Former Navy pilot Bob Hofstetter of Washington was the featured speaker at an impressive Memorial Day assembly at Hillsboro-Deering High School.

In Flanders Fields

By: John McCrae In Flanders fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row, That mark our place; and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly Scarce heard amid the guns below. We are the Dead. Short days ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie. In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe: To you from failing hands we throw The torch; be yours to hold it high. If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies grow In Flanders fields.

Merton Mann convicted on nine counts of sexual assault

A jury has found Merton Mann, 75, a former Dunbarton Selectman, guilty of all charges for molesting two 5-year-old boys more than a decade ago. Mann was convicted of nine counts of aggravated felonious sexual assault and seven counts of felonious sexual assault. The majority of those charges stem from April 4, 2007, when the boys, now 17, say they were molested by Mann at the same time.

What began as a typical day of kindergarten for the boys on April 4, 2007, ended with one of the boy's parents calling Dunbarton Police to report that Mann, a selectman at the time, had molested her child. The investigation continued on and off for nearly 11 years until 2018, when both boys disclosed for the first time the full extent of the abuse to a forensic interviewer at the Merrimack County Advocacy Center.

Community Church of New Boston's Choir at Carnegie Hall in NYC

Come on over to Molly's Tavern in New Boston, NH on Sunday, June 16th from 1pm - 6pm for a community BBQ, to benefit the Community Church of New Boston's Choir to help offset the cost of performing at Carnegie Hall in NYC this December.

The choir, having been recently invited by Distinguished Concerts International NY to perform in a Holiday concert at Carnegie Hall on December 2, 2019, and because of the costs associated with the performance and the trip, is asking family, friends, and community members for their assistance in helping them with this amazing once in a lifetime opportunity. The choir will spend 4 days in New York City, in which they will spend time rehearsing with the DCINY Orchestra and the other Choral members totaling 280 members, and then perform at Carnegie Hall on Monday, December 2nd at 7:00 pm.

The amazing folks at Molly's Restaurant and Tavern, along with our musician friends, have been incredibly generous and supportive and are helping out by putting on a great event to include a delicious BBQ and some great live music from local bands! There will be great food, fun games for kids and families, a silent auction, and plenty of live music, and a cash bar. $20 for adults, $10 for kids 12 and under, kids under 5 are free. The silent auction will include some nice items like a hockey stick signed by Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins, a baseball signed by Rico Petrocelli of the Boston Red Sox, a baseball signed by New Boston's own pro baseball player Bill Monboquette, locally created artisan crafts, a pair of Palace Theater tickets, a long weekend at Pollard Brook resort in Lincoln, NH, a reproduction painting by Aldous Collins, and much more.

WEIGHT LOSS TIPS THAT ARE ALSO GOOD FOR YOUR TEETH—PART II

When You Need Something to Drink

Then: You reached for a soda.

Now: You quench your thirst with water.

Why: Two out of three adults in the United States are overweight or obese, and 1 in 4 Americans gets at least 200 calories a day from sugary drinks like soda. Since a 20-ounce regular soda has an average of 227 calories, cutting soda from your diet is an easy way to save on calories. The calories in regular soda are bad enough but it is even worse than that for your teeth, because those calories come from added sugar. A regular can of soda also contains about 12.5 teaspoons of added sugar, which is how much added sugar the FDA says people over the age of 3 should have throughout

The swap is simple: Water. (Even better if it's fluoridated!) Water contains no calories, no sugars and helps keep cavities away by washing away leftover food and keeping dry mouth at bay.

When You're Craving Dessert

Then: You grabbed a cookie after dinner to feed your sweet tooth.

Now: You reach for a piece of sugarless gum.

Why: It's a win-win: You can prevent dessert remorse and clean your teeth at the same time. Waiting about 20 minutes after a meal helps your body determine if it's really still hungry. Studies also show that chewing sugarless gum for 20 minutes after eating can reduce your risk of cavities.

