Hopkinton mandates school masks

Superintendent told to adopt Universal mask mandate

The majority of Tuesday's Hopkinton School Board meeting was devoted to the opening of school and specifically to the wearing of masks. Both the School Board and the Superintendent stated that the number one priority was to keep the schools open for 180 days this year and recognized that the COVID situation is a fluid one that can change with time.

It was noted that the Board had received nearly 70 emails, with about 95% in favor of both students and staff at all three schools being required to wear masks at all times while indoors. Superintendent Flynn presented a slide showing two options: a Modified mask program and Universal mask program. Under the modified plan masks at the Middle-High School would be optional, as would employees at all schools, and students would have masks required at the Harold Martin and Maple Street Schools. Under the Universal mask program masks would be required at all three schools for everyone while indoors. Under both programs masks are required for everyone while on busses as that is a Federal mandate.

There was much discussion for both the pros and cons of wearing masks, with people citing various resources, each "side" passionately citing their reasons. In the end, after School Board discussion it was decided to charge the Superintendent with providing a safe learning environment for all students and the best way to do that is to have a Universal mask mandate.

Masks mandated at Monadnock Community Hospital

Monadnock Community Hospital has mandated that all its employees receive COVID-19 vaccinations, the hospital announced last week. 100% of hospital physicians have received the COVID-19 vaccine, with about 80% of the remaining staff vaccinated. MCH serves towns with vaccination rates below the state's average.

Don Melander, a retired Senior Professor of Humanities at New England College, leads a poetry discussion for LINEC (Learning Institute of New England College) participants at the Henniker gravesite of poet and columnist Joel Oppenheimer. Oppenheimer taught at New England College from 1982 to 1988, when he died of cancer. During that time, he developed a friendship with Melander, who led this summer's study of Oppenheimer's work during a LINEC poetry class, which concluded this month. An online fall session, open to any adults interested in the many topics LINEC offers, will be announced at the end of August at www.linec.org.

Greenfield man injured in Hopkinton crash

Nicolaos Tzouratzis, 56, of Greenfield was hospitalized when his trailbike overturned on the Boundtree ATV Club's trail in Hopkinton last Sunday. A passerby found Tzouratzis and brought him to the Pine Street trailhead in Hopkinton, where emergency crews transported him to Concord Hospital with serious, but not life-threatening, injuries. Fish and Game officials report that drugs and alcohol were not factors in the crash.

Drawdown of Highland Lake begins on 9/7

The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services Dam Bureau announced that starting on September 7, the process of lowering Highland Lake in Stoddard and Washington by 1 foot will begin, although the lowering of Highland Lake to the winter drawdown level of 3 feet will continue on October 11. Depending on weather, the drawdown will likely take 2 weeks to a month.

Masks required in Warner Town Buildings

On August 3, 2021, the Warner Select Board voted to require masks in Town buildings. Town Hall is open for walk-in business. All meetings are in person. Maintain social distancing. Audience chairs will be 6 feet apart. After the meeting, groups should clean their tables using Clorox wipes which will be available.

Annual Retired Guard Luncheon Sept. 23

The New Hampshire Army National Guard (NHARNG) Annual Retiree Luncheon date has been set for Thursday, September 23rd, at the Joint Force Headquarters building on the State Military Reservation in Concord. The luncheon fee is $8.00 at the door. If you are an NHARNG retiree and plan to attend the luncheon you should RSVP no later than Sept. 13th.

Rochelle Kelley arrested - Obstruction & Resisting Arrest

Rochelle Kelley, 33, a member of the Weare School Board was arrested and charged with obstructing government administration and resisting arrest, following a traffic stop and altercation with police officers.

Kelley was the passenger in a car driven by her husband, Samuel Kelley, on July 25 when Weare Police stopped them for having an expired inspection sticker and state registration. Samuel Kelley was issued two citations for expired inspection and registration and the car was ultimately towed.

