Support Ukrainian Independence

Henniker reception honors member of Ukraine's Parliament

Natalya Pipa, a member of Ukraine's Parliament returned to Henniker Saturday for a reception in her honor hosted by David Tille.

Tille hosted Pipa and the Ukrainian delegation last year as Russia was threatening her smaller neighbor. With the Russian invasion escalating, she has returned to share her gratitude to the people of New Hampshire and the United States. She spoke passionately about how much U.S. and worldwide support has meant to her countrymen.

Pipa reflected on how lucky she was, as her husband and children were alive, while many of her friends have lost family members at the hands of the Russian Army.

State Senator John Reagan presented her with a proclamation honoring her as she fights for the freedom of her country, and she fights for freedom of everyone!

Later in the evening she attended a Concert for Ukraine Refugees at St. Anselm College's Dana Center with Queen Flash, a Queen Tribute band. The ticket money after expenses will go to The Blessed Virgin Mary Catholic Ukraine Church in Manchester, NH that will be sent to Ukraine to help women and children refugees.

Bar Harbor donates $3,000 to New London's Philbrick-Cricenti Bog boardwalk

Bar Harbor Bank & Trust recently donated $3,000 to the New London Conservation Commission to support the organization's efforts to improve the safety of the Philbrick-Cricenti Bog boardwalk. For phase 1 of the project, the commission upgraded the first 350 feet of the boardwalk from wooden planks to an all-weather, anti-slip, aluminum walkway. The funds from the Bank will be used for phase 2 of the project, which will extend the walkway to the floating bog mat.

"Philbrick-Cricenti Bog is a town treasure, and we are honored to support the New London Conservation Commission's efforts to make the boardwalk trails safer and more enjoyable for our neighbors," said Katherine Paine, AVP Branch Relationship Manager at Bar Harbor Bank & Trust.

"We are very encouraged by the support from Bar Harbor for one of our most-used and most-loved trails," added Mark Vernon, New London Conservation Commission Member and Trail Steward.

Philbrick-Cricenti Bog is a kettle hole bog system, composed of several distinct but intermixed natural communities.

Three loop trails lead onto the bog and feature boardwalks floating on a mat of tundra-like vegetation that give visitors the opportunity to get a closer look at the bog without disturbing the area and its inhabitants. The bog is home to a variety of flora and fauna and several species of birds including the eastern towhee, a species that has been in strong decline in New Hampshire.

Avenue A presents The Great Greek Mythology Olympiaganza

Avenue A's Community Theatre "ACT!" is staging The Great Greek Mythology Olympiaganza (One-Act) by Don Zolidis, Friday, August 12 and Saturday, August 13 at 7pm, at the Antrim Town Hall Stage! Admission is by donation. The production is Avenue A's second annual show.

The Great Greek Mythology Extravaganza is a fast-paced, mad-cap parody of Greek myths peppered with slapstick humor. Two battling narrators cover Greek mythology from Pandora's Box to Jason & the Argonauts using theatrical mischief. The show culminates in the battle of the Iliad.

Organizers felt like lighthearted comedy is just what the community needs. "We wanted to laugh together this summer," explains Jacqueline Roland, Director of Teen Programs at The Grapevine Family & Community Resource Center. ACT! Co-Director Sean Roberts shares that, "By choosing a show that we thought people would enjoy, the cast worked even harder while having fun...We are incredibly proud of them and their crazy ideas!"

ACT! was born last year, when a group of volunteers directed by Elizabeth Moore practiced throughout the summer and performed a live radio play for outdoor audiences. "Elizabeth Moore gave us the idea of starting a Community Theatre and helped get it off the ground." Roland says. "ACT! is a joyful community for local residents to perform together—we had to bring it back this summer!"

ACT! is open to ages 13 through

113. It is Co-Directed by Eve Pierce and Sean Roberts, with Cheyenne Heinselmann as Art Director. Elizabeth Moore helps advise the group. This year's production includes teenagers, young adults who are home from college for the summer, and adults from the community.