They may start as well-intentioned efforts to calm anxiety, improve sleep or ease depression. But prescriptions for sedatives known as benzodiazepines may lead to long-term use among one in four older adults who receive them, according to new research published in JAMA Internal Medicine. That's despite warnings against long-term use of these drugs, especially among older people, because they can increase the risk of car crashes, falls and broken hips, as well as causing other side effects.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Libtayo (cemiplimabrwlc) injection for intravenous use for the treatment of patients with metastatic cutaneous squamous cell carcinoma (CSCC) or locally advanced CSCC who are not candidates for curative surgery or curative radiation. This is the first FDA approval of a drug specifically for advanced CSCC. CSCC is the second most common human cancer in the United States with an estimated annual incidence of approximately 700,000 cases. The most common form of skin cancer is basal cell cancer. Squamous cells are thin, flat cells that look like fish scales and are found in the tissue that forms the surface of the skin. CSCC usually develops in skin areas that have been regularly exposed to the sun or other forms of ultraviolet radiation. While the majority of patients with CSCC are cured with surgical resection, a small percentage of patients will develop advanced disease that no longer responds to local treatments including surgery and radiation. Advanced CSCC may cause disfigurement at the site of the tumor and local complications such as bleeding or infection, or it may spread (metastasize) to local lymph nodes, distant tissues and organs and become life-threatening.

Randy Ross, 33, of Warner was charged with two counts of disobeying a police officer, felony reckless conduct and operating as a habitual offender after being pulled over for "a motor vehicle violation" on I-93 in Hooksett about 1:30 p.m. Monday. As State Police Sgt. Vincent Grieco approached the car, Ross took off from the scene and continued north toward Concord, according to a press release. Bow man being held without bail after domestic violence assault

Jonathan Verderame, 36, of Logging Hill Road in Bow, has been arrested and charged with false report to law enforcement, domestic violence-criminal mischief, and resisting arrest or detention. Two Saturdays ago, officers were sent to Penacook Street for a report of a disturbance. When the officers arrived to the building, "multiple people" were waving them down while a woman was "hysterically crying," sitting inside of a vehicle on the side of the street. The officer saw a man, later identified as Verderame, carrying a guitar case, guitars, and bleeding from one hand while wearing a ripped shirt. Verderame was cuffed and taken up the street, about 50 feet from the scene. The victim told them that Verderame was outside "yelling on the phone" and trying to come into her apartment. Her friend tried to shut the door to stop him from coming back in. Verderame "ripped the front door open, as well as the door on the inside against the wall, causing both doors to be damaged," the officer stated, noting that there were pieces of the door on the floor. When asked about the ripped shirt, the victim stated that Verderame did it himself. Verderame was arrested and held without bail.

Grass growing two feet high, dumpster nearly on a town road, third floor apartment that may not be legal, not to mention illegal driveways. Concord Hospital's first DAISY Award goes to ICU nurse Shannon White recipient of the DAISY Award recognizing excellence in nursing. The award is presented to nurses around the world who are nominated by patients, patient's families or hospital colleagues. "I was in shock," said White, who had nominated other ICU nurses for the award. "I was so shocked that I have been able to touch people as much as they have. I felt honored to be on the same playing field as them."

White, of Franklin, has been a nurse for five years, and at Concord Hospital's ICU for nearly two. She received a certificate, a pin and a statuette representing the bond between nurses and patients.

ICU Manager Margie Ackerson nominated White for the award. "Shannon has only been in the ICU for two years, but she has quickly become a fan favorite," said Ackerson.

"She has gained this admiration and respect not because she is the most experienced nurse in the ICU, but rather by the way she treats her peers, the multidisciplinary team and most importantly, how she cares for her patients and their loved ones."

DAISY stands for "diseases attacking the immune system." The DAISY Award was established in 1999 by Mark and Bonnie Barnes after their son, Patrick, died in Seattle from complications from an autoimmune disease.

Tips to find common ground with kids about healthy eating

When you hand your kids a healthy snack or have them sit down to a wholesome meal, do you cringe because you fear their little voices of retaliation? "Ew," "yuck" and "I don't like that!" are some of the most notorious

While it may sometimes feel like kids only want unhealthy foods, the majority are open to healthy choices. According to a recent Stonyfield Organic yogurt survey of kids ages 5-11 and their parents, although only a quarter of kids said they "love" healthy snacks, a full 40% said they "like healthy snacks" and only 1% said that healthy snacks are "gross!"

Though it can be difficult to find foods parents and kids agree upon, there are some smart ways to end the food fights for good. As a mom of three young kids with snacking opinions of their own, Vanessa Lachey, TV host and actress, explains that her snack selection philosophy is all about give and take.

"I love that my kids have opinions about their food and they are especially excited about picking their snacks," she says. "I use that enthusiasm as an opportunity to talk to them about making healthy choices, balancing treats with goodness and listening to their bodies to know when they are hungry themes and lessons that extend far beyond the snack aisle." To help other parents get past the food fights, Lachey shares her top three tips for finding common ground about healthy eating: Try new things: "Kids are more adventurous than I think we sometimes give them credit for," she says. "Packing a lunch or afternoon snack each day, it's easy to get into a rut. I try to introduce at least one new food each week." Stick to it: "Kids' tastes are always changing," she stresses. "One day Camden will say he hates a certain food but when I reintroduce it a few weeks later, he's a fan. I try not to get too bummed if something doesn't hit the mark the first time."