According to Weare Police Chief Christopher Moore, Kelley prevented officers from conducting an inventory of the items in the car and did not cooperate when she was told she was being placed under arrest. In video footage taken by her husband and later posted to the internet, Rochelle can be seen uttering a string of profanities, including a homophobic slur, directed at two police officers. Kelley will be arraigned at Goffstown District Court on Aug. 26th. On Wednesday, however, she was acquitted in Concord District Court on charges of criminal mischief and disorderly conduct after police said she defied orders to leave the playground at Rollins Park in Concord, which was closed at the time due to precautions over COVID-19. A total of 5,308 people have signed a petition calling for her removal from the Weare School Board.

"Let go of me, you piece of sh*t!" she could be heard screaming at the top of her lungs. "F*ck you, you f*ggot!" Then she told him to "eat sh*t, you c*ck-sucking d*ck" before threatening to "sue the sh*t out of you!"

Warner's Select Board discusses Firefighter Museum

After a Site Visit to the Fire Station, the Warner Select Board discussed the Firefighters Association's request to build a Museum at the West Main St. Fire Station. Christine Frost and Clyde Carson visited to consider a 20 x 30 ft building. The Association is looking for permission to build on Town property; they would then go to the Planning Board.

Since the meeting, Carson received information that there was a concern for putting a structure behind the Fire Station, and that is: it would require an ADA compliant bathroom. As a result of this new information, the Firefighters Association is looking at other locations, including the old-old fire station on Kearsarge Mountain Road.

Anthony Mento noted that there are considerations to be addressed for parking and drainage. There are other properties in Town that could be considered, on Kearsarge Mountain Road, and other places, that would be easier to build on with available water/sewer. No decision was made.

We are offering paraeducators a $500 bonus

The Weare School District has announced it will provide a $500 incentive for new paraeducators. Weare District Schools include Center Woods Elementary, Center Woods Upper Elementary, and Weare Middle School. "Paraeducators are vital to our schools and necessary to meet student educational needs," said SAU 24 Superintendent Jacqueline Coe. "The lack of paras for our schools in Weare is at a critical point, exacerbated by the current labor shortage. The Weare School Board recognized the need to get creative to fill these important positions," concluded Superintendent Coe. The Weare District is also providing an incentive for returning paraeducators to show appreciation for the ongoing work of the more veteran staff members. For more details about the incentives and to apply, please visit www.SAU24.org

Sign-up now for BNSYS recreational soccer

BNSYS recreational soccer registration for Pre-K through 6th grade is now open. You can access by going to www.bnsyouthsports.org. Full program descriptions and start dates are located on the registration page. Late fees will be added after August 15th. Please register early as space is limited in some programs. Additionally, we need to communicate our number of teams to the league for scheduling purposes. A $10 late fee will be added to all registrations completed after 8/14. League start dates, game schedules and practice days and times are TBD. As soon as we have more information, we will pass that along. Registration forms contain what days/nights were used in years past and a guide but are subject to change. We understand that schedules may affect your ability to participate so, if you sign up and new information comes out which changes your status, please let our soccer director know and we will issue you a refund.

Bradford Select Board issues Cease & Desist order for unauthorized business

Chair Andrew Pinard opened Monday's Bradford Select Board meeting by applauding the efforts of Highway Foreman Steve Hall and his crew for their dedicated efforts battling the major flooding damage throughout town. Later in the meeting, Hall estimated it could cost upwards of $50,000 to repair the damage.

Two nuisance complaints dominated the rest of the meeting. Michael Malecha presented the Board with continuing complaints about his neighbors at 340 Fairground Road. He complained that even after the town spent $8,000 to clean up the property they continue to operate a junkyard and auto repair business, with several unregistered vehicles, whose inventory is constantly changing. The Board ordered the Code Enforcement Officer to determine if either a junkyard or auto repair business is being carried on. If so, the Board will issue a Cease & Desist

Order. Rich and Cathie Mozzetta of Cressy Road appeared to complain that their neighbor was operating a saw mill causing excessive noise and sawdust to inflict their property. Rick also reported that his neighbors had dumped a large sawdust pile next to the Mozzetta's dug well.

