Heidi's Final Concert

H-D's Music Director Heidi Welch conducted her final Band & Chorus Concert before a huge crowd last Thursday. Heidi is retiring after leading the Hillsboro-Deering Music Department over the last 20 years. See more photos of the concert on page 11, and be sure to join Hillsborough Pride and others on June 3rd from 2-4 PM at the American Legion Hall for a tribute to this extraordinary woman.

BaBaBa Barbara Daley

During last Thursday's concert, retiring H-D Music Director Heidi Welch (r) made sure to set aside time to recognize and thank Barbara Daley (l) for her many years serving as accompanist for the High School Chorus.

And The Beat Goes On

At the conclusion of her final concert, Heidi passed the baton to her former student teacher and now successor Jon Way.

Representatives from the Hillsborough Police, H-D schools and Farmsteads of NE participated in the annual law Enforcement Torch Run last Thursday. The Post #59 Sons of the American Legion provided lunch after the run.

Two Colleges Merge

NEC and NH Institute of Art to merge by October

Henniker's New England College and the Manchester-based New Hampshire Institute of Art plan to complete a merger by October 1st. In a joint statement, both colleges said the merger will enhance the delivery of academic programs and streamline administrative services.

Graduate and undergraduate programs in art, design, writing and education "align well at both institutions and will be enhanced through joint marketing and programming efforts," the statement reads. New England College offers 37 bachelor's degree programs, 12 master's programs and one doctoral. It has an enrollment of 2,800 in traditional, graduate and on-line programs. The Institute of Art claims 2,000 students in programs for undergraduates, graduates and community education students. It grants degrees in art, design and writing, and it has campuses in Manchester and the Sharon/Peterborough area. "We will work carefully together over the next several months to determine the best structure for merging the institutions and will be diligent in our efforts to keep our campus communities informed and involved," said New England College President Michele Perkins.

Henniker's American Legion Flag retirement ceremony

Henniker American Legion Post 78 will be hosting a Disposal of Unserviceable Flags Ceremony on Thursday, June 14th (Flag Day) at the Henniker Community Park, Angela Robinson Bandstand at 7:00pm. Residents may bring their faded and worn flags to the ceremony for proper public disposal or drop them off at the Henniker Town Hall, Depot Street, Henniker, until June 13th. This ceremony is a dignified tribute to the U. S. flag and its symbolism. The Post through this public display enhances respect to the flag and provides a much needed service to those who have flags needing to be properly retired. The flags that have graced the graves of Henniker veterans buried in town cemeteries for the past year will also be retired during this ceremony.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

Stopping long-term, low-dose aspirin therapy may increase your risk of suffering a cardiovascular event, according to new research in the American Heart Association's journal Circulation. Aspirin, taken in low doses, is used to help reduce the risk for recurrent heart attack or stroke. Aspirin inhibits clotting, lowering the risk of cardiovascular events. Nearly 10 to 20 percent of heart attack survivors stop daily aspirin use within the first three years following their event. In broader patient settings, discontinuation rates of up to 30 percent and poor aspirin compliance in up to 50 percent of patients have been reported.

Results from a new study published in the Journal of Clinical Lipidology showed that in 14 randomized, controlled trials (RCTs) of 71,899 people, consumption of EPA and DHA omega-3s reduced the risk of cardiac death by a statistically-significant average of 8 percent. Cardiac death accounts for about two-thirds (about 405,000) of all cardiovascular disease deaths in the United States, and 42 percent (7.4 million) globally, each year. This is the first published meta-analysis to include cardiac death (also known as "coronary mortality") as a primary endpoint, and the most comprehensive review of the evidence to date. The meta-analysis showed even greater — 17 percent — risk reduction in groups who had elevated triglycerides or LDL cholesterol. These results are consistent with the hypothesis that EPA and DHA omega-3s may be most useful for reducing for reducing cardiac death in higher risk individuals, which is important since The National Center for Health Statistics estimates that 25 percent of adults in the U.S. have triglyceride levels of 150 mg/dL or higher and 27 percent have LDL cholesterol levels at or above 130 mg/dL. The greatest reduction in cardiac death rates — an almost 30% risk reduction — was observed in trials that utilized dosages of more than 1 gram of EPA and DHA per day.

Henniker and Weare Schools receive $88,000 Security Grants

The Henniker Community School, Weare Middle School, and John Stark Regional High School have been awarded $88,000 in grants from the State of New Hampshire Department of Education to improve school security. The grant applications were reviewed and approved for recommendation to the Governor by the Public School Infrastructure Commission. The Henniker Community School received a total of $44,000 to improve safety and security. One grant awarded the school $32,000 to replace and reinforce windows on the ground level. The school was awarded another $12,000 for Phase II camera installation for additional cameras inside and outside of the building.

