Washington, NH's meeting house is 230 years old. Within the past few years it has been resided, repainted, and lifted up for a basement and other amenities. Then the upper hall was revitalized with elevator access for senior citizens and other features including bathrooms and a complete refinish. Last week a gala opening and reception was held for those who so willingly donated time and funds. The facility was opened for the public to tour. What an extraordinary building in our little town. Coincidentally, tour day was the first day of Washington's summer farmer's market on the town common. Photo by Bob Hofstetter.

Goffstown & Stoddard Teachers are semi-finalist for NH Teacher of the Year

The New Hampshire Department of Education has announced that Amanda Bridges, fifth grade, James Faulkner Elementary School, Stoddard and Curt McDermott, ninth through twelfth grade, Goffstown High School, Goffstown are included in the 10 semi-finalists for the 2023 New Hampshire Teacher of the Year Award.

The 2023 Teacher of the Year will be New Hampshire's entrant in the National Teacher of the Year program. The national program, run by the Council of Chief State School Officers, identifies exceptional teachers in the country, recognizes their effective work in the classroom, amplifies their voices, and empowers them to participate in policy discussions at the state and national levels.

The Grapevine's Avenue A is featured in documentary film

"Community, Belonging, Place," a documentary-style short film about teens in the Monadnock Region premieres at the Peterborough Community Theatre on Tuesday, June 7, at 7 p.m. Created by the NH Children's Trust in partnership with The Grapevine Family and Community Resource Center, the film celebrates local teens, their hopes for the future, what community means to them, and why places like The Grapevine's Avenue A Teen Center matter.

"We often talk about our teens as if they were a problem to solve," says Nathan Fink, NH Children's Trust Director of Advancement. "In reality they are a foundational part of any community. That's why it was important to partner with Avenue A and The Grapevine for this project. If our teens are supported and valued, our communities are stronger and more resilient."

The NH Children's Trust visited the Monadnock Region in March 2022 to create the short film, which features seven middle and high school students. Over several days, the film crew met with the teens and captured their activities, interests, and favorite local spots.

Partnering with the NH Children's Trust to highlight local youth was a natural fit for The Grapevine. "Supporting and encouraging teens - their interests, passions, and goals is key to growing them into healthy, positive adults," explains Melissa Gallagher, The Grapevine's Executive Director.

The film crew from NH Children's Trust poses with RJ, a teen featured in "Community, Belonging, Place."

"Teens have so much to share and teach us. We want them to feel the love of our community!"

Avenue A is part of The Grapevine's two-generation approach to supporting youth. "This approach to family support means wrapping around the whole family: parents/caregivers and their children together," Gallagher says.

For Donovan, a teen featured in the film, this project matters because, "The youth in a community represent its vitality, and the life it has yet to live. We represent life in the moment, and the future that we can build together."

The premiere is free and will include a panel discussion with teens who are featured in the film. Attendees will be entered to win door prizes made by local teens. The event kicks-off Avenue A's NH Gives fundraiser, a statewide 24-hour online day of giving happening June 8-9.

As a program of The Grapevine Family & Community Resource Center, Avenue A is a regional Teen Center based in Antrim. Avenue A serves youth from more than 14 towns in the Monadnock Region with programs that build resilience through creative expression, social development, wellness, and career-skill building. With the help of 70 mentor-volunteers, Avenue A supports over 300 teens.

Jenn Huard named Assistant Principal at Weare schools

SAU 24 Superintendent Jacqueline Coe, Ed.D, announced the appointment of Jenn Huard as Assistant Principal of Student Services at Weare Middle/Center Woods Upper Elementary School effective July 1, 2022.

Huard comes to WMS/CWUES from Souhegan High School, where she served as the Special Education Administrator. Before that, Jenn was the Inclusion Facilitator and a Learning Specialist at Souhegan High School. Over her years at Souhegan, Jenn was dedicated to building a system of supports to provide necessary services to all students.

