30 Years of Fire Auxiliary

Congratulations and thank you to DeeDee Grimes for 30 years of service in the Hillsborough Fire Department Auxiliary.

Flags On The 48 Tribute

Members of Sutton Police and Fire Departments summited Mount Monroe to participate in the "Flags on the 48" memorial. Every year, volunteers climb the 48 4,000ft peaks of the White Mountains and creatively fly a flag, to honor those who were lost on 9/11. This is traditionally done on the closest Saturday to 9/11 and the flag is displayed on all 48 peaks from 12pm - 2pm.

Hillsborough's Project Genesis recently hosted a fabulous spaghetti dinner.

New Faculty at Colby-Sawyer

Increase Enrollments in Health & Business Schools

Colby-Sawyer College welcomes four new, full-time faculty members, including three to the School of Nursing & Health Sciences and one to the School of Business & Social Sciences.

Assistant Professor Kimberly Boulanger joins the school with 21 years of professional nursing experience, including 15 years in the Birthing Pavilion/Newborn Nursery at DHMC where she supervised junior-level nursing students for seven years.

Assistant Professor Ann Fournier holds a Ph.D. in nursing from Rutgers University, an M.S. in healthcare administration from New England College, an M.S.N. with a specialty in acute care from Massachusetts General Hospital Institute of Health Professions.

Assistant Professor Courtney Rogers will teach Health Assessment. She brings 12 years of patient-care experience to Colby-Sawyer, having worked as a staff nurse at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center and Concord Hospital. Professor Lauran Star Raduazo will instruct Organizational Behavior, Management Principals and Quantitative Management Science, and increase faculty in the School of Business & Social Sciences to 19 full-time members.

Anonymous $5 million donation for NEC Athletic Complex

New England College has announced a $5 million anonymous pledge to support a new, 45,000-square-foot Athletic Complex on its Henniker campus. "This transformative gift, which has been in the works for quite some time, has already spurred other generous donors to consider additional five-, six-, and seven-figure contributions; major gifts which will help us reach our $12 million fundraising goal," said NEC President Michele Perkins.

Construction is slated to begin in the spring of 2020 with the Complex opening in time for the 2022-2023 academic year. It is expected to cost $15 million all told, with seating for up to 1,300, as well as a new fitness center.

NEC competes in the NCAA Division III.

Nicaraguan Dance Troupe to perform at Weare & Henniker Schools

The Daughters of the Corn (Compas de Nicaragua) Nicaraguan Dance Troupe returns to SAU 24 schools for two days in September. The troupe will work with students at John Stark on Monday, September 23 and split the next day working with students at the Henniker Community School and the Weare Middle School. Everyone is invited to the public performance by the Daughters of the Corn on Tuesday, September 24 at 6 PM at the Weare Middle School.

"I am excited about their upcoming visit, as they will provide Spanish students at Henniker, John Stark, and Weare Middle with an enriching and rewarding experience. It offers them the rare opportunity to learn about Nicaraguan culture first-hand," said JSRHS Spanish Teacher Stephanie Harpring, who also coordinated the group's visit with the schools. "It is exciting for students to connect and converse with native speakers who are about their age and who are from a country that has a different standard of living than what we have in the United States," Ms. Harpring continued.

Compas de Nicaragua, which means Friends of Nicaragua, is comprised of dancers from the settlement of La Primavera, one of the most impoverished neighborhoods of Managua, the nation's capital. They travel to the northeast of the United States to share their dance with schools and colleges. Compas de Nicaragua is a non-profit that also supports Women in Action, a group of 40 women who organize health and education projects in Managua; and a farmer's coop in La Paz, Carazo, who carry out sustainable living projects.

This community-wide artist in residence is supported by John Stark Regional High School, Henniker Community School, and the Weare Middle School.

Additional support comes from the John Stark Spanish Honor Society and Henniker San Ramón.

Merrimack County Sheriff acknowledges a drinking problem

In a recent letter to the community, Merrimack County Sheriff Scott Hilliard acknowledged that he has a drinking problem and has been seeing a therapist since his arrest last month in Tilton on drunken driving charges.

"In my 38 years working to help others with alcohol issues, I never thought I would end up in this position, and I fully accept responsibility for creating this situation," Hilliard wrote. "This incident has helped me see the extent of a problem I tried to ignore for too long. Owning up to my actions with the County Commissioners and the Chiefs of Police was among the most difficult tasks of my life," he wrote in his letter.

