Frederick Douglass' speech revisited

14 NH communities hold public reading on July 3

On July 3rd the Black Heritage Trail coordinated public readings of Frederick Douglass' 1852 speech, "What, to the slave, is the Fourth of July?" Fourteen NH communities participated, including; Hopkinton, Peterborough and Warner in The Messenger's readership area.

In the first part of his 5,000+ word speech Douglass praises what the founding fathers did for this country. It later develops into a condemnation of the attitude of American society towards slavery.

In it he says, "I do not despair of this country. There are forces in operation, which must inevitably work the downfall of slavery."

He closed by asking the assembled to join him in the words of William Lloyd Garrison:

*"God speed the year of jubilee
The wide world o'er!
When from their galling chains set free,
Th' oppress'd shall vilely bend the knee,
And wear the yoke of tyranny
Like brutes no more.
That year will come, and
freedom's reign,
To man his plundered rights again
Restore.
God speed the day when human blood
Shall cease to flow!
In every clime be understood,
The claims of human brotherhood,
And each return for evil, good,
Not blow for blow;
That day will come all feuds to end,
And change into a faithful friend
Each foe."*

Reciting the Declaration of Independence.

Antrim holds Independence Day Celebration

No one commemorates Independence Day celebrations better than Antrim. On Sunday, the Antrim Historical Society sponsored the town's annual July 4th celebration at the gazebo.

The Yankee Doodles String Band led the assembled in singing several patriotic songs. Boy Scout Troop #2 posted the colors and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

The highlight of the day, as always, was the traditional reading of the Declaration of Independence, after which the crowd lingered over coffee and pastries.

NH Housing Appeals Board rejects Francestown's appeal

It was another victory for Ron and Melissa Shattuck as the state's Housing Appeals Board upheld the state board's decision to overturn the town's denial of a four-lot subdivision and denied Francestown's motion for a rehearing.

The Francestown Planning Board rejected the Shattuck's subdivision application in January, claiming it didn't conform to the town's subdivision regulations, and was inconsistent with the intent and spirit of the town's zoning ordinance, which is meant to protect the view shed and maintain the rural character of the neighborhood. The Housing Board ruled that Francestown hadn't cited any objective zoning violations in their denial, and thus made an "unreasonable" rejection. The Board rejected that reasoning again in their July 1st order, saying; "A review of the Certified Record finds no factual underpinnings that suggests that the proposed, four-lot subdivision will "affect" the "rural character of the town." Francestown now has 30 days to decide whether to appeal to the NH Supreme Court.

Hillsboro Lions Club President Leigh Bosse (R) recently recognized Mary Morehouse Rogers (L) and husband Dave (absent) as the Club's 2020 Lions of the Year for their dedication to the club and the town.

Deadly crash on I-89 in Warner last Friday

New Hampshire State Police reported that a car went off the left side of the roadway, crashed into several trees and rolled over on I-89 North Friday evening. When troopers arrived, they found that the two people inside the car had been ejected. 21-year-old Kiran Darjee was found dead and 18-year-old Raj Darjee was seriously injured and transported to Concord Hospital. The left lane of I-89 was closed for several hours after the crash. The cause of the crash is still under investigation.

Francestown man charged in Greenfield crash

Bridge Street Recovery Center opened this week in Bennington

Bridge Street Recovery, Bennington's new transitional housing facility for those in recovery from addiction, opens its doors next week, according to its co-founders. The facility, at the long closed Highland Inn across from the Crotched Mountain ski resort, broke ground last fall at 608 Frances-town Road. The 40-bed residential care and transitional housing facility will provide both emergency and long-term care to New Hampshire residents recovering from addiction. The company also plans to open a 64-bed detox facility in Peterborough in 2022.

Bridge Street Recovery Center.

Bridge Street Recovery's transitional housing facility is designed for adults who are at least 30 days into sobriety and need help transitioning back into everyday life.

The facility will accept any form of insurance, including Medicaid. Clients have the option of attending treatment, such as substance-use counseling, at the facility six days a week, or if needed, full access to treatment staff of varying specialties, ranging from clinicians to peer-recovery workers. Clients will also receive job counseling and help finding permanent housing. Stays at Bridge Street Recovery can range from 30 days to six months, depending on the client's needs.