Planning Board Chair Pam Bruss

added that the owners had come to the Planning Board in 2019 and were told they do not qualify as a home based business, and told to file for Site Plan review, which they have not done. The Board ordered an immediate Cease & Desist until they apply for and are granted status as a Home Based Business.

Two lost hikers rescued off Mt. Monadnock

Dustin Molkentine, 28, and Gabriela Goulart, 27, both of Merrimack, were safely escorted off North Pack Monadnock in Greenfield Sunday night, after the pair got lost after hiking to the top. NH Fish & Game reports that Goulart had called 911, but her cell battery was too low to complete the call. Dispatchers, however, did manage to get GPS coordinates and search teams from Greenfield and Lyndeborough found the two hikers around 11:45 p.m., and returned to the trailhead at about 1 a.m.

H-D athletes require a current physical

The Hillsboro Deering School District is looking forward to the start of the fall sports season. The new regulations for sports require athletes to have a physical that was dated within the past calendar year. The Hillsboro Deering School District has collaborated with Concord Hospital Residency Program and will be offering free sports physicals to Hillsboro-Deering student athletes. This clinic will be held on Monday August 16 from 5:30-7:30 at the High School. Parents should plan to attend with their athlete to sign necessary forms. The clinic is open to the first 30 participants who sign up. Interested participants should sign up using the link on www.hdsd.org. If you should have any difficulty signing up or have any questions please email hlabier@hdsd.org.

Flooding destroys Bradford Food Pantry

The Bradford Food Pantry had been located in the basement of an adjacent building to the Bradford Community Church. The recent rain caused the nearby river to rise, (because of an obstruction in the drain pipe) and enter the basement. This flooding destroyed the collected food items and they had to be thrown out. The food pantry is now located on the first floor in a room that normally houses Sunday School. Food donations are needed. The pantry is open on the third Wednesday of the month for pick-up. It is OK to come and drop off items by the door. There is a shopping cart where donations may be left. Money is also accepted.

Warner's MadgeTech is expanding while celebrating its 25th anniversary

MadgeTech, a global leader in data logging technology, celebrates another key milestone, 25 years in business. A journey that started as a one-man operation based on curiosity, has since evolved into a thriving company in the same town where it all began.

Based in Warner, New Hampshire, MadgeTech takes pride in maintaining its entire production process under one roof by its 80 employees from across New England. Throughout its years of innovative growth, MadgeTech continues to expand with more than 100 distributors worldwide and construction near complete on a 14,000 square foot addition.

As MadgeTech evolves, they are expanding capabilities by bringing more jobs on-site rather than outsourcing. By shifting the manufacturing of surface mount technology (SMT) and probes, MadgeTech is taking control over quality, reinforcing its commitment to provide the highest-quality data loggers on the market.

MadgeTech President Norm Carlson stands in front of the new addition currently under construction.

With sights on the future, MadgeTech is celebrating its 25th anniversary with the addition of a new on-site service. MadgeTech now offers Mapping and Validation services, aiding in compliance with Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP), creating and executing a validation plan based on specific needs and industry requirements.

Welcome & Farewell

Welcome to Iris Campbell, the newest member of the Hillsborough Select Board, who, along with Meleny Nagy, was named to fill the seats vacated by the resignations of David Rogers and J.P. Stohrer. As a long-time Secretary to the Board, Iris brings a fresh perspective to town government from an employee's point of view.

On the other hand, we must reluctantly say good bye to long-time Highway Department Foreman Bill Goss, who is retiring after 41 years of service to the town. This soft-spoken, gentle giant and his highway crew run so efficiently that they are hardly noticed. However, those my age can remember the disastrous way the highway department was run BG (before Goss). Our roads were in terrible shape, expensive equipment was not properly maintained and crews were often late plowing roads after winter storms. Since Bill took over, those problems have disappeared, to the extent that we take his department for granted.