"Since that time, I've been overwhelmed with support from my friends and colleagues, especially those in the law enforcement community who understand the high standards of our profession that I have always tried to meet. Hilliard is next scheduled to appear in Franklin's district court on Sept. 30.

New Boston girl need a kidney transplant

New Boston teenager Hailey Gelinis is in desperate need of a new kidney that could mean the difference between life and death.

In addition to cerebral palsy, thyroid issues, diabetes and other assorted ailments, Gelinis received a kidney transplant in 2007 that her body rejected in 2016. Although her health has been improving over the past few months, she found herself at the Dartmouth-Hitchcock Intensive Care Unit for 157 days in 2017 and found herself on life support for a week last October due to a fluid overload. As she recovered, she lost approximately half of her body weight and had to learn to walk again. Hailey has shown improvement in recent months, but she still needs to go to dialysis several times a week in Bedford as she waits for another donor to emerge and a change to see a more permanent improvement in her quality of life and a reduced likelihood of any relapses. No matter what happens, she will have a job as an honorary firefighter with the New Boston Fire Department, where firefighters say she has been an inspiration over the past several years. "She is amazingly strong and we've told her, she is someone we aspire to because of her strength," said New Boston Fire Department Chief Dan MacDonald. "She just smiles. She deals with what she has as a medical challenge and she doesn't look backward, she is always looking forward and is just a great person." More information on how to donate a kidney to Hailey or any Dartmouth-Hitchcock patient can be found at the Dartmouth-Hitchcock website by typing "Become a Living Kidney Donor" into the site's search function.

Dunbarton ballerina may turn professional

Dunbarton's London Mills, 18, a senior at Bow High School reached the final round of the Genée International Ballet Competition in Toronto, one of the world's most renowned ballet competitions. Mills was one of just six competitors from the United States among the 62 entrants at the event. After a two-day preliminary round split between solo dances and a judged class, Mills emerged as the only North American female among the 14 dancers in the final round. After she graduates at the end of the school year, Mills will decide if she will head to college or straight toward a career in professional ballet.

Hillsboro-Deering Schools show mixed results on state-wide tests

Dr. Jennifer Crawford and the three school principals briefed the Hillsboro-Deering School Board on the latest state-wide testing results. High School Principal James O'Rourke was pleased to announce that his students made great progress in closing the gap with the state on science testing. The state-wide average is 41% of students are proficient in science, while H-D has improved to 35% proficient.

Middle School Principal, Macrc Peterson reported the most dramatic improvements, with his students showing improvement in 5 of the 7 categories tested. He had great praise for 6th grade math teacher Stephanie Martin and her team. Her students improved 24 points from 18% to 42% proficient in math.

Results for the Elementary school were not as encouraging. Newly appointed Principal Donna Furlong reported the results generated under her predecessor, which showed 3rd and 4th graders losing ground in math, english and science, including a 14 point drop by 3rd graders in math and a 17 point drop by 4th graders.

At the conclusion, Dr. Crawford outlined several steps designed to improve performance this year.

ConVal v. State of N.H. to Supreme Court

The New Hampshire Supreme Court accepted the state's appeal of the ConVal School District lawsuit decision – as well as ConVal's counter-appeal on Wednesday. In an order issued yesterday, the court found the case “appears to be eligible for mediation,” meaning that the Cheshire County Superior Court decision that sided with ConVal by declaring that the state is underfunding the constitutionally required adequate education will be reviewed in the state Supreme Court. Both the state and the school district have until Sept. 26 to agree to participate in mediation.

Goffstown man faces multiple drug charges

Christian Browne, 33, of Goffstown has been arrested on several felony drug charges stemming from a traffic stop in Exeter earlier this year. Goffstown Police arrested Browne on a warrant from the Exeter Police Department, charging him with three counts of possession of a controlled drug and two counts of possession with intent to distribute. The case resulted from a motor vehicle stop in February, in which Browne was arrested for operating with a suspended license and suspended registration. After obtaining a search warrant for Browne's vehicle, police found several suspected drugs, scales, baggies of fentanyl, methamphetamine, and amphetamine.

