Dinosaurs in Henniker

Henniker Community School kindergartners in Carrie Flaherty's class have been learning about dinosaurs during the month of February. A Velociraptor sits on Mason Howard's desk. Maevyn Buchanan is behind them.

In January The Messenger ran a salute to Area Highway Crews. With the proceeds of that section, Publisher Leigh Bosse (L) presented Hillsborough Highway Foreman Bill Goss (R) with Mediterraneo Gift Certificates for his crew.

Bill Goss honored

Recognized for 43 years of service as Highway Foreman

At the beginning of Tuesday night's Hillsborough Town Meeting the Moderator called Highway Department Foreman Bill Goss to the front to be recognized for his 43 years of dedicated service to the Town of Hillsborough. Goss has announced that he will be retiring this fall. Bill was given a rousing standing ovation on the return to his seat.

Once down to business, it took the small crowd less than an hour to complete the entire warrant. With little discussion and no debate voters approved:

$8,010,022.00 Operating Budget.

$730,470.00 Water Department Budget.

$868,769.00 Sewer Department Budget.

$510,000.00 to 11 Capital Reserves.

$250,000.00 for Road Improvements.

3-year contracts with Town Employees.

3-year contract with Police & Dispatch.

$10,600.00 for Software Upgrades.

$70,000.00 for LED Street Lights.

Hillsboro-Deering voters reject 5% contingency fund

H-D School District voters approved the $23,640,619 Operating Budget by a vote of 525-324. They also approved supplementing several Expendable Trust Funds as follows: $50,000 HVAC Expendable Trust, $50,000 Special Education Expendable Trust, $10,000 Technology Expendable Trust, $10,000 Paving Expendable Trust, $10,000 Roofs Expendable Trust. Two requested Warrant Articles were rejected by substantial margins. Article 5, seeking approval of the proposed $1,202,033 budget was soundly defeated by a vote of 325 Yes to 530 No; Article 11, asking voters to allow the District to retain funds up to 5% of the net assessment of taxable property was similarly rejected 309 Yes to 548 NO.

Jelly Belly Company Surprises Veteran Henniker Teacher

After reading the book Inspector Grub and the Jelly Bean Robber by Quentin Flynn with her students, Henniker Community School reading teacher Anne Morrisette wanted them to practice letter writing. With visions of jelly beans on their minds, she selected the Jelly Belly Candy Company for them to write to.

"It's a fun way to practice writing skills and I've done it countless times, but this time was different. This time, each student received a letter back from the Jelly Belly Company," said Mrs. Morrisette. "And not just some form letter, but a personalized letter signed by 'Mr. Jelly Belly, Originator of the Bean.'" The return letters answered student questions, like how they selected the colors to make their jelly beans.

The Jelly Belly Company even took note of a flavor suggestion of one of her students. A student wrote inquiring as to why they didn't have an orange-pineapple-flavored jelly bean. The company responded by writing that they thought that flavor sounded great.

"This is the first time I've ever had this happen," said Mrs. Morrisette. "Every once in a while, I'd get back one form-like letter response, but never individual ones addressing specific questions to individual students." True Confessions Candy shop in Concord also helped add to the excitement. When Mrs. Morrisette was figuring out how and when to give the students their letters from the Jelly Belly Company, she knew they would be expecting a few jelly beans. "So, I stopped in at True Confessions to pick some up. When they heard the story of why I was buying them, they donated a few packets of Jelly Belly jelly beans to the cause," said Mrs. Morrisette. "I've been teaching a long time and it has been thrilling to see the generosity and sense of fun these companies have shown my students," she concluded.

It should be noted that this year Mrs. Morrisette celebrated her 20th year of teaching.

Hopkinton Town Report is dedicated to Derek Owen

Hopkinton native Derek Owen, 88, died on October 2, 2020. Derek was very active in local government and NH politics. For over 30 years, Derek served on the Conservation Commission. Derek also served 20 years in the NH House representing Hopkinton. He is also remembered for his signature

"Farm Here to Eternity" hat. Hopkinton is the town it is because of the volunteer citizens that have given their time and talent in the past and it continues today. Derek was an excellent example of this. Throughout the town

Warner Historical Society program on the town's Indigenous History

Lynn Clark of the Warner Historical Society and Sherry Gould, Warner resident and member of the Nulhegan Band of the Coosuk Abenaki Nation, will speak about the Indigenous history of the Warner area from creation to the present day. Many people have seen the stone tools used by the area's Native inhabitants thousands of years ago. Many may have heard stories about conflict between early settlers and Abenaki inhabitants of this land. Fewer are aware that Abenaki people lived here and continue to live here in the centuries since.

