Hillsborough man's plea bargain avoids rape conviction

Dylan Stahley, 22, of Hillsborough, initially charged with raping a teenager during a camping trip in 2017, has reached a plea bargain with Merrimack County by pleading to a reduced charge of simple assault. As part of the deal, the more serious charge of aggravated felonious sexual assault has been dismissed. If convicted of that special felony Stahley faced a state prison term of 10 to 20 years. Stahley has been ordered to serve 90 days at the county jail and to follow through on the recommendations of his psychosexual evaluation.

John Stark Regional High School 2019 graduate Noah Peacock knew he liked working with his hands as he worked side-by-side with his great grandfather as a kid in his bicycle restoration business. Fast forward a few years and as a high school student, Noah was able to feed his passion for working with his hands by enrolling in every Tech Ed class offered.

When he was a senior and taking welding, Noah's interest was further sparked when his teacher, Joab Owen, brought speakers to the class who worked in the welding trade. Speakers from private industry and community college came to talk with students about the different career paths one could take in the field.

"That's when I found out about the Phaze Welding Technology Center in Peterborough. It was just what I was looking for... a technical school that focused just on the trade of welding, no other classes necessary," said Noah.

Francestown farm land preserved

The Francestown Land Trust has completed the Abbottville Farm Conservation Easement Project which protects forty acres of scenic agricultural fields and adjacent forest well known to all who drive the Second NH Turnpike from Mont Vernon to Francestown. The conservation easement will allow the current landowner, Robert Abbott, to continue to use the property as both pasture and forestland, as his family has for generations.

Noah Peacock will complete the oneyear certificate program at Phaze this summer and has a job offer waiting for him. He plans to work using his welding skills to repair equipment at Mt. William Sand and Gravel in Weare.

When asked about his time at John Stark, Noah offered this advice to students,

"Do anything that makes you happy. For me, it was working with my hands." Noah also offered this, "work hard, don't complain, be respectful, and save money."

John Stark Regional High School offers courses in wood manufacturing, carpentry, small engine repair, welding, and sheet metalworking.

Electric service was disrupted by this accident

Over 700 in Francestown without power during storm

Eversource reported 706 Francestown customers without power, as a result of the downed pole.

Eversource Media Relations Senior Specialist Kaitlyn Woods reported that a truck crashed into a power line on Bennington Road in Francestown Monday morning during the ice storm, disrupting power to hundreds of homes in Francestown, Lyndeborough, and New Boston. The crash occurred around 7:50 a.m., and power was restored by mid-afternoon Monday. Eversource had 200 line and tree service crews on alert Sunday night in preparation for the storm.

Kearsarge Regional School District Operating Budget up 3.13%

A sparse crowd attended the Kearsarge Regional School District's Deliberative Session Saturday. Both the School Board and the Municipal Budget Committee have recommended an operating budget of $45,069,217, an increase of $1,367,54 or 3.13% over the current budget. School Board Chair Ken Bartholomew of Warner explained that the increase comes from the addition of 3.72 full time teacher positions, Wages and Health Benefits which amount to $1,509,475. Peterborough zoning suit settled

While the Superior Court dismissed two lawsuits challenging Peterborough's zoning ordinance, by agreement of the plaintiffs and the town, the court invalidated the town's Traditional Neighborhood Overlay Zone II, which the 2017 Town Meeting voters approved. Article 4 asks for $50,000 of any surplus to be allocated to the school's Building Maintenance Fund.

Moderator Brackett Scheffy (standing) introduced School Board Chair Ken Bartholomew, (seated) who explained the Board's reasoning behind the budget.

Two drugs commonly prescribed to treat Type 2 diabetes carry a high risk of cardiovascular events such as heart attack, stroke, heart failure or amputation, according to a new study published in JAMA Network Open. The two drugs — sulfonylureas and basal insulin — are commonly prescribed to patients after they have taken metformin, a widely accepted initial Type 2 diabetes treatment, but need a second-line medication because metformin alone didn't work or wasn't tolerated. More than half of patients nationwide (60 percent) who need a second-line drug are prescribed one of these two drugs, the study found. Yet, patients who take one of these two drugs are likely — 36 percent more for sulfonylureas and twice as likely for basal insulin — to experience cardiovascular harm than those taking a newer class of diabetes drugs known as DPP-4 inhibitors, the authors report.

Women with chronic pain or discomfort around the vulva showed improved sexual function with an oral nerve pain medication used to treat pain caused by a previous herpes infection as well as fibromyalgia, according to a Rutgers study. The study, which was the first to analyze sexual function in women with vulva pain treated with Gabapentin, appeared in the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology. The women in the study were diagnosed with provoked vulvodynia, a chronic pain syndrome that is characterized by symptoms such as stinging, burning, irritation or itching at the entry to the vagina. The pain usually occurs with contact, such as from tampon insertion or intercourse, which can lead to sexual dysfunction.