Antrim wind pays $50,000 fine for delay in installing warning lights

The Antrim Wind project developers are confident of completion by the end of November, despite recent setbacks resulting from a supplier's bankruptcy and the malfunction of the temporary safety lights atop the turbines. Project representatives have confirmed that the temporary lights weren't working after resident Shelley Nelkins reported the outage at the last Select Board meeting. The Federal Aviation Administration requires lights on any structure taller than 200 feet to have lights, in order to identify potential hazards to air navigation. The company has filed the proper paperwork with the FAA and the repair is scheduled for Monday, September 16th. TransAlta has paid the Town $50,000 for the delay under the terms of the original contract which provides for the fee if the turbines weren't on line within twelve months after the start of construction.

The Sunapee Food Pantry has been quite busy recently. One popular program is the weekend backpack program for elementary school children.

The following are items that the pantry could use:

- Individual size cereal boxes
- Fruit – both individual and full sized
- Baked beans
- Snacks
- Chili
- Beef stew
- Snacks
- Bread mixes
- Shelf stable milk

Other items that we are in need of are:

- Shampoo
- Conditioner
- Toothbrushes
- Toothpaste
- Deodorant
- Razors
- Paper towels

In lieu of cash, grocery cards in any denomination are always greatly appreciated! Thank you so much for all of the community's continued support.

On a rainy 9/11 morning, about a hundred Andover elementary and middle-school students, teachers and townspeople gathered near the school to attend a ceremony in memory of those New Hampshire residents who lost their lives in the terrorist attacks against the United States on the morning of Tuesday, September 11, 2001. The ceremony was organized by the town's American Legion Crosby-Gilbert Post 101.

Antrim & Peterborough receive EMS grants

The Antrim and Peterborough Fire Departments received Warm Zone EMS grants this year from the New Hampshire Department of Safety. The grant covers the cost of ballistic protective equipment for rescue task forces, or teams of firefighters and emergency medical services who operate in conjunction with law enforcement during active shooter events. "The objective of the team is to treat, stabilize, and rapidly remove civilian casualties while wearing ballistic protection and under the protection of Law Enforcement," according to a best practice guide by the NH Bureau of Emergency Medical Services. EMS professionals have historically been trained to not enter an emergency situation until police have declared the scene safe. The grants reimburse purchases of up to $6,000 in protective equipment, including bullet-proof vests, gloves, knee pads, helmets, and shields. "It's a changing world out there and it's a reality, and we've had some incidents that have hit sort of close to home," said Antrim Fire Chief Marshall Gale, who applied for and received the grant this year.

Weare Flags Fly adopts Hopkinton program

"Weare Flags Fly", a project of the South Weare Improvement Society, seeks to increase patriotism in town on Memorial Day, Flag Day, Independence Day, Labor Day and Veterans Day by offering to install temporary flags for local residents on those holidays. The idea came from the Hopkinton Rotary Club, which had taken the idea from a Rotary Club in Texas. The initiative in Hopkinton, Flags are Flying Over Hopkinton, has more than quadrupled since it began in 2012. Now groups in Bow and Concord, in addition to Weare, are also looking at creating similar flag programs. Weare Flags Fly is following closely to Hopkinton's blueprint, offering residents a 3-by-5-foot flag with a 10foot pole that is installed shortly before the holidays and removed shortly afterward. Flags are $50, and $35 for senior citizens, with all proceeds going to the South Weare Improvement Society. Anyone interested in flags can contact Curt and Sheila Lindh at 603529-7282 or by email at cslindh@gmail.com.

Franklin High School tackles hunger

Franklin High School will be hosting its NH Tackles Hunger Day this Saturday, September 21 on their Homecoming Day. They will be accepting non-perishable food items and cash all day with all proceeds going to the Twin Rivers Interfaith Food Pantry in Franklin. If you bring at least two non-perishable food items, then you will get free admission to the football game. Soccer plays at 9:30, JV volleyball at 10:00, Varsity volleyball at 11:15, field hockey at 12:30 and football at 3:30. Please contact Athletic Director Dan Sylvester at dsylvester@gm.sau18.org with any questions.

Henniker Community School given $1,000 donation for Robotics Team

The Henniker Community School robotics program recently received a generous $1,000 donation from Zach Saunders of Residential Mortgage Services (RMS).