Some day Tom Brady will retire, leaving big shoes to fill. Likewise, Bill Goss leaves some size 13's for someone to fill. Thank you Bill for all you have done. Enjoy your well-deserved retirement.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Our veterans give up much during their enlistments: higher pay and advancements in the private sector, family time, and freedom to come and go at will. Some lose limbs, eyesight, or hearing. Some experience mental and physical trauma. Yet most discharged vets consistently value service to a greater good.

In support of returning veterans, the GI Bill provides education funding and affordable mortgages. But Vietnam era vets quickly discovered that in many parts of the country the Veterans Administration health care network was sub-standard, plagued with problems. Together with allies in Congress and the general public, they began a campaign to evaluate and upgrade VA hospitals. Pressure from constituents at town hall sessions turned the sometimes clichéd "Thank you for your service" into an action slogan as veterans' health care became a priority. The U. S. Department of Veterans Affairs has become an efficient, highly organized health network meeting diverse medical needs, including hearing and eye care, and mental health services. Today, the New England area system is a model for medical treatment. New Hampshire vets have access to care in Manchester and White River Junction, Vermont, and as needed, to topnotch doctors and quality specialized treatment at Boston VA hospitals. For veterans who don't drive for medical reasons, there is help with transportation to appointments.

Whenever a need is discovered in the course of a doctor visit, referrals for preventive treatments are scheduled. If that need can't be met within the VA system, there are referrals to local providers. That is infrequent, as the VA employs many skilled and caring doctors, nurses and support staff.

I often wonder what good my tax dollars do. I don't want to finance a bridge to nowhere. As an observer of the Veterans Administration system, I believe taxes I pay for veterans' health care are well invested. I am blessed with an excellent primary care doctor who takes time to address my medical needs, but even he cannot match the proactive, thorough treatment veterans receive. As our country looks ahead to future health care options, we would do well to study the VA model. In the meantime, any and all public support for our veterans' health is imperative and important. We owe them that service.

Take one of these wonderful, loving pets home with you. They need a forever home!

OLLIE

4.5 yr old, NM, Pitbull terrier mix. Ollie is a super sweet boy. He came to MHS after his parents had a change in lifestyle. He is a young, active boy, who needs a home with the ability to give him proper outlets for his energy, as well as continue to work on his basic training needs. Ollie does very well with his house training, and is good in a crate. He would like to find a home that is not super chaotic.

JU JU

Domestic Short Hair-7 years-Spayed Female Juju is a very shy girl who's looking for a calm and secure home where she can have a safe place to curl up. She would be happiest in an adult-only home where she can go at her own pace. Her new family should be aware that it will take her time, lots of patience and love to adjust to her new environment. Once comfortable she will show you how playful she can be and that she enjoys gentle petting.

RUBY

Ruby and Delilah - 1 yr old, female rats. Ruby is the more social girl of the pair. Both are friendly but it takes a little coaxing and slow calm movements to bring Delilah around. They enjoy shoulder rides and snuggling in sweatshirt hoods. They are for the most part gentle but do get a bit excited when they see the good treats come out and from time to time forget their manners. A great pair of rats that will make any rat lover very lucky to own.

TAYLOR your VIRTUAL ASSISTANT

A Remote Support Services Company

Engineers estimate $223,500/yr to maintain New London stormwater system

Margaret Blank from Underwood Engineering and Katie Zink from the NH Department of Environmental Services recently met with the New London Select Board to update the town's Stormwater Asset Management Program. The program is designed to determine:

- * What stormwater assets the town owns.
- * What condition the system is in.
- * What the cost is of maintaining the system.

Currently the town has 331 catch basins and drainage manholes, and 35,400 linear feet of stormwater pipe with a replacement cost of $16.9 million.

Of the 331 catch basins, 35 were deemed inaccessible, 27 had severe structural defects, 20 had minor defects and 249 were without defects.

Replacement costs were estimated at $2,846,312 through 2030, or about $223,500 per year.

New Francestown Police Chief

Former Francestown Police Chief Fred Douglas has been named to replace Chief Michael Dowd who resigned at the beginning of August, citing "Family matters that necessitate a move to New Jersey." Douglas served as the town's Police Chief from 2015 to 2018. He will serve part-time as Chief until he can secure a new part-time Chief, one full-time officer, and enough part-time officers to provide the desired level of coverage.