A root canal is a treatment used to repair and save a tooth that is badly decayed or becomes infected. During a root canal procedure, the nerve and pulp are removed and the inside of the tooth is cleaned and sealed. Without treatment, the tissue surrounding the tooth will become infected and abscesses may form.

Dr. Esin Narli-Trangaris "Root canal" is the term used to describe the natural cavity within the center of the tooth. The pulp or pulp chamber is the soft area within the root canal. The tooth's nerve lies within the root canal.

A tooth's nerve is not vitally important to a tooth's health and function after the tooth has emerged through the gums. Its only function is sensory—to provide the sensation of hot or cold. The presence or absence of a nerve will not affect the day-to-day functioning of the tooth.

Why Does Tooth Pulp Need to Be Removed?

When a tooth's nerve tissue or pulp is damaged, it breaks down and bacteria begin to multiply within the pulp chamber. The bacteria and other decayed debris can cause an infection or abscessed tooth. An abscess is a pus-filled pocket that forms at the end of the roots of the tooth. An abscess occurs when the infection spreads all the way past the ends of the roots of the tooth. In addition to an abscess, an infection in the root canal of a tooth can cause:

- Swelling that may spread to other areas of the face, neck, or head Bone loss around the tip of the root
- Drainage problems extending outward from the root. A hole can occur through the side of the tooth with drainage into the gums or through the cheek with drainage into the skin.

Francestown firefighters battle chimney fire

The Francestown Firefighters extinguished a chimney fire at 47 2nd NH Turnpike South, which was caused when residents used three Duraflame logs to heat their house during a power outage. Most of the town had lost power after a box truck took out the telephone pole on Bennington Road earlier in the morning. The Fire Department removed the burning logs and cleared the blockage that was burning in the chimney's stainless steel insert.

Round two of Henniker's Azalea Park funding debate ends quietly

Anticipating a continuation of a heated debate over Azalea Park funding, a large crowd attended Henniker's Select Board meeting Tuesday night, only to see the matter resolved quickly and quietly. After Finance Director Russ Roy outlined the revenue and expense history of the project and Azalea Chair Barbara Adams assured the Board that the final paperwork for the state grant would be filed shortly, the Board moved on to other subjects.

Under Public Comment, Joan O'Connor regretted the tone of recent Facebook postings critical of the Azalea Committee, and asked for more respect for the volunteers who have served for 10 years to improve the Park.

Peter Flynn reported that the Committee charged with reviewing the three bids for a Photovoltaic Solar System has determined that none of the proposals will lower energy costs below what the town is currently paying, and recommends that no action be taken at this time.

Craig Lane's death is one of New Hampshire's unsolved cold cases.

1989 Peterborough murder is still unsolved

The case involving the fatal stabbing of a 17-year-old working at a gas station in Peterborough in 1989 has never been solved. Craig Lane was working at the Texaco Station on Route 202 when he was killed in an apparent robbery.

The gas station was robbed around 5:30 p.m. on Jan. 8, 1989. The robber fatally stabbed Lane and stole money. Customers saw a white man fleeing the scene. The suspect was believed to be in his teens to early 20s at the time.

The suspect would be in his late 40s to early 50s today. He was described as about 5 feet, 10 inches tall with a slim-to-medium build. He had brown, medium-length hair and was wearing a red jacket with a blue stripe in the chest area, blue jeans and a dark baseball cap. Can you help police solve this case? Submit a tip to the New Hampshire Cold Case Unit.

Hopkinton Rescue Squad clarifies its roles and responsibilities

The Hopkinton Rescue Squad does not want to contribute to the chaos and confusion that sometimes goes hand-in-hand with social media posts. In recent days, it has come to our attention that our community is somewhat unclear as to what tasks the Hopkinton Rescue Squad performs. This post only serves to help clear that up. This is an issue that we have been trying to resolve for years as we talk to people while selling raffle tickets and participating in events like the PTA fun fair, touch-a-truck, etc. Here is a list of the typical things the Rescue Squad does.

Direct traffic so that the certified EMTs and firefighters can do their jobs without being taken away to do this too. Honestly, this is what we do at least half of the time.

Vehicle extrication: We open the vehicle when a driver/passenger can't get out. We then step back so the EMTs and firefighters can do what they need to do.. We are properly trained for this, and we retrain annually. Lighting for calls at night or when power has been cut for any reason during a fire or police call. We also have provided our generator for similar calls. Equipment transport, such as helping to get firefighter equipment to a brush/forest fire so that they can then do the jobs that they are well trained to do. On occasion, we have participated in swift water rescue (Henniker) and ice rescue calls. Again, we have done training in these areas and repeat those trainings as needed. Occasionally, we help with cleanup at scenes following an accident. We serve other community organizations when asked.

