Area schools mask policies vary

Hillsboro-Deering, ConVal & Weare Boards differ

The Hillsboro-Deering School Board reviewed the updated CDC and DHHS Guidelines for K-12 Schools and Decision Matrix which recommended a strict mask policy. Chair Herla Iadonisi moved to approve the decision matrix as presented. No second was given, so the motion failed.

After additional discussion on the matrix that was presented, the consensus was that none of the other mitigation methods are controversial, it's just the masks. Member Chris Bober then moved to approve the matrix with the change of the "Substantial" category to have mask wearing be "recommended" indoors, which passed on a vote of 3-1-1, with Iadonisi opposed, and Morris abstained. A motion to approve the Updated 2021-22 School Pandemic Response Plan as presented passed 3-0-2 with Welch and Morris abstaining.

The ConVal School Board voted to require all schools to begin the school year with masks required indoors as part of the district's "green phase" of its reopening plan. Once a community school has verified that 80 percent of students and staff have been vaccinated against COVID-19, Superintendent Kimberly Rizzo Saunders said that any indoor mask requirement in place at the time would end.

Elementary and middle school students in the Weare schools will not be required to wear masks when they return to school, but Henniker, Stoddard and John Stark, the other districts in the SAU, will begin the school year with universal masking.

6-year-old Contoocook girl dies in car crash

A 6-year-old girl was killed in a head-on collision along the Warner-Webster town line last Thursday. A car driven by Janice Bergeron, 77, from Contoocook was heading west on Dustin Road with the child in the back seat, when she veered into oncoming traffic. That car swerved and struck a pickup truck driven by Cameron Tillman, 21, of Penacook. The child, whose name was not released, was pronounced dead at the scene. The drivers were transported to the hospital and are expected to recover. The cause of the crash remains under investigation.

No injuries reported in Antrim accident

No serious injuries were reported in a two-vehicle crash in downtown Antrim last Monday. Police reports indicated that a Toyota Avalon driven by Jeremy Koutoubas, 23, of Antrim was taking a left from Summer Street onto Main Street when it collided with a pickup truck driven by Elkanah Kerimu, 52, of Greenfield, which was headed south on Main Street. Neither operator was injured, but Kerimu's 20-year-old passenger was evaluated for leg pain but refused further treatment.

Only minor injuries in Interstate-89 rollover

State police reported that Interstate 89 south in Hopkinton was temporarily closed Sunday morning because of a crash. The driver of a Toyota Rav4 hit a guard rail then rolled over and it caught on fire. The highway was closed until firefighters could put out the fire and remove the car. The driver was able to get out of the car and escaped with only minor injuries. Authorities say the cause of the crash was because of driver fatigue.

Concord-Lake Sunapee Rail Trail 5K Run

The Friends of the Concord-Lake Sunapee Rail Trail are hosting the first on trail event to raise money for maintenance of the rail trail. This will be a 5K run/walk taking place at Houston Fields, 41 Houston Drive in Contoocook, NH. The date is Thursday August 26th. The start is at 6:00 PM. <https://runsignup.com/Race/NH/Contoocook/CLSRTFlatFurious5K> As a 501c3 organization they ask donors for funding to build the trail, but their strategy calls for events held on the trail to pay for maintenance. T-shirts will be provided to event participants.

The Hopkinton Public Schools Foundation’s grant was given to turn this space into an outdoor learning classroom at Harold Martin School. Plans include a small retaining wall, fencing around the entire space, a deck, a concrete walkway, and a garden area.

Hopkinton Public Schools Foundation donates $10,995

The biweekly meeting of the Hopkinton School Board began with a public hearing to accept over $360,000 in ESSER II and ESSER III funds. They had previously used ESSER I funds to support outdoor classrooms and lunch with picnic tables, umbrellas and tents, to buy air purifiers, and to buy additional tables, desks and chairs for the Maple Street school. ESSER II and ESSER III funds could be used to pay for an additional fourth grade teacher in order to give students more space, more wellness classes, and more specialists for math and reading. While there was some public discussion, the Board did approve to accept the funds.