This gift will help the Henniker robotics team, HCS Future Paradox, while also expanding the robotics program at the school. Robotics will now be a course in the STEM program for students in grades 7 and 8. Zach Saunders has been a financial supporter of the Henniker robotics team for the past two years, donating $500 each year. "The feedback we received on how important, helpful, and meaningful our financial contributions have been was all we needed this year to decide to donate again," said Saunders.

When asked what the HCS Future Paradox team meant to him, Saunders responded, "There weren't too many outlets when I was in school that allowed a competitive team atmosphere outside of sports. I wasn't much of an athlete in school, and I feel like I would have benefitted from a program like this when I was younger." He went on to say, "The skill sets being developed in teams like robotics teaches a myriad of useful skills that will help students become better students and problem solvers. It also teaches young men and women how to collaborate within a team environment, a skill set that is more and more critical in the business world and becoming more difficult to find in the applicant pool."

The Henniker robotics team, HCS Future Paradox, began two years ago. The club advisor is HCS teacher Aaron Boucher.

Good people make mistakes too

Merrimack County Sheriff, Hilliard, 58, of Northfield, who is serving his seventh term as Sheriff, faces charges of aggravated driving while intoxicated, (DWI) and an open container violation. He has pleaded not guilty to all charges and remains free on bail conditions. Nevertheless, he has freely admitted having a drinking problem and is seeking help. "Despite my embarrassment, I'm nonetheless thankful for being led to a wonderful therapist who has been helping me since four days after my arrest," Hilliard wrote. Hilliard's law enforcement career spans more than 30 years. He was first elected Merrimack County Sheriff in 2006 after having served as chief of police in Northfield. He was re-elected sheriff for a seventh term in November after defeating his first primary challenger in 10 years. His term expires in 2020.

I have known Scott since 1990. When I ran for State Senate, he endorsed Amy Patenaude, my opponent in the Republican primary. Despite that, we have been friends since. He is an honest, upright public servant, who suffers an addiction. As one who struggled for years to give up smoking, I can emphasize with his problem.

As the legal process unfolds, he deserves no special treatment because of his position or past service. If convicted he will pay a heavy price, but it will not define him. A lifetime of good work can not and should not be erased by a single mistake.

I wish him well as he goes through this legal and emotional battle and will remain his friend, no matter the outcome.

New Hampshire's Career Academy

By Commissioner Frank Edelblut and Chancellor Ross Gittell

Imagine your dream scenario for a high school student looking for a quality education that will lead to a great career.

It would have to be affordable. It would start in high school to give students a jump on higher education. It would open doors to private-sector employers. And, of course, it would have to be sustainable for a state facing budget pressures.

What if we could give students the chance to earn a high school diploma, an associate's degree from our community college system, an industry recognized credential and an interview with a New Hampshire employer? We've found a way, at no cost to students, and without increasing overall spending. In many ways, the New Hampshire Career Academy is a dream come true for Granite State students.

New Hampshire offers many opportunities for students to engage in college-level work while in high school. We have very strong dual and concurrent programs. With concurrent enrollment in NH community colleges' award winning and rapidly growing Running Start program, courses are taught by qualified high school teachers in NH high school all across the state. With dual enrollment, classes are taught by community college professors at the community college. In both of these programs, students earn both high school and community college credits, and these credits transfer to over 200 colleges and universities across the country including UNH. The Legislature has funded these programs through the state budget, ensuring that students across New Hampshire can access the opportunity. Last year, students took over 7,000 dual and concurrent enrollment courses.

The New Hampshire Career Academy, proposed by Gov. Chris Sununu in his inaugural address in January, builds on these highly successful programs that are well integrated into New Hampshire high schools, well known and highly valued by New Hampshire teachers and families, and are strongly aligned with the needs of New Hampshire students and the career opportunities in our state.

New Hampshire Career Academy will begin operating with two of New Hamp-shire's public charter schools. Students enrolled in the Academy will take all of their academic and course programming on the campus of the participating community college. Essentially, participants become students at the community college, with access to all of the programs and support of the community college, including academic advising. At the same time, the Academy will provide these students with administrative and guidance support.

The New Hampshire Career Academy is available to qualified New Hampshire residents who are high school seniors or students who have not yet attained senior status but can reasonably be expected to complete program requirements. Participating students will attend community college during their senior year and for an extended senior year, allowing them time to complete graduation requirements for both high school and a post-secondary certificate and in some cases an associate's degree.