Share control: "Putting myself in my kids' shoes, you bet I can imagine how frustrating it would be not to have control over food choices," Lachey says. "So, before we take trips to the grocery store together, I let Camden and Brooklyn know they can each pick three things that we agree upon together. It's amazing for starting a discussion about what helps fuel our bodies and is a good choice, and of course still tastes great!"

Maybe you select a fruit that isn't native to your area and try it together tonight for a nutritious dessert? Or let kids choose a nutritious snack to look forward to, like Stonyfield Organic Snack Packs, a duo of creamy organic lowfat yogurt paired with either organic graham crackers, organic cookies or organic pretzels for dipping. "With lots of practice with my own kids, I know how challenging it can be to find snacks that I feel good about but also that my kids will actually eat. Since we've discovered the new Stonyfield Organic Snack Packs, my fridge is always stocked with them because I know that Camden and Brooklyn are going to be so excited for snack time," says Lachey. These three simple tips will help you bring peace to your family's meal and snack times with healthy foods everyone - kids and adults - will love. (BPT)

What's next Hillsborough?

Time for town leaders to demonstrate vision and courage.

Plan NH recently completed a twoday Charette to create a common plan of action for the town to move forward and revitalize its downtown, the place of first impressions Hillsborough gives to the world.

To the surprise of no one, the group's proposals were nearly identical to the ones offered after a similar Charette in the early 2000's.

Increased Central Square parking again resonated as the ONLY way to renovate and fill those empty store fronts with viable businesses. The Charette also pointed out that leadership and cooperation were essential to accomplishing that task. Let's hope our leaders are willing and able to pick up that gauntlet and actually do something this time.

In the mid 1980's, I approached the Select Board with a plan to set up an expendable trust, funded by $50,000/year for several years with the specific purpose of purchasing the 4-5 house behind the Hatfield Law Office and Piexx Computers as they became available to create a centralized parking lot for downtown. It was summarily rejected.

Just after the last Charette, the Boucheas, then owners of the white house between the Valley Bible Chapel and the yellow corner building, agreed to allow the town to move their house to the vacant lot across from the Fire Station, more than doubling the Main Street parking lot. It also was summarily rejected.

Recently my wife Joyce sold that building and the large Victorian across from the Post Office.

Before doing so, we approached the Select Board, Planning Board, Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development Committee with the idea of purchasing those properties. Tearing down the Main Street house would have created 17 additional parking spaces, exactly where they were needed. The Victorian would have made a fabulous Community Center in a great location with its own huge parking lot across from Butler Park. We were not exactly thrown out but the icy stares made us feel like heretics at the Inquisition.

We need leaders who have the vision and the courage to lead, who understand that some spending can be an investment and not just an expense.

The Charette suggests eliminating the turn lanes in Central Square, allowing the return of angled parking as the first step to a revitalized downtown. If those empty stores are filled the new tax revenue will soon repay the investment.

Speaking of leadership and cooperation, it is time for those four groups, along with Hillsborough Pride and Hillsborough Reborn to jointly petition the Commissioner of Transportation to immediately remove those turn lanes and reprogram the traffic lights.

What is that old saying? "Lead, Follow, or Get The H Out Of The Way."

Franklin-Growing Our Tax Base!

Fellow residents of Franklin, I have some good news, some bad news, and some great news!

First the good news. As mandated by the New Hampshire Department of Revenue Administration, we recently underwent a City-wide property value assessment. Based on a review of recent real estate transactions, they found (drumroll, please) on average properties across the City were selling for 20% more than previously assessed. This is good news because the data proves people see value in our City and they're willing to pay more to be here. As a result, our property values are growing!

Now, the bad news. Property values in our City are growing! But wait a minute... didn't I just say that was the good news? Well, it is good news for those who look at their purchases as investments. But for those of us who love this place and want > to live here for a lifetime, higher property values mean higher taxes-and no one wants that!

So, what's the solution? We need a big'a pizza! Besides the fact that I'm Italian and everything can be related to pizza, you may ask "what's up with the pizza analogy"? Well, it reminds me of a Yogi Berra story when he was overheard ordering a pizza-and when asked how many slices he wanted it cut into, 6 or 8, he thought for a moment and said, "make it 6, I can't eat 8." The irony is it doesn't matter how many slices you cut the pizza into, it's still the same size pie. Now if Yogi wanted to be a real hero and have plenty of leftovers to share with his baseball buddies, all he needed to do was order a much bigger pizza. Point being, the bigger the pie, the smaller the slices and everyone still gets their fill.