ACT! welcomes people with disabilities and all levels of experience with theatre. The Great Greek Mythology Olympiaganza is offered by special arrangement with Playscripts, Inc.

As a program of The Grapevine Family & Community Resource Center, Avenue A is a regional Teen Center based in Antrim. Avenue A serves youth from more than 14 towns in the Monadnock Region with programs that build resilience through creative expression, social development, wellness, and career-skill building. With the help of 70 mentor-volunteers, Avenue A supports over 300 teens.

ACT! Cast members rehearse at The Antrim Town Hall.

Francestown Board considers Scoby Pond problems

Meagan Kerris, Francestown Recreation Director, reviewed recent incidents at Scoby Pond Swim Area, specifically non-residents and residents who don't want to follow the rules; verbal assaults on the lifeguards; and how to resolve issues with town residents who legally have access but are abusing the privilege. The Board of Selectmen (BOS) suggested resolutions:

Non-residents: Inform them that Francestown does not own the property and that the rental agreement only allows residents of Francestown, non-residents who are not guests are a liability issue. The Town Administrator will contact the town lawyer about drafting a resident letter and how to address potential fines.

Quick response by Weare & State Police prevents possible suicide

On August 6th, 2022 at 0955 hours the Weare Police Department received a report of a possible suicide at Mountain Road. Officers from the Weare Police Department and troopers from the New Hampshire State Police responded to the scene.

The suspect, a 60 year-old white male had barricaded himself in a second-floor bedroom. With the consent of the owner and after having no contact with the suspect, officers were able to break a window using bean bag rounds and then deploy a drone to observe inside the room.

The drone operator observed movement in the room and then the suspect fired two rounds from a shotgun before walking to the front door and surrendering.

There were no injuries during the incident and the suspect was transported to Catholic Medical Center for a psychological evaluation. The suspect was charged with two counts Reckless Conduct with a Firearm.

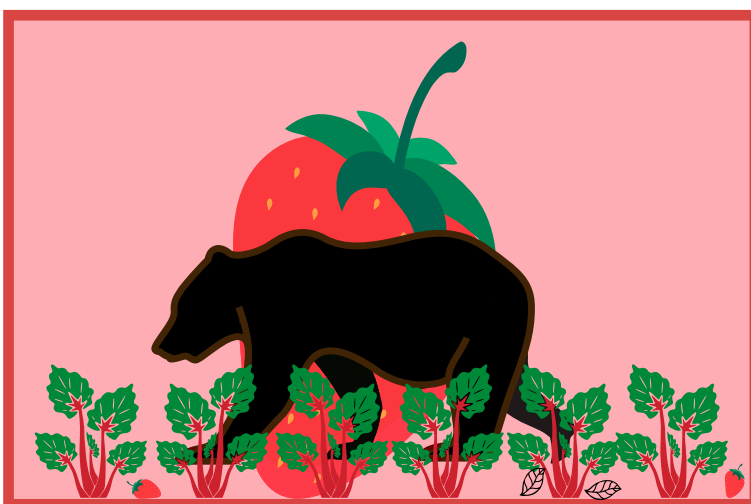

We would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that New Hampshire has implemented the 988 system, the new three-digit dialing, texting, and chat code for people experiencing a suicidal, mental health or substance misuse-related crisis. This system provides immediate assistance for people who need mental health support.

Hopkinton man arrested on drug charges

Christopher D. Parker, 39, of Carriage Lane in Hopkinton was arrested on felony possession of a controlled drug, stalking, and breach of bail charges. Officers were sent to Storrs Street, under the Loudon Road bridge, for an overdose. When they arrived, they found a woman, known to police from prior contacts, on the ground with other people around her. One of those people, a woman, had a domestic violence protective order against Parker, who was also there. The woman on the ground was revived and rejected medical treatment. Officers, however, spoke with Parker and the woman and double-checked the protective order, which was active. Parker was then arrested. During a search, he was accused of possessing a clear plastic bag with a tan-like powder consistent with fentanyl-heroin in his pocket, and a felony charge was added. Parker was held on preventive detention.

