Student of the Month

Tessa Marinello, a sophomore from Sutton, was selected as the Kearsarge Regional High School's June Student of the Month based on nominations from faculty.

Faculty described Marinello as a driven individual who is a supportive classmate, who encourages others to challenge themselves and their understanding of complex global issues, and who is always willing to collaborate. “Tessa is a caring student who recognizes opportunities to help others around her,” said Assistant Principal Christopher Geraghty.

Henniker Cyanobacteria Warning

Chronic effects include liver & nervous system damage

A cyanobacteria bloom has been observed on Keyser Pond in Henniker. Samples regularly collected from the surface of the lake have indicated increasing levels of cyanobacteria. Surface samples were collected from shorelines on 7/5/22 and cyanobacteria (Chrysoosporum) were observed in concentrations up to 93,900 cells/mL in areas of highest observed accumulations. Advisories are issued when cyanobacteria cell concentrations exceed 70,000 cells/ml. As a result, NHDES has issued a cyanobacteria bloom advisory for those who use the waterbody for recreation. The advisory is not based on a toxin evaluation and is intended as a precautionary measure for short term exposure.

Surface blooms can rapidly change and accumulate in various locations around a waterbody. Please continue to monitor your individual shorelines for changing conditions. NHDES advises lake users to avoid contact with the water in areas experiencing elevated cyanobacteria cell conditions, also known as a bloom. NHDES also advises pet owners to keep their pets out of any waters that have a cyanobacteria bloom.

Chronic effects may include liver and central nervous system damage. Be cautious of lake water that has a surface scum, changes colors, or appears to have green streaks or blue-green flecks aggregating along the shore. The cyanobacteria advisory went into effect on July 6, 2022 and will remain in effect until NHDES confirms that cell concentrations of the bloom have subsided.

Henniker Historical Society preserving local History

When a local citizen posed a question about Henniker in the late 1790's, Kristen MacLean, a volunteer at the Henniker Historical Society, sought out the answer in the town records.

Since the town's incorporation in 1768, the original minutes of all town meetings have been kept in the town vault.

MacLean found the handwritten minutes of 1770 to answer the question, but sadly, over 200 years had taken a toll. The leather binders had decayed, pages were fading, and 'post-it' notes of previous readers scattered the pages. Preservation was needed to save this important history!

A grant to the Henniker Historical Society from the Davis & Towle Insurance Agency together with support from the Town of Henniker allowed 52 years of town records to be cleaned, protected with acid-free

Marc McMurphy (r) of the Henniker Historical Society, points out an item from a newly bound town record book of 1780 to Ryan Towle (l) as Diane Kendall, Henniker Town Administrator looks on.

'sleeves,' and rebound. The Henniker Historical Society also obtained a digital copy of the records for future research. History has been saved.

Hillsborough's revived Town Band holds its first concert since 1986

A valued tradition returned to the Town of Hillsborough Tuesday evening with the premiere performance of the revived Hillsborough Town Band, which had not performed since 1986.

Under the direction of former H-D Music Teacher and NH Teacher of the Year Heidi Welch, the current members range in age from 7 to 82, many who were at one time in the HDHS band going back decades.

Initially planned for the concert to be held on the library steps, rain forced it to be moved to the basement of the Smith Memorial Church.

The band played several patriotic, traditional and classic marches along with a Beatles medley, all to the rave review of those attending.

The town band was incorporated in 1825 as the Hillsborough Instrumental Band and it was the FIRST band and for a long time the ONLY band in the state, and most likely the only one ever chartered by a special act of the legislature, so it played a large role in the musical activity throughout the state in the early history of NH. One of their early engagements was to take part in the celebration when Lafayette visited Concord in 1828. The Hillsborough Instrumental Music Band dissolved in 1986.

Between 1825 and 1921, the Band changed directors and names including Mechanic's Band, Highland Band, Merrill's Orchestra, and the famous Wahneta Orchestra which was a staple from 1890 to the 1920's.

The band held concerts in the bandstand at Grimes Field (no longer there...don't look for it!) and on the steps of the community building (now the library). In its last iteration, it boasted an average of over 40 members with contributions from the HDHS Band (under the direction of member Phil Daley at the time), and directed by Harold Rowell, Sr.

