizations in town and many wonderful people totaling $5360. The donations of food and personal care items totaled $9836, bringing our grand total for the Hillsboro Challenge 2018 to $15,606. Again thank you so very much to everyone who supported this year's Hillsboro Challenge.

Gene Gould, Hillsboro

Dear Editor:

Our Baseball and Softball seasons kicked off this week and TBall has started practicing. Team schedules are posted on our website, so please feel free to stop down and enjoy a ball game if you find yourself looking for something fun to do. The concession stand should be open. Feel free to help out, or drop off your high school student for some community service, if needed.

Our fields at Warren Brook Park, KRES Elementary Field and Brown Shattuck Park were all treated this week for bugs and, more specifically, those pesky little ticks. We had great success using this human and pet safe product last year so please share your thoughts with us during, or at the conclusion, of this sports season.

New Boston mourns the death of Irene Baudreau

The New Boston Board of Selectmen has announced that long-time Town Clerk Irene Baudreau passed away suddenly on Monday, April 16th.

Irene started working as the Town Clerk in 1999, and has been the face of that office for nearly two decades. This past year she had decided not to run for re-election, but stayed on working part-time in the office, a job she clearly enjoyed. She will be missed by her friends, co-workers, and the many New Boston residents whom she has helped over the years.

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and revered through out the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us St. Jude, help of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day. By the 8th day your prayers will be answered. Say it for 9 days. It has never been known to fail. Publication. EMH