Anne Wells of the Hopkinton Public Schools Foundation asked the Board to accept a check for $10,995 to go toward a pre-K outdoor classroom near the pre-K drop off area. The site is currently unused and could provide an area where children could experience a variety of sensory learning opportunities, including an art and music wall and a sensory garden. There would also be a wheelchair path. The Board gratefully accepted the donation and it was noted that the Foundation had previously supported all three libraries among others.

Meet & Greet “River Dave” Lidstone in Warner this Saturday

Friends of “River Dave” Lidstone have scheduled a meet and greet in Warner for their hermit-hero this Saturday, an event complete with flatbread pizza and live music.

The event is slated for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 1 Melvin Mill Road in Warner on land owned by River Dave’s friend Tom Dunne. The event is free and open to the public, and features T-shirts and stickers available for purchase.

In July, a Merrimack County Superior Court Judge jailed Lidstone in the face of his repeated refusals to leave the cabin where he had lived for 27 years, but released him three weeks later, after his cabin burned to the ground in an accidental fire.

The story grabbed international attention, with about 7,200 signing an online petition in his support and GoFundMe donations from the five sites total about $39,000.

Lidstone has a place to spend the winter, and by the spring plans should be set to build a cabin.

New Weare landscape project

Hillsboro Lions Club President Leigh Bosse (r) introduced Rep. Jim Creighton (l) who spoke to the club about his first term in the House.

Two arrested for Weare business break-in Weare Police have announced the arrest of two men in connection to a break in that occurred at a business in last month. Zachary Wildman of Concord and Jeremy Fortin of Manchester were arrested in connection with the burglary at TMS Diesel. Security cameras captured two people cutting the locks to the building and leaving with cash and parts. The investigation continues and Police ask that anyone with information contact them.

Henniker shows dramatic growth 2010-20

Henniker officials were shocked to learn that the Census Bureau reports that Henniker grew 27.9% between 2010 and 2020, faster than any town or city in the state. By comparison, Bow and Dunbarton grew about 9% each, while neighboring Hopkinton grew only 5.8%.

Warner Fall Foliage eliminates some events

The Warner Fall Foliage Festival Board of Directors has announced some decisions that have been made for the October 8th - October 10th 2021 Warner Fall Foliage Festival. It has been decided not to have the following events: Grand Parade, Children's Parade and the Children's Fun Run. These decisions have been in order to help keep attendees safe and healthy. Many crafters, music events, rides and the traditional oxen pull and Woodsmen competition will still happen.

Weare Board accepts $951,733 of ARPA funds

After a public hearing to accept ARPA funds from the Federal Government, the Weare Select Board voted to accept a total of $951,733.58, which will be received in two equal parts in 2021 and 2022. Department heads were asked for recommendations on how this money should be spent, and while there were many ideas the consensus was that the upgrading of the Town's emergency communications system should be the number one priority.

Weare School Board votes to censure Rochelle Kelley

The Weare School Board has voted to censure one of its members following her arrest last month.

Rochelle Kelley is facing charges of Obstruction of Justice and Resisting Arrest resulting from a traffic stop in July, video of which was posted online.

During Tuesday's meeting, chairwoman Wendy Curry explained the board cannot remove another member unless that person breaches their oath of office, and it was determined that Kelley's actions did not rise to that level.

"It's the only way we can make a notion that homophobic statements to police officers is not an acceptable school board thing,"

Curry said. The Board then voted to censure Kelley.

Select Board Chair Frederick Hippler congratulates Weare's newest police officer, Seth Guilmette after giving him the oath of office. Guilmette now lives in Weare, but grew up in Nashua. He graduated from Pinkerton Academy, spent four years in the Marine Corps and has passed the Police Academy's physical test.

High speed chase at 80-90 mph ends in a Hopkinton ditch

A Grantham woman led police on a high-speed chase on I-89 on Wednesday. Police reported that a trooper attempted to stop a vehicle, driven by Tracie Anne Plodzick, 54, for failing to stay within its lane, but she refused to pull over and the pursuit began, reaching speeds between 80 and 90 miles per hour.