The Peterborough detox center will be for people who are just coming off substances, may be going into withdrawal and need a more intense form of treatment. The goal is to have clients start in Peterborough and then come to Bennington to continue their recovery process.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

In a recent study published in Current Biology, researchers from the University of California, Irvine School of Medicine reveal how subanesthetic ketamine, which is used for pain management and as an antidepressant in humans, is effective in treating adult amblyopia, a brain disorder commonly known as “lazy eye.” Subanesthetic ketamine, commonly used to treat depression and pain, evokes rapid and long-lasting antidepressant effects in human patients. There was evidence that ketamine may control how the nervous system makes structural changes in response to internal and external demands, a process called neural plasticity. But, how the drug worked remained elusive, until now.

There is no evidence that blood-pressure-lowering drugs increase the risk of cancer, according to the most extensive study conducted on the topic. The new research was presented at ESC Congress 2020. A potential link between blood pressure drugs and cancer has been debated for more than 40 years. The evidence for an increased or decreased risk of cancer with the use of antihypertensive medication has been inconsistent and conflicting.

Use of statins before or after a diagnosis of colorectal cancer was linked with a lower risk of premature death, both from cancer and from other causes, in a Cancer Medicine analysis of published studies. The meta-analysis included 14 studies involving 130,994 patients with colorectal cancer. Pre-diagnosis statin use was linked with a 15 percent lower risk of dying early from any cause and an 18 percent lower risk of dying from cancer. Post-diagnosis statin use was linked with a 14 percent lower risk of all-cause death and a 21 percent lower risk of cancer-specific death.

BACTERIA RESPONSIBLE FOR GUM DISEASE FACILITATES DEVELOPMENT AND PROGRESSION OF RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

Does gum disease indicate future joint problems? Although researchers and clinicians have long known about an association between two prevalent chronic inflammatory diseases—periodontal disease and rheumatoid arthritis (RA)—the microbiological mechanisms have remained unclear.

A new article reports that scientists have uncovered how the bacterium responsible for periodontal disease, Porphyromonas gingivalis, worsens RA by leading to earlier onset, faster progression and greater severity of the disease, including increased bone and cartilage destruction.

The scientists found that P. gingivalis produces a unique enzyme, peptidylarginine deiminase (PAD), which then enhances collagen-induced arthritis (CIA), a form of arthritis similar to RA produced in the lab. PAD changes residues of certain proteins into citrulline, and the body recognizes citrullinated proteins as intruders, leading to an immune attack. In RA patients, the subsequent result is chronic inflammation responsible for bone and cartilage destruction within the joints.

Studies indicate that compared to the general population, people with periodontal disease have an increased prevalence of RA and, periodontal disease is at least two times more prevalent in RA patients. Other research has shown that a P. gingivalis infection in the mouth will precede RA, and the bacterium is the likely culprit for onset and continuation of the autoimmune inflammatory responses that occur in the disease.

Antrim asked to consider honoring Pratt

Steve Ullman asked the Antrim Select Board for guidance on a plaque inscription to honor Ben Pratt, who passed away last month, for all his knowledge and help with the Gregg Lake Dam over many years. He also asked that Gregg Lake Beach be renamed in honor of Steve Sawyer who passed away a few years ago. There was discussion regarding Mr. Sawyer’s worldly accomplishments and while prestigious, there is no direct correlation to Antrim while Mr. Pratt’s accomplishments directly related to the Town. Mr. Ullman will do more research and will also talk to the Historic Committee. Mr. Edwards does not feel we should change the name of something that was already dedicated in the past.

Warner Select Board approves purchase of 1996 John Deere tractor

Road Agent Tim Allen met with the Select Board, during a Public Hearing, to request permission to purchase a 1996 John Deere 4-wheel drive mowing tractor with a 25' Boom Mower.

He was given a price of $34,000 but suggests offering $29,000-$30,000.

The alternative is to rent a mower at $13,000 - $16,000 per month with no guarantee the work could be completed in one month. Allen has $215,311 remaining in the Capital Reserve Account, with $191,000 committed for a new truck which will be delivered soon. The $24,311 balance will be supplemented by the $125,000 appropriated at Town Meeting.

Resident Alfred Hamond was adamantly opposed to the purchase, saying it depletes the Capital Reserve Account for equipment that will be used only 6 weeks per year.

In the end, the Board authorized Allen to negotiate the purchase up to $34,000.