Academy students will enroll in a specific program of study, approved to align with industry opportunities and student needs. So on top of a high school and a post-secondary award, students who graduate from the New Hampshire Career Academy will also be on a strong pathway to a NH job and career. All approved programs will have an industry partner who will guarantee graduating students a job interview.

That's a great deal, especially since the New Hampshire Career Academy will be free for New Hampshire students.

Currently, New Hampshire schools spend an average of $16,000 per year per high school student, paid for by state and local taxpayers. The New Hampshire Career Academy would be based on the public charter school model, and use $7,200 per year in state funding, with $1,200 per student supporting the Academy's administration and $6,000 to fund academic programs at the community college. Effectively, this program leverages existing education resources and capacity in the state to realize the ever elusive idea of making college accessible to students at no cost to them.

This innovative partnership between the state, the Community College System, and New Hampshire's private sector will give New Hampshire students an affordable path to career-focused education.

We all share the goal of bright futures for New Hampshire students and for a highly skilled workforce for employers in all regions of the state, and this is yet another pathway to make that a reality for all.

Frank Edelblut is Commissioner of the New Hampshire Department of Education. Ross Gittell is Chancellor of the Community College System of New Hampshire.

Kearsarge Regional School District received the NHIAA DIII Sportsmanship Banner at the Annual Meeting. It's the 4th time in 5 years for the Cougars as the top school in the division.

GIRLS FIELD HOCKEY

John Stark 2, Oyster River 0: Meg Giradet had a hand in both Stark goals, scoring the first and assisting on the second, which was scored by Delaney Forrestall.

John Stark 3, Plymouth 2, OT: Elizabeth Aubin scored her second game-winning goal in overtime this season.

Sanborn 2, Bow 1, OT: Sarah Guerrette put Bow on the board when she scored on a penalty corner early in the first half.

Derryfield 6, Bow 0: Another game, another hat trick for Derryfield's Lindsey Stagg as she supplied three goals in the Cougars' 6-0 win over Bow. The hat trick was her fifth in six games this season.

Hopkinton 2, Winnisquam 1: Senior captain Katie Meserve scored twice – once in each half – and Hopkinton held off a late surge to defeat Winnisquam, 2-1.

Hopkinton 3, Lebanon 0: The Hawks kept its undefeated streak alive with their first shutout victory of the season.

Stevens 1, ConVal 0 OT: Mackenzie Anderson made seven saves for ConVal but the Cougars couldn't score against Stevens and lost in overtime, 1-0.

Bishop Brady 5, ConVal 0: Libbey Hicks netted four goals and the Giants took a 3-0 halftime lead.

Conant 10, Franklin 0: Franklin's Jasmyn Long made 20 saves against a powerful team.

Kearsarge 5, Conant 1: Abby Nadeau opened the scoring off an assist from Marissa Montagna.

Kearsarge 3, Laconia 0: Brier Roberts netted the first two goals of the game and assisted on the third.

Kearsarge 3, Coe-Brown 1: The Cougars went ahead just four minutes into the second half when Thea Spanos crossed from left flank and Mia Baron put it away the game winner.

Berlin 9, Franklin 0: Leila Gerard had some breakaway attempts and Hannah Oltman had a couple good shots on goal. ▶

THUMBSUCKING AND PACIFIER USE

Dr. Esin Narli-Trangaris

Thumbsucking is a natural reflex for children. Sucking on thumbs, fingers, pacifiers or other objects may make babies feel secure and happy and help them learn about their world.

Young children may also suck to soothe themselves and help them fall asleep.

How Can Thumbsucking Affect My Child's Teeth?

After permanent teeth come in, sucking may cause problems with the proper growth of the mouth and alignment of the teeth. It can also cause changes in the roof of the mouth.

Pacifiers can affect the teeth essentially the same ways as sucking fingers and thumbs, but it is often an easier habit to break.

The intensity of the sucking is a factor that determines whether or not dental problems may result. If children rest their thumbs passively in their mouths, they are less likely to have difficulty than those who vigorously suck their thumbs. Some aggressive thumbsuckers may develop problems with their baby (primary) teeth.

When Do Children Stop Sucking Their Thumbs?