Plodzick took Exit 7 onto Route 103 driving towards Hopkinton, and the pursuit ended near the Warner-Hopkinton town line where the vehicle was found in a ditch on the side of Route 103.

Plodzick has been arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated. She was bailed on personal recognizance.

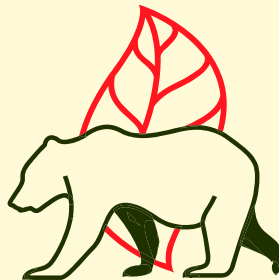

Ward visits Bradford Pantry

Senator Ruth Ward, District 8, visited the Bradford Food Pantry early in the week after the flood. Senator Ward took the time to see the damage to the church office building, the partially plugged culvert under West Main Street, and the ongoing success in relocating the Food Pantry to the main level of the office building. The Bradford Community Church made available two Sunday School Rooms for temporary operating space. Her concern is greatly appreciated.

Another Advantage of Small Town Living

Living in a small town has many advantages, particularly in this fast-paced, often confrontational world. Each town in The Messenger's readership area has its own character and sense of community. People know each other, and even if they don't, pitch-in to help a neighbor in need.

Another big advantage is that our local economy remains dependent on the success of long standing family businesses.

In this area Edmunds Ace Hardware sets the example of a concerned and caring corporate citizen. With stores in Antrim and Henniker, their charity is not limited to those two towns. Whether it's the Rotary, Lions, Food Pantry, School groups, etc, etc, etc, when there is a need three generations of the Edmunds family have stepped-up to support the cause.

Saturday's Car Show was just the latest example. Learning that the Rotary would not hold its Chili Festival, the Edmunds dedicated their entire Henniker facility over to a classic Cruise-In, to replace some of that lost revenue.

Obviously Edmunds Ace Hardware deserves our support, but more than that, the next time you see any of that family, thank them for being such great neighbors.

The Greenfield Volunteer Fire Department practiced water rescue techniques. Crews worked on launching the two rescue boats as well as patient removal from the water to the rescue boats.

Jeff Sharlet at the Tory Hill Authors Series August 21

Jeff Sharlet is an award-winning literary journalist and author of seven books including New York Times bestseller, THE FAMILY: The Secret Fundamentalism at the Heart of American Power and C STREET: The Fundamental Threat to American Democracy. He is also the executive producer of the top-rated Netflix documentary series based on the books.

Jeff's new book is THIS BRILLIANT DARKNESS: A Book of Strangers. In this masterful collection of images and reflections, he invites us to see his subjects – the people, moments and things we actively ignore or take no notice of. "The book ingeniously reminds us that all of our lives — our struggles, desires, grief — happen concurrently with everyone else's, and this awareness helps dissolve the boundaries between us" (New York Times).

Jeff is the Frederick Sessions Beebe '35 Professor in the Art of Writing, a member of the Society of Fellows, and Director of Creative Writing at Dartmouth College. He is an editor-at-large for Virginia Quarterly Review and a contributing editor for Harper's and Rolling Stone. He has also contributed to The New York Times Magazine, Vanity Fair, GQ, Esquire, Mother Jones, and more.

His work has earned numerous awards, including the National Magazine Award, the Outspoken Award, the MOLLY National Journalism Prize, the University of Virginia's Staige D. Blackford Prize for Nonfiction, and the Military Religious Freedom Foundation's Thomas Jefferson Award, and he has been the recipient of numerous fellowships from the MacDowell Colony.

He has been a frequent guest on The Rachel Maddow Show, Fresh Air, All In with Chris Hayes, CNN, and many other television and radio programs, and a speaker at colleges and universities including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Duke, Penn, UVA, USC, University of Iowa, the Naval War College, and many others. He has been a Visiting Academic at Trinity College Dublin and a Visiting Research Scholar at NYU.

The Tory Hill Authors Series is an annual summer event sponsored by the Warner Historical Society showcasing locally and nationally known authors reading and talking about their books and personal experiences. The audience will be able to interact with the author online. The readings begin at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are five dollars and may be purchased online at www.toryhillauthorsseries.com. A zoom link will be sent upon purchase.