In 1967, band manager and saxophone/bass player Harrison "Doc"

Baldwin commented that "The love of music and the enjoyment it gives to others is what keeps a town band like ours together and we are proud of it."

Current Band Members include:

- Flute: Laurie Dube, Ann Poole, Amy Brinkler, Holli Hargreaves
- Clarinet: Heather Steeves, Phil Daley, Melissa Thuillier, Martha Halverson-Dahl
- Bass Clarinet: Grant Desmarais
- Bassoon: Noah Daley
- Alto Sax: Olly Smith, Ken Brinkler

- Horn: Jonathan Daley

BACTERIA THAT CAUSE PERIODONTITIS ARE TRANSMITTED FROM PARENTS TO CHILDREN

Adults with periodontitis transmit bacteria that can cause the disease in future to their children, and the bacteria remain in the oral cavity even when the children undergo treatment of various kinds, reinforcing the need for preventive care in the first year of a baby's life. This is the main conclusion of a new study.

Periodontitis is an inflammation of the periodontium, the tissue that supports the teeth and maintains them in the maxillary and mandibular bones. The disease is triggered by bacterial infection. Symptoms include bleeding of the gums and halitosis. In severe cases, it leads to bone and tooth loss. If the bacteria or other microorganisms that cause the disease enter the bloodstream, they may trigger other kinds of inflammation in the body. Treatment includes cleaning of the pockets around teeth by a dentist or hygienist and administration of anti-inflammatory drugs or antibiotics.

"The parents' oral microbiome is a determinant of the subgingival microbial colonization of their children," the article's authors state in their conclusions, adding that "dysbiotic microbiota acquired by children of periodontitis patients at an early age are resilient to shift and the community structure is maintained even after controlling the hygiene status."

Parents should start caring for the health of their children's gums when they are infants. This pioneering study compares parents with and without periodontitis. In children of the former, the authors found subgingival bacterial colonization at a very early age. However, 'inheriting' the problem doesn't mean a child is fated to develop the disease in adulthood. Hence the importance of keeping an eye open for the smallest signs and seeking specialized help.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

A new study has found that the antibiotic azithromycin was no more effective than a placebo in preventing symptoms of COVID-19 among non-hospitalized patients, and may increase their chance of hospitalization, despite widespread prescription of the antibiotic for the disease. Azithromycin, a broad-spectrum antibiotic, is widely prescribed as a treatment for COVID-19 in the United States and the rest of the world. The hypothesis is that it has anti-inflammatory properties that may help prevent progression if treated early in the disease, but this was not the case. The study appears in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A new study published in Cancer has found a significant association between cholesterol-lowering drugs commonly known as statins and survival rates of triple-negative breast cancer patients. Since statins are low in cost, easy to access and produce minimal side effects, this could have an important impact on outcomes for this aggressive disease.

People taking certain drugs to lower blood sugar for type 2 diabetes had less amyloid in the brain, a biomarker of Alzheimer's disease, when compared to both people with type 2 diabetes not taking the drugs and people without diabetes. The new study, published in the August 11, 2021, online issue of Neurology, the medical journal of the American Academy of Neurology, also found people taking these drugs, called dipeptidyl peptidase-4 inhibitors, showed slower cognitive decline than people in the other two groups. In people with type 2 diabetes, the body no longer efficiently uses insulin to control blood sugar. Dipeptidyl peptidase-4 inhibitors, also known as gliptins, can be prescribed when other diabetes drugs do not work. They help control blood sugar when combined with diet and exercise.

Emerald Lake Commissioners provide Water System project update

The Project is now underway with the first road being worked on as Ellen Brook. Over the past two weeks the temporary water line has been installed.

Residents on Ellenbrook are now connected and using the temporary water line. The first 200 feet of new pipe has been laid.

The project will continue laying out the new pipe over the next 1-2 weeks.

It is important that residents keep in mind that the project timeline and day to day activities are only estimates. Some blockage of roadway travel will occur during the daytime hours and alternate approaches may be necessary.