Margaret Blank briefs the New London Select Board.

RESEARCHERS FIND ASSOCIATION BETWEEN ORAL BACTERIA AND ESOPHAGEAL CANCER

In a new study, researchers have found a bacterial species responsible for gum disease is present in 61 percent of patients with esophageal squamous cell carcinoma (ESCC).

The esophagus, a muscular tube critical to the movement of food from the mouth to the stomach, is lined with two main kinds of cells, thus there are two main types of esophageal cancer: adenocarcinoma and squamous cell carcinoma. The researchers found the presence of P. gingivalis correlated with other factors, including cancer cell differentiation, metastasis and overall survival rate.

There are two likely explanations: either ESCC cells are a preferred niche for P. gingivalis to thrive or the infection of P. gingivalis facilitates the development of esophageal cancer.

If the former is true, simple antibiotics may prove useful or researchers can develop other therapeutic approaches for esophageal cancer utilizing genetic technology to target the P. gingivalis and ultimately destroy the cancer cells.

Should P. gingivalis prove to cause ESCC, the implications are enormous, as it would suggest that improving oral hygiene may reduce ESCC risk; screening for P. gingivalis in dental plaque may identify susceptible subjects; and using antibiotics or other anti-bacterial strategies may prevent ESCC progression.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, about 15,000 people in the United States are diagnosed with esophageal cancer each year. As with most cancers, there are a number of risk factors including chemical exposure, diet, heredity and age. It is somewhat difficult to diagnosis this cancer early, and it is characterized by rapid progression and high mortality.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

A new study adds to a body of evidence suggesting that the solution to diagnosing Sarecycline, a drug approved for use in the United States in 2018, is the first new antibiotic approved to treat acne in more than 40 years. Now, researchers at Yale and the University of Illinois-Chicago have discovered how its unique chemical structure makes it effective. Their new study is the most detailed biological analysis to date for sarecycline, one of a number of tetracycline antibiotics (such as doxycycline and minocycline) used to treat acne. The researchers reported their findings in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Opioid use among women trying to conceive may be associated with a lower chance of pregnancy, suggests a National Institutes of Health study. Moreover, opioid use in early pregnancy may be associated with a greater chance of pregnancy loss. The study appears in Epidemiology.

Nearly three-quarters of older adults with dementia have filled prescriptions for medicines that act on their brain and nervous system, but aren't designed for dementia, a new study shows. That's despite the special risks that such drugs carry for older adults—and the lack of evidence that they actually ease the dementia-related behavior problems that often prompt a doctor's prescription in patients with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders. In fact, some of the drugs have been linked to worse cognitive symptoms in older adults. In all, 73.5% of the study's community-based population filled at least one prescription for an antidepressant, opioid painkiller, epilepsy drug, anxiety medication or antipsychotic drug in a one-year period, according to Medicare prescription records. The study is published in the journal JAMA.

Construction to begin on 74 unit Goffstown apartment complex

Work is scheduled to begin this month on a Goffstown low-income apartment complex, which was approved more than 10 years ago. Woodland Village will be built on a vacant 37-acre lot on Mountain and Bog roads. The first phase of the 74 unit complex will include 42 units, five with one bedroom and 37 with two bedrooms, within seven buildings including a clubhouse and playground, which will take a year to complete.

Jim Menihane, director of multi-family business development at New Hampshire Housing said, "These 74 new units will provide much-needed homes for our state's workforce, especially given the very low inventory of apartments in New Hampshire's rental housing market." A quarter of the units will rent at market rates, while the remaining units will be set aside for people at various income levels and rented out at a reduced rate.

Bradford Fire Chief to resign

During Monday's Bradford Select

Board meeting, Board Chair Andrew Pinard announced that Fire Chief Jeff Leblanc has submitted his letter of resignation, effective on September 21st.

Goffstown will soon have 74 new apartments.