The Warner Historical Society formed over 50 years ago to preserve, educate about and keep alive Warner's heritage. The Society has yearly exhibits and programs in the Upton Chandler House Museum on Main Street and maintains the Lower Warner Meeting House which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

New research published in The FEBS Journal has found a significant association of low plasma vitamin D level with the likelihood of COVID-19 infection among patients who were tested for COVID-19, even after adjustment for age, gender, socio-economic status and chronic mental and physical disorders. Furthermore, low vitamin D level was associated with the risk of hospitalization due to COVID-19 infection, although this association wasn't significant after adjustment for other confounders.

Appendicitis is the most common cause for emergency abdominal surgery in childhood, affecting 80,000 children in the United States each year, but nonoperative treatment options are viable. A new study published in JAMA found antibiotics alone successfully treated children with uncomplicated appendicitis and was associated with fewer disability days at one year.

For patients, especially those living with chronic conditions, non-adherence to prescription medicines due to cost is a common problem. By not filling prescriptions, skipping doses, delaying refills, or splitting pills, patients risk compromising the therapeutic benefit of their treatments. A new study looked at survey data from 11 high-income countries. They found that the largest disparities for non-adherence occurred among younger women in the U.S. The study results are published in the journal Health Affairs. The study also showed that in the U.S., one in four younger women reported cost-related nonadherence compared with one in seven younger men, with no significant female differences among older adults in any of the eleven countries.

TOOTH DISCOLORATION

In the 1950s, doctors discovered that the use of tetracycline antibiotics during pregnancy led to brownish-color teeth in children. When a person takes tetracycline, some of the medicine settles into the calcium that the body uses to build teeth. When the teeth grow in, they are a yellowish-color, and they gradually turn brown when exposed to sunlight.

Tetracycline, however, does not cause tooth discoloration if taken after all teeth are formed. It only causes a change in tooth color if you take the medicine before the primary or secondary teeth come in. Today, tetracycline and related antibiotics are not recommended during pregnancy or in young children (under age 8) whose teeth are still forming.

Other medicines are believed to affect materials in or on existing teeth, causing staining. The following medicines can cause brown, yellow-brown, or gray tooth discoloration:

Amoxicillin-clavulanate (Augmentin), an antibiotic used to treat a number of bacterial infections; chlorhexidine, an antiseptic/disinfectant; doxycycline, an antibiotic related to tetracycline that is often used to treat acne; and tetracycline, an antibiotic used to treat acne and some respiratory infections.

Too much fluoride (found in some chewable vitamins, toothpastes, and mouthwash) can lead to white streaks on the tooth enamel, or a whitish-brown discoloration. In severe cases, excess fluoride (called fluorosis) can lead to permanently stained brown teeth.

The following drugs may cause greenish or a blue-green grayish color: ciprofloxacin (Cipro), an antibiotic known as a quinolone; minocycline, an antibiotic related to tetracycline. Iron salts taken by mouth can lead to black teeth.

New London Select Board approves drafting of a Fireworks Ordinance

The New London Select Board dealt with a varied agenda Monday evening. Representatives of Woodcrest Village requested and received permission to temporarily disrupt town property while installing new stone walls and plantings at their facility.

June Fichter of the Lake Sunapee Protective Association briefed the Board on the increasing dangers of Cyanobacteria and asked that the town actively enforce ordinances regulating storm water runoff.

John Ellis appeared to request that the Board approve placing two bronze plaques on trees at the Town Hall. One would be dedicated to New London Hospital and its former CEO Bruce King and the other to the Police Department and former Chief Ed Anderson. The Board took it under advisement.

The Building & Facilities Committee returned to continue setting priorities for spending and investing in Capitol Improvement Projects.

June Fichter of the Lake Sunapee Protective Association briefs the New London Select Board on the increasing Cyanobacteria infestation in the lake.

Responding to a citizen's request at their last meeting, the Board agreed to draft a Fireworks Ordinance to be reviewed at the next meeting.

Finally, the Board approved placing a memorial bench in honor of James McCann at the beach at Pleasant Lake.