Children usually stop sucking between the ages of two and four years old, or by the time the permanent front teeth are ready to erupt. If you notice changes in your child's primary teeth, or are concerned about your child's thumbsucking, consult your dentist.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

Research with postmenopausal women found a 57.8 percent rate of metabolic syndrome among women presenting vitamin D insufficiency or deficiency. The results of the study were published in the journal Maturitas. A previous study analyzed the association between vitamin D deficiency and breast cancer in postmenopausal women. Levels of vitamin D were sufficient in 33.9% of the patients and insufficient or deficient in 66.1%. A higher proportion of those with vitamin D insufficiency or deficiency had high-grade tumors or metastatic disease.

Could omega-6 fatty acids protect you against premature death? The answer is yes, according to a recent study published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition. While protecting against death, omega-6 fatty acids also keep cardiovascular diseases at bay.

Opioids are not among the most effective — or longest lasting — options available for relief from acute dental pain, a recent examination of the results from more than 460 published studies has found. Ibuprofen and other nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) alone or in combination with acetaminophen are better at easing dental pain, according to the new research. The study examining relief of acute pain in dentistry — recently featured on the cover of The Journal of the American Dental Association — evaluated the safety and efficacy of dozens of pain-relief options. Each day, more than 115 Americans die as a result of an opioid overdose, according to the National Institutes of Health. The research found that, for adults, a combination of 400 milligrams of ibuprofen and 1,000 milligrams of acetaminophen was superior to any opioid-containing medications studied. The study also found that opioids or drug combinations that included opioids accounted for the most adverse side effects — including drowsiness, respiratory depression, nausea/vomiting and constipation — in both children and adults.

Andover family biking to New York City for Climate Action Summit

An Andover family is going the extra mile to raise awareness and attend next week's U.N. Climate Action Summit in New York City. The Morgan's plan to bike with two children under the age of 10. Azalea Morgan, 7, along with her sister Ember Morgan, 9, and their mother Molly Morgan, are leaving Andover on Tuesday to start their journey on bicycles to New York City. The family hopes to make it in time for the U.N. Climate Action Summit on Sept. 23. The idea came after Azalea saw a story about polar bears.

"There was this really sad video there and I watched it and then I was sad in my bed," Azalea said.

The Morgan family is passionate about the environment and are hoping to meet similar families along the way.

"Maybe some kids and parents might wanna join us along the way and even if it was a couple people and it could be a way to make friends and build some momentum," Molly Morgan said.

They will use public transit, when necessary and in addition to camping overnight, will stop at safe places to rest. They hope to raise not only awareness but also money for environmental causes and possibly solar panels for the kid's school. They will have a donation bucket with them and they started a Facebook page. KidsCare4PolarBears.

The New London Food Truck Festival on September 15th was organized by the New London Recreation Department and the New London Rotary Club. Money raised will go to the New London Rotary Club scholarship fund and the New London Recreation Department. Estimates were that over 1,000 people turned out for the event. Paul Howe photo.

Franklin Animal Shelter Plunge For Paws

On Saturday, November 2, 2019, the Franklin Animal Shelter will be hosting its first Plunge For Paws event. The event will take place on Griffin Beach at Webster Lake in Franklin starting at 11:00 AM until 3:00 PM. In addition to the "plunge" there will be live dog demonstrations, music, vendors, family friendly activities, refreshments, a bonfire and more! Well behaved dogs are welcomed to attend and "plunge," but must be under the owner's control at all times. Awards will be presented to those who raise the most donations and for best costumes.

Registration tables open at 11 AM, and the plunge begins at 12 noon. To register on line, visit our website at: www.franklinanimalshelter.com

We will be "plunging" rain, snow, or shine! Should you choose not to actually plunge, please mail your pledge sheet & donations to: Franklin Animal Shelter, P.O. Box 265, Franklin, NH 03235; checks should be made payable to Franklin Animal Shelter.

If interested in participating please contact the Animal Shelter or the contact below.

The shelter provides a place where Good Samaritan rescuers and those no longer able to care for pets can turn for help. The Shelter provides food, warm beds, needed medical attention and loving care.

Franklin Animal Shelter is a 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt organization. Tax deductible contributions may be made through the website, www.franklinanimalshelter.com, or mailed to PO Box 265, Franklin, NH 03235