She holds a Master of Education in Special Education from Plymouth State University and a BA in Elementary and Special Education from Southern New Hampshire University. "I am excited to be joining the Weare Middle/Center Woods Upper Elementary community. I am eager to work collaboratively with the faculty, students, and families to build a positive educational experience that supports all learners," said Huard.

POOR ORAL HEALTH MAY IMPACT COVID-19 SEVERITY, ESPECIALLY FOR CARDIAC PATIENTS

According to a new study, the correlation between poor oral health and COVID-19 severity, as well as the correlation between oral health and delayed recovery, demonstrates a potential need to consider oral health an additional risk factor for cardiac patients who may contract COVID-19.

The oral cavity is a potential reservoir for respiratory pathogens. Previous trials have linked poor oral hygiene with increased inflammation and cardiovascular disease. According to the researchers, COVID-19 severity has also been linked to an inflammatory response.

The researchers hypothesized that increased COVID-19 severity may be linked to poor oral health status, especially in patients with cardiovascular diseases. According to the study authors, the study assessed oral health status, severity of COVID-19 symptoms, C-reactive protein (CRP) levels and duration of recovery.

“Oral tissues could act as a reservoir for SARS-CoV-2, developing a high viral load in the oral cavity. Therefore, we recommended maintenance of oral health and improving oral hygiene measures, especially during COVID-19 infection,” said Ahmed Mustafa Basuoni, MD, cardiology consultant at Cairo University and lead author of the study. “Simple measures like practicing proper oral hygiene, raising awareness of oral health importance either in relation to COVID-19 infection or systemic diseases by using media and community medicine, regular dental visits, especially in patients with CVD, and using [antimicrobial] mouthwashes [could help in] preventing or decreasing the severity of COVID-19 disease.”

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

A new study published in Cochrane Database of Systematic Reviews has highlighted that there is very little evidence on safe and effective approaches to discontinuing treatment of depression. In 2020 there were 78 million prescriptions for antidepressants in England alone and about half of patients treated have taken them for at least two years. Guidelines typically recommend that antidepressants be taken for up to 6 to 12 months after improvement, or for up to two years in people at risk of relapse, but many people take antidepressants for much longer. Surveys of antidepressant users suggest that up to a half of people on long-term antidepressant prescriptions have no clear medical reason to keep taking them. Long-term use can put people at risk of adverse events such as sleep disturbance, weight gain, sexual dysfunction, bleeding, and gastrointestinal problems, as well as feeling emotionally numb and unable to deal with problems in life without their medication. In this new study researchers looked at the findings from 33 randomized control trials that included 4,995 participants who were prescribed antidepressants for 24 weeks or longer. In 13 studies, the antidepressant was stopped abruptly; in 18, it was stopped over a few weeks (known as ‘tapering’); in four, psychological therapy support was also offered. Most tapering schemes lasted four weeks or less and none of the studies used very slow tapering schemes beyond a few weeks — in contrast to guidelines.

Widely used medications for benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH) — also known as enlarged prostate — may be associated with a small, but significant increase in the probability of developing heart failure, suggests a study in The Journal of Urology, official journal of the American Urological Association (AUA). The risk is highest in men taking a type of BPH medication called alpha-blockers (ABs), rather than a different type called 5-alpha reductase inhibitors (5-ARIs).

ELVD and Aquamen Water Solutions recognized by State of NHDES

On May 24, 2022 NHDES Commissioner Robert Scott presented the 2022 Source Water Sustainability Award to ELVD and Aquamen Water Solutions. The state recognized the ongoing efforts that both the ELVD and their water operators, Aquamen Water Solutions, have put forth over the last couple of years at water conservation and loss prevention.

This could not have been achieved without the support of many teams and people. As current Chairman, Commissioner Taber was present to receive the award along with co-owners Craig McGraw and Harold Smith, which occurred at the NH National Guard Edward Cross training facility in Pembroke, NH during the 2022 Annual Source Water Protection Conference. In recognition of receiving this award, the ELVD Board would like to recognize the following partners in allowing us to meet this achievement.