The Hillsboro Firefighters Association and the Hillsboro Rescue Squad Association were able to purchase a slide in unit for the Department's UTV. The UTV, tracks, and trailer were also purchased with fundraising a few years ago.

A Guide for New Hampshire's Active Seniors

Different Perspective by Rep. Jim Fedolfi

I have been wrestling with myself about writing this column for about two months because I didn't want it to be seen as just another political column. But I consider the topics are too important not to speak up. The topics are anti Semitism, anti Christian growth in this country, the political movement towards socialism and my growing concern that we may actually pass recreational marijuana in our State. This column may end up too long to print in our local papers, but I have to try.

For years, the anti Semitic and anti Christian forces in this country were made up of atheists and agnostics who would occasionally go to court over a cross or Christmas tree or Menorah on the Statehouse grounds or crosses at veteran cemeteries on federal land. But they seem to have come into the wherewithal to get highly organized and moved into several facets of our society, most disturbingly, our political system. This latest movement into our political system would require boatloads of money to pull off, and I wonder where it is coming from. Politicians need to start addressing this problem, it is simply not right to foment hate against anyone especially because of their religion. Our Constitution guarantees freedom of religion, and freedom for those who don't believe in religion. When it crosses the line and turns into hatred, and encourages actions against people who practice religion. Why would anyone hate anyone else for any reason, I certainly don't and never have, obviously there are some people vou don't like, but hate, NO!!

What can I say about Socialism, most people who have even a basic awareness of what is going on in this world knows that Socialism doesn't work. Countries who have experimented with it are quickly trying to undo it. What most people don't understand is that you lose one of our most important rights, the right to choose, like your doctor, hospital, job, home, etc. The big lure is free this, free that, nothing in our lives is free, if you got something for nothing, someone paid for it. Eventually if the Socialist leadership wants to stay in power, they turn to the military to restore order and maintain control. One need only look to Venezuela to see what happens. Venezuela at one time was the wealthiest nation in South America, now people are starving. Enough said.

Recreational marijuana is actually getting close to passing in N.H. There seems to be equal value to both sides of the argument on whether it is an addictive drug, but like alcohol, which is for adults only, it will only be a short time before kids will find some adult to buy some for them. Medical evidence tells us that the human brain reaches full development at 26 to 27 years old and that marijuana won't affect their brains, but not so for children. It adversely affects the part the brain that affects children's ability to reason. My personal opinion is that it is socially addictive. Peer pressure will talk a young person into trying it. Shortly someone will say try some of this, it's even better. I don't need to tell you what happens next. We have enough problems with illegal drugs in our State. If we pass recreational marijuana we will be telling our children and grandchildren that it's OK. I will not vote to legalize recreational marijuana. If that will cost me reelection to the House, so be it.

> Jim Fedolfi, Representative, Hillsborough/Antrim/Windsor

Peterborough to hold Special Town Meeting to raise $1.6 million

Although Peterborough voters thought they approved funds for the Main Street bridge project in May of 2018, another $1.6 million is needed to complete the project. The project is being funded 80% by the federal government, with the remaining 20% is the town's responsibility.

At the time voters approved millions for the project in 2018, estimates were based

Two new cruisers needed in Weare

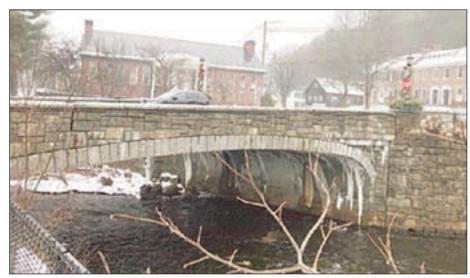

Weare Police Chief Christopher Moore met with the Select Board Monday evening to discuss the Department's need for two new cruisers. During the 2018 Town Meeting voters were told that if they rejected the warrant for a new cruiser, they would be faced with the need for two this year.

The Board voted to sponsor a single warrant article to purchase and uplift both cruisers asking for an appropriation of $106,288. This would be offset by $37,500 unretained earnings, leaving $68,700 to be raised by taxation.

on a total construction cost of $5.0 million. The lowest bids, however, came in at $6.6 million, leaving the town with a $1.6 million shortfall.

The Hillsborough Superior Court

North recently approved a Special Town Meeting on Jan. 15 in the Town Hall. If the additional funding is approved, repairs are expected to begin this year with completion by the end of 2021.