In the Franklin property value scenario, even though values went up, the tax rate went down leaving total tax revenues collected unchanged. Taxpayers had their "slices" of that revenue share get larger or smaller, but the overall "pie" stayed the same. To reduce our individual tax burdens while still growing revenues to fund our schools, public services, and road repairs, we need to add to our tax base (grow the size of our "pizza") by inspiring redevelopment of underperforming properties and investments in new construction.

And now, for the Great News! Thanks to incentives like our City-wide Opportunity Zone, Tax Increment Finance districts, the continuing flow of significant investments from highly reputable community-focused investors, and Franklin's "champions" made up of individuals, organizations, and institutions who have vowed do whatever it takes to complete our glorious transformation, Franklin's tax base is growing in a big way! That said, I need your help-and it doesn't need to be in the form of cash investments or property improvements (although I welcome both). You can play a huge part in our revitalization by simply spreading the good news about what's happening here. Positive word of mouth is so important, and it helps generate even more forward momentum. Proudly witnessing all the great things happening in our City, I end this editorial humming one of my favorite Disco songs... "Ain't No Stopping Us Now"!

Tony Giunta, Mayor - City of Franklin

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I want to thank Hillsborough Pride for organizing another Town-Wide Yard Sale Day. I had a great sale thanks in part to about a dozen folks who showed up with their map in hand, ready to buy. I am angered, though, by the number of freeloaders who feed of this event by having their own sales, but being too cheap to spend the $5 to support this fine organization and our town. Hillsborough Pride volunteers gather the information, print the maps, publicize the event, generating huge crowds and give the maps away for free. I am ashamed of you cheaps. Maybe you can do better next year.

Dear Editor:

While I agree that the PlanNH team talked about increasing a few parking spots on West Main St. and School St., they emphatically did not recommend that "parking is the key to revitalization" because I believe they unanimously stated, "Hillsboro does not have a parking problem. It aspires to have a parking problem. It aspires to have a parking problem." This statement is consistent with every traffic and parking study we have done for the past two decades.

Jon Daley, Selectman, Hillsborough

Sorry, Jon, here is the "Proposal" resulting from the Charette:

"The proposed concept includes removing the exclusive left-turn lanes on Main Street to provide additional width in order to provide: "PARKING ADJACENT TO BUILDINGS" LDB

Just a few of the squares that are on display for the rest of this month in the Gilbert Room of Fuller Library in downtown Hillsboro.

Hillsborough Center Congregational Church

Early this summer we will be celebrating the 250th Anniversary of the Hillsborough Center Congregational Church, the oldest church in town. One of the ways we are celebrating is we are making a quilt of all the houses and other interesting things in this historic center. The guilt will be displayed during the celebration in June and also during the History Alive event, August 17-18. During History Alive, we will have a scavenger hunt for all ages and will give out prizes for those who find all the sites depicted on the quilt. We will be raffling off the quilt to raise money for repairs on this historic building. The quilt is a potholder type of quilt, similar to the civil war quilts made last year, with each square depicting one place in the Center. The winner of the guilt is likely to be announced at the end of the summer. During this winter and spring, several women have been very busy making very beautiful "potholder" squares that represent thirty of the houses and other things in the historic center of Hillsborough. Thanks to Susan Shamel, Lauren Gibson Chapin, Claudia Larkin, Sissi Shattuck, and Marian Baker for making the squares. In June, we will be holding a Quilting bee to finish sewing the squares together to make one large quilt. If you would like to come join us for this fun event, call 478-5650. Otherwise, come to History Alive and see if you can find all the sites that match each quilt square.

Rotary exchange student coming to John Stark

Henniker and Weare Families: If you have room in your home and space in your heart, please consider serving as a host family for a Rotary International Youth Exchange high school student for the 2019-20 school year. The student is being sponsored by the Henniker Rotary Club. The young woman hails from Eastern Europe and speaks English. She will be enrolled as a junior at John Stark. This exchange student will live with two or three host families between mid-to-late August through June. Families with children in Henniker and Weare schools are encouraged to apply. Essentially, she would become like a daughter to you and a sister to your own children while in your home. You would provide the same for her as you would your own, although the Rotary Club provides some assistance for the student.