The Weare Middle School received $16,800 for additional cameras on the perimeter of the building and in hallways.

John Stark Regional High School received $27,200 for school safety and security support including cameras.

Work at the three schools is expected to take place during the summer so there will be no impact to student learning. These grants fund the projects at 80 percent. Each district is required to fund the remaining 20 percent. The projects are all slated to be completed by the beginning of the 2018-19 school year.

Franklin's $813,832 shortfall

Facing a $813,832 budget shortfall, Franklin High School has already eliminated a French teacher and a math teacher at the high school, a behavior specialist and a custodian at the elementary school and an eighth-grade teacher, a student support room aide, and a staffer who worked in the in-school suspension room at the middle school. Six more unfilled positions in the form of student aides, guidance councilors and a secretary were also cut, and two teachers at the high school who teach courses in chorus, band, drawing and painting were downgraded from a full-day to a half-day schedule, and Superintendent Daniel LeGallo said the school could see its music and arts curriculum cut in half and its French department eliminated next year, unless the city can come up with money to fund those programs.

Last year, four staff cuts in Franklin were proposed, and one employee was laid off. In 2016, 25 cuts were proposed, and 13 employees laid off. The school district is approaching the city council to see if they might be able to find some way to fund those programs back. The next city council meeting is June 4, and the budget should be finalized by mid-July.

Franklin hosting Federal Resource Forum June 12th

on June 12.

The June 12 event is to help educate local communities about available federal resources and link them to key contacts in those agencies. More than 10 federal agencies will be participating in the Federal Forum.

Jonathon Drake, 36, of Alton was identified as the driver killed in a three-vehicle collision Wednesday on Route 4 in Chichester. Drake's vehicle collided head-on with a Crystal Rock water delivery truck. The three other people involved in the accident were treated for their injuries. The driver of the water truck was taken to Concord Hospital with upper torso pain, and was treated and released. The driver of the other car refused medical attention.

Two named on Register of Historic Places

The New Hampshire Division of Historical Resources is pleased to announce that the State Historical Resources Council has added eight properties to the New Hampshire State Register of Historic Places:

Since 1929, Parlin Field Hangar has been part of Newport's Corbin Field, one of twelve municipally-owned general aviation airports in New Hampshire. The hangar is an example of a pre-fabricated metal utilitarian building that rose in use and popularity during the early days of airplane travel.

Joined by a circa 1912 ell, Wilmot Town Hall and the District 1 Schoolhouse have served multiple functions in Wilmot for more than 100 years. While the white clapboarded Town Hall is fairly plain, the Schoolhouse – which became the town library in the early 1970s – has Greek Revival details.

Hancock Police conduct drug & alcohol abuse program at ConVal

On May 15th Hancock Police Officer John Minichiello spoke to an assembly of juniors and seniors at ConVal High School. He opened with his life story on the hardships that he has been through throughout his life dealing with alcohol and drugs abuse. John served 2 tours in Vietnam. After completing his service time, he became an aircraft mechanic at Logan Airport. He also worked as a part-time Deputy Sheriff in Massachusetts. John went on to tell the assembly how he got married and started a family. He told them how his wife had substance abuse problems. He tried everything to help her but finally had enough. He went on to tell them that one day he was feeding their 3-month-old son a bottle when she came into the room and told him that she loved him, gave him a kiss and went into the other room and committed suicide. John continued with his story of his second wife who wanted to live but succumbed to cancer as well as giving several other examples. John told them that he believes that most of the substance abuse problems that people face are being used as a coping mechanism to life's obstacles. John explained that he believes that you write your own story and make those choices. He told them that he used reading, meditation, and his faith in God to get through his obstacles he encountered.

We completed our time at the assembly with having students and staff putting on Fatal Vision goggles that simulate certain degrees of impairment and had them attempt to complete field sobriety tests. It was clearly a well-received event.

We continued our efforts on the morning of May 16th by partnering with the New Hampshire Liquor Enforcement Agency. They brought their Mobile Outreach Unit to ConVal which is equipped with a driving simulator where you can simulate distracted driving, texting and driving and impaired driving.

Hancock Officer Minichiello shared his personal story at the ConVal Assembly.

The Warner Zoning Board of Adjustment has voted, 4-1, to deny local developer Joe Mendola's request for a variance in order to bring a 13-unit "tiny home" park to Schoodac Road in Warner. Mendola was seeking a variance that would have allowed the homes to be clustered closer together than what is allowed.