Repairing this bridge will cost $1.6 million more than expected

Concord Food Co-op refutes "Best Gourmet Food Store" Award

Earlier this year, the Concord Food Co-op won the "Best Gourmet Food Store" Cappies Award. The only problem? According to Director of Development Greg Lessard and Marketing Specialist Leslie Fincke, the Co-op is much more than a gourmet food store - and also a lot less, at least depending on how you define the word "gourmet."

One of the reasons Greg and Leslie wonder whether the "Best Gourmet Food Store" designation is appropriate for the Co-op is because of the negative connotation some people bring to the word "gourmet." Many people associate 'gourmet' with 'expensive,' even if that's not necessarily the best definition.

When you look at the quality of the produce and goods that the Co-op carries, it's easy to see how they surpass the gourmet label. While they often eschew the 'exotic ingredients' in favor of locally-sourced produce, everything in the Co-op is a product of their commitment to providing fresh, wholesome food.

"I love that I don't have to worry about what else may be in my food," Leslie explains. "I know I'm getting whole foods - real, quality products."

In addition to their great produce and ingredients, the Co-op also creates delicious, healthy meals with 'skilled preparation.' Their sushi bar, café, and grab-n-go deli counter are favorites of busy professionals and health conscious consumers.

"People appreciate the care that goes into creating the dishes and the variety of our hot food and salad bar," Greg says.

It's not typical to refuse an award.

Hillsboro-Deering School Board trims budget increase to 2.8%

The Hillsboro-Deering School Board held final discussions on the proposed budgets for 2020-2021. Beginning with a requested increase of $5.74% the administration brought in a revision to 3.99%. Not satisfied, board member Rich Pelletier requested that the administration reduce it more, to at least half.

The final $23,726,037 budget for consideration for the public hearing now reflects a 2.82% increase. Part of the reason for being able to lower this figure was because Assistant Superintendent Patricia Parenteau will be getting Title I grants for 5 para-educators in the elementary school.

The figure does not include the warrant article for the new Collective Bargaining Agreement for Support Staff. At this time there are no other articles which ask for additional money, just some which will be funded only if there are surplus funds at the end of the school year. One major driver for any increases is more out-of-district placements. Mrs. Parenteau has long advocated for the District and has repeatedly maintained that out-of-district placements are the last approach, but sometimes they are absolutely necessary.

PETS ARE FAMILY TOO!

3 signs of discomfort to watch for in your dog

Dogs are the best. The best welcome home greeters. The best snuggle buddies. And, the best road trip companions. But, just like humans, dogs have ruff days and health problems from aging and their active lives. They don't always know how to tell us where they hurt or why they are acting differently, but there are some signs that pet parents can watch for.

1. Less pep in their step. It's natural for dogs to be less active as they age, but with four legs and boundless curiosity, injuries can happen any time. If your fur family member isn't sprinting around the backyard like normal, or they're walking up or down stairs instead of running, they may be experiencing leg or paw discomfort. A prolonged change in the way they walk or run could be a sign of hip or joint discomfort indicating a chronic condition, according to veterinarian Elizabeth DeLomba. "Medium to large dog breeds in particular are prone to developing joint issues as they age," says Dr. DeLomba. "One of the first and best ways to manage these changes is with a daily joint supplement like GlycoFlex from VetriScience."

2. Missing your snuggle buddy. They're always curled up beside you during a Netflix binge or keeping your feet warm in bed every night. But, when your best snuggler starts being anti-social, it may be a sign that they need something more than a cuddle. "A dog acting anti-social may be an indication of a physical problem or discomfort that they are trying to hide," says Dr. DeLomba. A dog acting sensitive to petting or a gentle touch may signal underlying issues.

3. What's that smell? Doggie kisses are also the best, but not so much with bad doggie breath. If your dog has consistently bad breath despite special treats and regular teeth cleanings, they may have a tooth or gum issue. Likewise, if your dog is needing to "go" more often, or you start finding accidents in the house, it may be an indication of a urinary issue or problem. If Fido isn't finishing meals or is not that interested in treats, that's another sign of possible gastrointestinal distress or other internal issues that may not be obvious physically but may be detected with blood work.

Talk to your veterinarian if your dog is demonstrating any of the above behaviors. Depending on the circumstance, your dog may benefit from a simple change such as a new diet or supplement regime. For serious issues, you should always contact your veterinarian, who may need to prescribe medication.

If your dog isn't exactly a champ at swallowing pills when they need them to feel better, Dr. DeLomba recommends new VetriScience Pinchers(TM) pill-hiding treats with probiotics. Dogs love the organic peanut butter flavor and humans love that Pinchers are less greasy than similar products.

Our pets are with us for far too short a time. Watch for their signs of discomfort to keep them happy, healthy, and at your side for as long as possible. (BPT)