Fire at RiverMead's assisted living facility quickly extinguished

A wing of RiverMead's assisted living facility was evacuated on Thursday when a malfunction in an air circulation unit triggered a fire alarm. According to Fire Chief Ed Walker, residents reported an odor of smoke in the assisted living wing, so he immediately upgraded to a second alarm, and evacuated residents from that wing. Because RiverMead is a compartmentalized facility, the entire facility did not need to be evacuated.

Firefighters discovered that a motor in the air handler, which circulates the heating or cooling in the building, was burning. Crews were then able to shut it down, evacuate the smoke and bring residents

Newport schools adding a Tech Specialist and three Behavior Specialists

The Newport School Board approved their administrators hiring someone to help integrate technology into the curriculum, and three behavior specialists to help students struggling with mainstream classrooms. Superintendent Cindy Gallagher explained the need for an "innovative coordinator" who would help integrate technology into the curriculum, assist teachers with learning and using new tech, and teach some tech courses. The position would draw a salary around $55,000. Board member Virginia "Biddy" Irwin asked if the position is required by the state. It is not.

We're looking at innovation, not just tech integration. It's broader than just tech; some of their work may not require touching a computer or an app.

Irwin asked for some corrections to the job. The district is also seeking behavior specialists to work with the new resource room for children with behavioral difficulties causing them to be pulled out of the regular classrooms. Richards Elementary School Principal Phil Banios explained the need as three-part: "Meeting students' needs; preventing disruption in the classroom; keeping students in the district instead of sending them out for services."

Banios said these would be "support professionals who work with behavioral students. We're looking for people who can implement direct service and behavioral plans and work with children with identified socio- and emotional needs."

Cara Campbell

JAFFREY - Cara Marie Campbell packed a lot of life and a lot of heart into her 30 years. She was a firefighter with the Jaffrey, NH. Fire Department; an EMT; a member of the American Legion Auxiliary; a staunch defender of all who needed help; a hands-on participant in her community; a caring and quick-witted problem solver; a devoted friend and family member; and a lot of fun. Cara died on May 19, 2019, at Monadnock Community Hospital, surrounded by family, friends, and firefighters. She was born March 15, 1989, in Peterborough, NH, the only daughter of Cynthia Caron and Scott Campbell. She is the beloved daughter of Cynthia and "dad" Richard Caron of Jaffrey. They survive her, as do her very dear friend Jason Gorman of Rindge; her brother, Taylor Mitchell Campbell of Jaffrey; her grandmother, Juliet Cuddihee of Jaffrey; her aunt, Catherine Cuddihee of Medford, MA; father, Scott Campbell and stepmother, Lourdes Campbell of Jaffrey; and cousins and friends too many to name but too loved to ever be forgotten. Cara died from an accidental overdose. We think that Cara, given her brave and compassionate heart, would want these circumstances to be known, to provide a warning so that others can safeguard themselves against situations like the one that stole Cara from us. Please take care of vourselves and each other-that's what Cara would want. In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that donations be made in Cara's memory directly to the Jaffrey Fire Department Equipment Fund and/or the Jaffrey/ Rindge Memorial Ambulance, or through a donation to the account caraluvya at People's United Bank.

- Dogs with pica consume indigestible nonfood items like rocks, concrete, wrought iron, glass, ice, coins, screws, upholstery stuffing, batteries, soda cans, gravel, dirt, clay and other objects. Young puppies often chew on inappropriate items to ease the discomfort of teething; this is different.
- When deciding on a food for your pet, stay away from brands containing artificial colors, flavors, or added preservatives. Reject foods containing fat or protein not identified by species. Animal fat and meat proteins are euphemisms for low-quality, low-priced mixed ingredients of uncertain origin.
- For the sake of your dog or cat, you must be able to communicate well with your veterinarian. If you don't understand and respect each other, it is your responsibility to do whatever you can to get things back on track, or find another veterinarian.

- Like human asthma, chronic feline asthma is incurable but generally manageable. Treatment depends on the severity of the condition. Most commonly, it involves the use of a corticosteroid drug to reduce bronchial inflammation in combination with a bronchodilator to open the airways. They may be administered orally in tablet form, through injection, or, ideally, via an inhaler.
- After giving your cat a pill, remove your fingers and hold the mouth shut for a few seconds. You can gently stroke under the cat's chin to encourage it to swallow. Sometimes, gently blowing on the cat's face can induce a swallow. Wait for the cat to lick before letting go of the chin.

- Climate controlled, allergy-free indoor air quality system
- Raised stainless steel tub w/non-slip ramp & tub mat
- Grooming area for brushing or combing
- · Choose shampoo, conditioner, odor control, warm water rinse & warm air blow dry

THANKSGIVING NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.

Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen.

Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. This Novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted.

Publication promised.