Join us to learn more about the continuing Abenaki presence here and many other aspects of Indigenous history in the area. We'll open up the conversation to answer your questions and hear your stories.

Our conversation will take place online Wednesday, March 31 at 7pm. Register online: <https://bit.ly/3sOBROD>

Isabell Blanchard & her daughter Sherry Gould demonstrating Abenaki basket making.

This program is part of an ongoing series of conversations facilitated by the Warner Historical Society. We'll use Zoom for now, but we look forward to meeting face to face later in the year.

The Warner Historical Society formed over 50 years ago to preserve, educate about and keep alive Warner's heritage. The Society has yearly exhibits, and programs in the Upton Chandler House Museum on Main Street and maintains the Lower Warner Meeting House which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Emmitt Button with the rekenrek counting device he built from scratch.

Young Weare boy shows the power of giving

Emmitt Button, a Learn at Home student in Mr. Ward's kindergarten at Center Woods Elementary, went above and beyond for his project for the 100th day of school in February. The directions for the lesson were to incorporate 100 items in their project. Emmitt ran away with the project with a little help from his dad and mom. Emmitt's idea for his 100-day project was two-fold. First, he made a rekenrek (also known as an abacus) out of wood and plastic beads, while learning some woodworking skills with his dad. Emmitt then decided he'd like to do something more and asked his mom if they could buy 100 items at the store to donate to a food pantry. Off to the store they went and purchased 10 boxes of wheel pasta, 10 boxes of elbow pasta, 10 cans of tuna, 10 chicken ramen, 10 beef ramen, 10 cans of tomato soup, 10 cans of chicken soup, 10 cans of corn, 10 cans of peas, and 10 cans of baked beans. He then packed them up and off he went with his mom to deliver the 100 items to the Friends of Forgotten Children Food Pantry in Concord. "Giving food is a good thing," said Emmitt. "You can give them food and help them stay alive. That's choosing love."

SIMPLE ORAL HEALTH STEPS HELP IMPROVE ELITE ATHLETES' PERFORMANCE—PART III

Researchers designed a behavioral change program aimed at better educating elite athletes about oral health and providing some simple interventions to improve their daily oral health routines.

Improvements in sporting performance were measured using an Overuse Injury Questionnaire, developed to monitor illness and injury in elite athletes, adapted to focus on oral health, asking the extent to which the oral health problem affected 1) sports participation; 2) training volume; 3) sporting performance; and 4) the extent to which the individual has experienced oral pain.

As a result of the behavioral change program there was a statistically significant reduction in problems associated with oral health and sporting performance.

In addition, the number (proportion) of athletes who reported a 0 (zero) score, meaning they had no negative sporting impact from oral health conditions, increased from 32 (51.6%) at baseline to 54 (98.2%) at the end of the study.

Through previous research and focus group sessions, the study authors established that athletes' motivations for taking part in the study were both appearance and athletic performance, with many keen to avoid gum inflammation affecting other parts of their bodies, which can happen in serious cases. There are a number of reasons athletes are more likely to have poor oral health: physical activity causes a dry mouth, which in the long-term increases risk of tooth decay and gum diseases, along with frequent sugar intakes from normal diet and energy supplements.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

A new study published in the American Journal of Respiratory and Critical Care Medicine is the first to report evidence that nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) like aspirin may lessen the adverse effects of air pollution exposure on lung function. Researchers found that the use of any NSAID nearly halved the effect of PM on lung function, with the association consistent across all four weekly air pollution measurements from same-day to 28 days prior to the lung function test.