Boscawen students at Veterans Cemetery

Students from Boscawen Elementary School sang "America the Beautiful" during Memorial Day observances at the state Veterans Cemetery. "On this solemn occasion, on this hallowed ground, the final resting place for heroes, we remember our nation's fallen," said Brig. Gen. David Mikolaities, New Hampshire's adjutant general. "Since the terrorist attacks of 9/11, we have lost 43 service members in the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq

Veterans Home program honors 43 Granite Staters who died since 2001

A Memorial Day event held by the New Hampshire Veterans Home was a reminder that gratitude for those who have fought for America should not be limited to just a holiday. The memories of 64 New Hampshire veterans who died in the last year were honored with the laying of a wreath. A total of 43 Granite Staters have been killed in action since 2001.

Officials say there is still much to improve when it comes to veterans' needs. But for the more than 200 men and women who live at the veterans home, the expansion of statewide services has improved considerably.

While a veteran's patriotism is a lifelong commitment, Gov. Chris Sununu believes their service should be recognized more than once a year. "Anytime we have to stand up and remind them how important service is and honor that, I think it can inspire folks, that next generation to want to step up and serve and understand what that call to service really means," he said.

Anticipating a large crowd for the Memorial Day Parade, the Henniker Police added extra officers to their regular patrols.

Deborah Mozder and Lexie Grenier were this year's recipients of "Women Who Make a Difference" and "Students Who Make a Difference" awards at the annual luncheon held at Colby Sawyer College in New London May 16. Paul Howe photo.

Publisher's Perspective by Leigh Bosse

America - The Experiment Continues

One of my favorite TV shows is "Around The Horn," a group of 4 sports reporters discussing the topics of the day. Recently however, the panel connected two unrelated items in comparing the NFL's new National Anthem Policy with a police overreaction in Milwaukee.

A black NBA player had taken up two handicapped parking spaces. A video shows him exiting the building and walking toward a group of three police officers who tackled, tasered and handcuffed him. In the end, he wasn't even given a parking ticket.

The Messenger has long been a supporter of our police officers, the vast majority who perform their duties with dignity and honor. There are bad cops, however, just as there are bad lawyers, doctors, mechanics and just about every profession. When, as in this case, cops cross the line, they need to be fired and prosecuted for their actions.

The panelist used this instance of police abuse to criticize the NFL for requiring players to stay in the locker room if they won't stand and show respect for the National Anthem. This is exactly why players took an knee, and the NFL was stifling dissent, they said.

Wrong. If you want to protest the rare instances of police brutality, picket their station until the offending officers are disciplined, hold a press conference and protest their actions, but don't disrespect America by insulting our flag and our Anthem.

America is the world's greatest experiment in personal liberty and individual responsibility. We are far from perfect, but in every standard of freedom, equality and justice, we remain the leader in the world. Once we condoned slavery, but we did elect a black President.

Yes, progress has been slow, but it has been faster in America than any other country in the world.

Protest our faults and our failings, but don't disrespect the men and women who paid the ultimate price to keep the experiment alive.

Letters to the Editor

Thank You Jon Manley

Jon Manley recently announced that he is retiring from public office. For six years, he has served as State Representative for Hillsborough District 3, representing Bennington, Greenfield and Hancock. I disagreed with Jon's voting record, however we share common goals--strong working families, educational opportunity, a healthy economy and a clean environment, among other things.

One of the great strengths of our constitutional republic is our diversity of ideas and perspectives. By working together, we can ensure that the best ideas are put forth, gain traction, and eventually become law. Public service, with all its wrangling, deserves respect. Thank you, Jon, for your service and your monthly visits to the Hancock Town Library, where you informed your constituents of pending legislation and listened to our concerns. Here's wishing you a happy and healthy retirement.

Dear Editor:

In early May I came home and had very little water pressure. Thinking it was my pump, I called Contoocook Artesian Well Comp. It did not turn out to be the pump, but the well which had for all intent and purposes, gone dry. This well was 500 ft. deep and had been hydrofracked when drilled 29yrs ago. The solution was to drill deeper. And deeper they did, much deeper. Having been told what the prices were, I was amazed When I Received The Bill. Rick Patenaude And Contoocook Artesian Well Comp. treated me VERY well. I am extremely grateful for their professionalism, expertise and kindness. I will recommend Contoocook Artesian Well Comp. to anyone who is in need of well services.

Heidi Welch's Farewell Concert

Several alumni, dating back as far as 1999 joined the HD Band for its final performance under Music Director Heidi Welch.

Even with alumni joining the chorus, the number of members is impressive as participation has mushroomed under Welch's leadership.

Red, White and A Capella formed by Heidi more than a decade ago, remains a crowd favorite.