Chairman Clyde Carson (l) swore-in and congratulated Christine Frost (r) as the newest member of Warner's Select Board.

Ed Mical presented the Board with the 2021 Emergency Operations Plan and the Board approved 2-0-1.

Town Administrator Diane Ricciardelli presented the Board with three alternatives to resume ZOOM meetings. The most economical was to purchase the equipment outright for $2,700. The Board is expected to approve the purchase at its next meeting.

Publisher's Perspective

Because we were not born Black - we'll never really know what it was like

Since George Floyd's death, Americans have been engaged in renewed efforts to improve race relations in this country. Peaceful protests and increased dialogue is to be encouraged as a means of bridging the gap. Looting and rioting only fosters stereotypes and divides us even more.

As does the new proposal to teach Critical Race Theory, which is a form of racism of its own and is ripping us apart.

I reject the idea that all white people are inherently racist, but whites need to remember that it was in our lifetimes that Medgar Evers and Martin Luther King were shot, Rosa Parks sat up front, and that segregated schools and "Colored" bathrooms were the norm.

Although we are not racist we must realize that our perspectives have been limited by our experiences and upbringing. In essence, if you were not born Black, you can't know what that was like.

I was fortunate to have my knowledge of stereotypes dashed early on. In 1966, having graduated from Hillsboro-Deering High School, I attended a pre enrollment camp put on for incoming freshmen at UNH.

Each day several of us would gather at the basketball court for a pickup game. One day it was my turn to be a captain and pick a team. In the group was a 6'2" athletic looking black man. Knowing that all black are great athletes, I picked him first.

Unfortunately this guy could hardly walk straight let alone play basketball.

In that one moment I realized that stereotypes blind us; that if a black person lacked athletic skills he or she could easily become a doctor, lawyer, teacher or brain surgeon. I learned that color has no advantage or disadvantage.

America's strength comes from our diversity - Let's celebrate it.

On July 17th, one day only, Edmunds will be promoting a $10 propane refill for 20# tanks only from 10am to 2pm. Rick is shown filling a 20# propane tank.

Miller Amusements and some of the other vendors have begun to arrive for the kick-off of Hillsborough's SummerFest. See the schedule on page 2.

Superintendent Winfried Feneberg is pleased to announce that Christopher Geraghty has been selected to serve as the new assistant principal of Kearsarge Regional High School.

Assistant Principal Geraghty began his new role on Thursday, July 1.

Since 2005, he has served as a social studies teacher and department chair at Kearsarge Regional High School. "With 16 years of experience with the Kearsarge Regional School District under his belt, I am confident that Christopher will excel in this new role," said Superintendent Feneberg. "He is a knowledgeable, skilled educator and school professional who has demonstrated a dedication to helping our students continue to learn, grow and thrive."

During his time at Kearsarge, Assistant Principal Geraghty has been involved in developing curriculum with a focus on the competency based education model, including inquiry and STEAM education courses.

Additionally, he has worked as a guest lecturer at New England College where he taught courses on inquiry and STEAM based education.

Henniker Summer Concert Series features Tattoo: From Street to Soul

Tuesday, July 13, the Henniker Summer Concert Series continues by bringing back another one of last year's favorite bands -- Tattoo, a 5-piece group of acoustic guitar, trombone, sax/flute, stand-up bass, keyboard/accordion, drums and vocals. The band plays American roots music, including tunes by seminal performers like: Ray Charles, Hank Williams, Patsy Cline, the Beatles, Van Morrison, Louis Armstrong, Fats Domino, Elvis Presley, Bob Dylan, Buddy Holly and the Supremes. Their sets have a heavy mix of jazz, Motown, New Orleans Mardi Gras and Cajun music as well as some originals. All their music has a strong connection to American musical traditions. They choose songs from this vast reservoir and play them in their own inimitable, irresistible acoustic-jam-band-style, while you dance, or just sit back and listen.

Tattoo is a long-surviving, well-traveled band which began doing street performances, playing to crowds on Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco and at the U.C. Berkeley campus in the late 1970's. Traversing the country, the performers worked their way to Oregon in the 1980's opening for the Grateful Dead. From there they moved further north and gigged in towns throughout Southeast Alaska.

There is no provision for moving indoors this summer.

Tattoo to perform at Henniker Summer Concert Series on July 13.