A recent analysis of published studies examined the clinical consequences of medication adherence. The British Journal of Clinical Pharmacology analysis found that medication adherence is linked with lower risks of needing to be hospitalized and of dying early. Individuals aged 50 years and older who were considered to have good medication adherence had a 17% lower risk of having a hospitalization due to any cause compared with those considered non-adherent. Good adherence was also associated with a 21% reduction in long-term mortality risk compared with medication non-adherence.

Nearly all premature babies receive antibiotics in their first weeks of life to ward off or treat potentially deadly bacterial infections. Such drugs are life-savers, but they also cause long-lasting collateral damage to the developing microbial communities in the babies' intestinal tracts, according to new research published in Nature Microbiology. A year and a half after babies leave the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU), the consequences of early antibiotic exposure remain, the study showed. Compared to healthy full-term babies in the study who had not received antibiotics, preemies' microbiomes contained more bacteria associated with disease, fewer species linked to good health, and more bacteria with the ability to withstand antibiotics.

In support of the petition, the parents attached the Center for Disease Control's policy. "It is critical for schools to open as safely and as soon as possible, and remain open, to achieve the benefits of in-person learning and key support services." gence within one year." The vote was 210 Yes, 316 No.

During Town Meeting, voters approved an article defining the "Public Benefit" required before granting a tax exemption and a petitioned article mandating the

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Thank you for Rep Leah Cushman. I am grateful to the communities of Weare and Deering for sending Rep Leah Cushman to the NH House. A couple of terms ago, I was a freshman representative on the Health, Human Services and Elderly Affairs committee. Consequently, I have paid attention to the newly elected members who sit on that committee.

I have been impressed with Rep Cushman's quick integration into the committee and have heard from senior members that she's been a bright source of insightful questions and has demonstrated a rare level of collegiality and cooperation given her freshman status.

I don't know her well, but I assume her training and experience as a Registered Nurse has given her both the knowledge that's useful to the committee's work and to the spirit of teamwork that makes her effective.

Rep Jess Edwards (R-Auburn, Chester, Sandown) Chair, Division III Finance

Weare rejects Town approves School budget

Weare voters sent a mixed message at Tuesday's voting. Town meeting voters defeated a proposed noise ordinance that would keep "potent explosion" target practice out of residential areas and also rejected the town operating budget, while school district voters not only approved a $16.5 million operating budget, 993-429, and a new collective bargaining agreement with teachers, providing raises between $900 and $1,400 per teacher.

Representing ConVal at the Division I Championships: Eva Calcutt, Camille Hendrixson, Gwen Tylis, Eme Tyler-Wall, Laura Phillips, Grace Phillips

ConVal competes at Meet of Champions

ConVal Nordic co-captain Eva Calcutt travelled to Proctor Academy in Andover, NH Tuesday afternoon to compete in this year's final NHIAA cross country skiing competition, coming in 22nd out of 38 women. The Meet of Champions allows the top skiers of each of the two state divisions to race against each other; competitors are invited on the basis of their results in the divisional championships held last week at Great Glen Trails. The format of the event was skate, with skiers completing three laps of a rolling 2.5 kilometer course through fields and woods. The race was made more challenging by the changing conditions, with soft snow firming up into an icy glaze as the late afternoon temperatures quickly dropped in the shade of the setting sun. ▶

Eva Calcutt has one more big competition ahead of her this season. Based on her overall rank falling within the top 30 girls in the U18 / U20 age group in the state, she was named to Team NH. Normally this team would compete in the Eastern High School Championships against similarly ranked teams from Maine, Vermont, and Massachusetts. Given Covid restrictions this year, teams in the different states are holding their own intra-state races. The NH Eastern High School competitions will be held at the Dublin Nordic Center this Saturday. Skiers will compete in two events, an individual start Classic 5k race followed by an Individual start Freestyle 1k Ski Cross Sprint. The latter involves not only sprinting but also features terrain obstacles the skiers must navigate.

NORDIC SKIING

Hopkinton 2nd: Lebanon wound up first at the girls' Division II Nordic Championships ahead of Hopkinton who had won D-IV titles in 2020 and 2019, and Kearsarge, which finished fifth on Thursday, had won five consecutive D-III titles (2016-20).