The entire team of Aquamen Water

Craig McGraw and Harold Smith of Aquamen Water Solutions and Commissioner Brett Taber (l).

Solutions, our Engineering partners Wright-Pierce Consultants, the entire ELVD board over the last year; Sara Auger, Debbie Kardaseski, and Brett Taber; and last but not probably the most important is every resident of ELVD.

Without their continued vigil at reporting water loss issues, struggling through continued Water Ban restrictions, and their continued belief and support of the Board in the ongoing efforts being made system wide towards the planned improvements during annual meeting approvals.

Thank you to all involved and for your continued support.

Fire consumes New Boston home, no injuries

A home in New Boston is a total loss after a fire broke out on Saturday afternoon. Crews responded to the home on River Road shortly after 2:30 p.m. and were met by flames and heavy smoke. The New Boston Fire Department said the initial efforts were hampered by live wires down in front of the home, and water was put on nearby structures to prevent fire spread while it was waiting for the power to be shut off in the area. No one was home at the time, but a few firefighters suffered minor burns trying to contain the flames. "Bad that they lost the house but nobody got hurt seriously so we're happy with the results. We're happy with all our mutual aid towns that just supported us amazingly," said New Boston Fire Chief Dan MacDonald. The fire department said a rabbit was rescued and brought to the Manchester Animal Hospital. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Hopkinton students to compete in National Young Inventors program

The 2022 Invention Convention US Nationals in Dearborn, MI is fast approaching and two of Hopkinton's young inventors are part of our Northern New England Delegation who will represent the Young Inventors' Program at this national competition. The US Nationals invites over 400 students from across the US to share their original inventions and to compete for awards each year.

This year, two inventors from Hopkinton are joining 20 others from NH and MA to make up our NNE finalists. Jacob M is a 2nd grader at HMS who did YIP with JoEllen McCaffrey and her Tween School N' Home program after school.

Jacob invented the Inflatable Igloo to make building snow/ice igloos easier and fun. Jacob won Best in Grade 1st Place for Grade K-2 at the NNE Invention Convention.

Gwen B is a 5th grader at MMS who participated in the MSS After School YIP with Michelle Clarner.

Jacob M is a 2nd grader at HMS.

Gwen B is a 5th grader at MMS.

Gwen invented the Salt Spreader, a machine that helps people salt their driveway to help prevent slips and falls on ice. Gwen won Best in Grade 3rd

BASEBALL

Bow 5, John Stark 4: After surrendering their 4-0 first-inning lead, the Falcons kept their heads and managed to small-ball their way to a 5-4 victory.

Hopkinton 7, Gilford 6: Peyton Marshall lived out every baseball player's dream scenario on Friday: bottom of the last inning, bases loaded, two outs, a full count and staring at a deficit. Hopkinton's senior pitcher stepped out of the box after the third ball was called. As he readjusted his stance and settled his nerves, he saw a fastball hurled his way. Like he had done so many times throughout his high school career against a fastball, Marshall sent the ball into right field and sprinted toward first base.

A Work Environment Built Around Respect

EXECUTIVE SOUS CHEF

Pats Peak is unique in that it operates year round with an F&B department. In the winter we are a fast paced 2 - outlet "grab & go" set up and pub oriented plated menu operation. During the non-ski season we operate two full time banquet halls that has weddings, private parties, company outings and various business meetings and limited run of the Sun Pub: our outdoor summer pub destination. Manage 50 to 70 banquets per season with many events occurring on same day.

The Executive Chef of the last 20 plus years is desirous of reducing hours and eventual retirement and wants to make sure the operation is handed off to a caring individual that will continue the quality that we offer, nourish the growth of the overall operation, and bring a fresh set of ideas to our culinary operation. A prospective candidate should have a willingness to share this position and appreciate the opportunity for overlap to ensure a smooth transition. Once the transition is complete you have a blank canvas to create your quality - first class - vision.

Position is year-round fulltime, 401K, Generous Profit Sharing, Health Insurance, Family Season Passes and Much More.