Please try to plan accordingly. The crew estimates they can excavate and lay about 500 feet per day depending on what they find in the ground. Please be patient and work with the construction crew on any issue related to roadway travel, egress to/from your driveways, any water related issues on the temporary line. They will assist the best they can.

ConVal High School Librarian Rachel Bowman has been named 2022 School Librarian of the Year by the NH School Library Media Association during the EDies awards on June 4th.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Fellow Community Members:

I am writing to ask you to vote yes on July 12th in support of a new contract for Hillsboro-Deering's teachers. We heard the voters in March and went back to the table to re-negotiate a deal that cut $86,620 off of the original, while also removing any mention of the Evergreen clause which many voters have been concerned with for years.

We understand that this remains a tough financial climate for the families of our community, but strongly believe that there is great value in approving this three year contract next Tuesday. This deal preserves the stability our schools have benefited from in attracting and retaining quality staff, increases teachers' annual health care contributions, and puts in place new work-year commitments for teachers. We know that, despite recent gains, our test scores continue to lag behind the level we all know our kids can achieve.

Know that every teacher goes to school every morning fully committed to changing that, in the way we all look for new ways to engage, inspire, nurture and challenge your students. This contract is a good deal for taxpayers and an important investment in our community and would go a long way to keeping us all in this mission together. We appreciate everyone's continued support. We will be at the dump this Saturday, July 9th, to ask for your vote and answer any questions you may have.

Respectfully Submitted,

Alex Luhtjarv, President,
H-D Federation of Teachers

Dear Editor:

I wanted to get the word out to Deering residents that Nancy Cowan's Celebration of Life is being held at the Timberdoodle Club in Temple New Hampshire on July 23rd. It is informal and a drop in. As Nancy passed away in January we could not hold it at that time. The Covid restrictions precluded any indoor celebration. For those of you that did not know Nancy she was assistant Town Clerk, Tax Collector for years then Town Deering. She also Organized the last big Old Home Day Celebration in Deering.

After her retirement she continued her contribution in working at almost every election. Carol our current Town Clerk can fill any of you in on her history. In any event you are all invited and I hope this reached any of you who haven't been made aware of it.

Prominent Hancock man indicted for rape

A Hillsborough County grand jury brought indictments against Hancock resident Philip H. Mathewson, 55, earlier this month. Mathewson is the president of Mathewson Co., a Monadnock area contracting and road-building company. Prosecutors obtained the indictment a month after a judge threw out charges in the case, ruling there was not enough evidence for it to go forward.

During a hearing, police told a judge that the alleged victim and Mathewson were in a relationship, and Mathewson initiated sex after a night of eating and drinking. The alleged victim told police he felt tired. "According to the police report, (alleged victim) D.S. said that at one point during the alleged assault he said "No," but that he did so quietly and that it was possible that Defendant did not hear him," Superior Court Judge David Anderson wrote in an order throwing out the case. Mathewson's lawyer said professional conduct rules prevent him from discussing the case. "My only official comment is Mr. Mathewson looks forward to his day in court," said Jeff Oldman. He said Mathewson remains on the job at his company.

Weare man arrested for sex with minors

He has been charged with the following crimes: Incest- Victim under 18, Aggravated Felonious Sexual Assault - Victim under 13, Aggravated Felonious Sexual Assault - Pattern Sexual Assault Endangering the Welfare of a Child. At the time of this release Laquerre was being held pending arraignment at Hillsborough County (North) Superior Court.

Clocked at 121 MPH on I-89 in New London

A Massachusetts man is facing reckless driving charges after allegedly driving nearly double the speed limit on I-89 in New London. New Hampshire State Police said that a trooper was northbound on the interstate in New London near Exit 12 and saw a 2021 Tesla Model 3 going at a high and dangerous speed. The trooper determined the car was going 121 miles per hour, 56 miles over the posted speed limit, New Hampshire State Police said. The driver was identified as Thomas Corvi, 27, of Melrose, Massachusetts. He was detained at the scene and released on a summons to appear in court in August for a charge of Reckless Operation.