BOYS BASKETBALL

Hopkinton 47, Mascenic 37: Mascenic grabbed an early lead, but the Hawks answered with a run at the end of the first quarter and took a 19-11 lead after one. The Vikings closed the lead to five points in the third quarter, but a pair of 3-pointers gave the Hawks some cushion heading into the fourth. Hopkinton controlled the glass in the final frame to secure the win and a spot.

Kearsarge 60, Fall Mountain 54: Fall Mountain came out on fire from the perimeter with a barrage of made 3-pointers in the first and second quarter of Wednesday night's D-III playoff game and held a 34-31 lead at the half. Kearsarge locked down on defense in the second half to pull out the road win and advance to Saturday's quarterfinal against Mascoma.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Hillsboro-Deering 37, Mascenic 21: The HDHS Girls Varsity Basketball Team beat Mascenic 37-21 in the Preliminary Round. The Hillcats got a strong showing from Zoe Kemp (17 points) and Emily Howell (15 points), who accounted for 32 of H-D's 36 points. Lebanon 55, ConVal 43: The ConVal girls were shorthanded the entire season, and after three of them fouled out fighting to the end of the 55-43 Raider victory, ConVal played the final minute with only four players on the court.

BOYS HOCKEY

John Stark-Hopkinton 6, Monadnock-Fall Mountain 3: JSH took a 1-0 lead with a power play goal from Rivers in the first period of Wednesday night's D-III preliminary round tournament game, but Monadnock answered with two goals from Joslyn to take a 2-1 lead after one. The General Hawks went back on top in the second on goals from Arnold and Rivers, but Monadnock's Gay scored two minutes into the third to tie the score.

ConVal voters reject budget for first time in eight years

A recount may be requested after ConVal's proposed $52,583,177 operating budget failed by just four votes, 1,625 to 1,621. This puts the budget in a default situation. Ten registered voters are required to request a recount, School Board Chair Rich Cahoon announced Wednesday morning.

All other ConVal articles passed, including the collective bargaining agreement with the teacher's union, with nearly 60% in favor. Included in the budget were $780,000 to establish a long-term remote learning option for K-8 students, $425,000 in additional student mental, social, and emotional health supports, and $144,000 to further expand pre-kindergarten offerings.

Antrim, Dublin, Hancock Peterborough, and Sharon voted in favor of the budget. Meanwhile only 34 percent of Frances-town and Greenfield voters supported the budget, and it failed among Bennington, Frankestown, Greenfield and Temple voters.

Newcomer Dan Recupero was elected to the Weare School Board.

Goffstown institutes Restaurant Bingo game

The Goffstown Economic Development Council has encouraged everyone to take part in their new Restaurant Bingo program, hoping to provide some customers to area restaurants. After printing a bingo card and spending at least $10 at any participating restaurant, you will get a stamp on that bingo spot. Once a row is complete, bringing that card to Goffstown Town Hall will enter you for a chance to win a $25 gift certificate to a variety of local businesses. "The restaurants have been struggling during the pandemic," council director Joann Duffy said. "We're trying to think of a way to reach out and help the businesses get a little more customers into their doors." The town will award prizes to two bingo players a week through April 30 and you do not have to be a resident of Goffstown to participate. The program applies to both dine-in and take-out.

ConVal Board considers keeping K-8 remote

The ConVal officials are considering creating a remote learning program to accommodate families who want to continue it into the next school year. Superintendent Kimberly Rizzo Saunders is studying the idea of implementing a high-quality remote learning program that would focus on kindergarten through eighth grade starting next school year, a program which would cost $780,000 to institute. The program would need to be approved by the nine towns in the district to move forward. Residents in Peterborough will be voting on the budget. If approved, the program is designed to continue into next year, but the district will reevaluate before then.

Bennington says yes to the town-No to ConVal

A small group of Bennington voters approved the proposed $1,790,488 operating budget. Among other articles approved were: $32,000 for a cardiac monitor, for first responders; $25,000 to add to the Fire Truck capital reserve fund; $2,500 to add to the Rescue Vehicle capital reserve fund; $12,000 to add to the Police Cruiser capital reserve fund; $40,000 to add to the Highway Heavy Equipment capital reserve fund; $1,000 to add to the Mower capital reserve fund; and $25,000 to add to the Town Buildings expendable trust fund. Voters did reject the ConVal budget.