84 unit Hillsborough Workforce Housing Project sent for peer review

Avanru Development was back before the Hillsborough Planning Board to review the several changes made to its proposal for an 84 unit Workforce Housing project on West Main Street.

The project is to be constructed in two phases with each of the two 42 unit buildings to cost $12,000,000.

Owner Jack Franks explained that in order to qualify, as one of 15 applicants for the Federal financing, they must have an approved, completed application on file by August 31st.

School Superintendent Dr. Jennifer Crawford was concerned that the number of children coming into such a large project could overburden the school system.

Much of the discussion centered on sidewalk and drainage issues and with several board members uncomfortable with those, the board voted to send the project to peer review but at a separate engineering firm at a cost of $3,000-$4,000 for the applicant.

The peer review is to be completed by August 12th to be available for the board and applicant at the continued hearing on August 17.

Engineer Erin Darrow (l) and Jack Franks (r), owner of Avanru Development Group, LTD outline the changes made to their plans since the last meeting.

An Editorial

Not a single denial

Reacting to an article in last week's Messenger, documenting her ambush of former Selectwoman Meleny Nagy, Riche Colcombe took to Facebook to denounce us on several sites.

Strangely, in those denunciations she failed to deny saying anything we quoted or doing anything we said she did.

She simply denounced us for reporting it.

This is becoming a pattern. Several months ago we criticized the anti-business positions in her capacity, as a member of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Economic Development Committee.

1. She opposed the Vertex cell tower designed to improve broadband service, a project unanimously approved by the Planning Board and ZBA.

2. She opposed asking the state to study removing the turn lanes to provide more downtown parking.

3. She opposed a proposal to double the size of the current municipal parking lot.

4. She failed to support an investor who wants to preserve the Old Post Office building.

Again, there was not a single denial, only a blast at us for reporting those positions, much like the criminal showing remorse - for getting caught.

Messenger Publisher Leigh Bosse (l) and Editor Joyce Bosse (r) assist Keith Cobbett in cutting the ribbon to officially open Granite State Computers at its new location, 27 West Main Street in Hillsborough.

The Town of Henniker has hired Helga Winn (l) as its new Executive Assistant/Assessing and Land Use Coordinator and Sherry Bradstreet (r) as Deputy Finance Director. The town is still seeking another part-time Administrative Assistant.

New London celebrated another successful Hospital Days.

Hanson replaces Davis on Antrim Board

Former Town Administrator Donna Hanson joined the Antrim Select Board Monday, having been sworn in to serve out the term of Tom Davis who recently resigned. Resident Susan Ellis presented a petition asking the Board to do something about excessive speeding on Summer and Jameson Streets. Installing raised crosswalks and/or electronic speed signs were suggested. The Board will look into it. Al Gould informed the Board that the old Civil War Memorial currently stored at the airport needs to be removed. He requested that the town install a 10'x10' cement base at Veteran's Park so that the memorial could be installed there. The Board was supportive of the idea and will research the cost. It was announced that the town has received $140,807 as the 2nd installment of ARPA Funds, $169,700 in Bridge Aid and $80,000 as a Highway Block Grant.

Please continue to monitor your individual shoreline for changing conditions.

ORAL HEALTH IN AMERICA: PART I

Despite important advances in the understanding and treatment of oral diseases and conditions, many people in the U.S. still have chronic oral health problems and lack of access to care, according to a report by the National Institutes of Health. Oral Health in America: Advances and Challenges, is a follow-up to the seminal 2000 Oral Health in America: A Report of the Surgeon General. The new report, which is intended to provide a road map on how to improve the nation's oral health, draws primarily on information from public research and evidence-based practices and was compiled and reviewed by NIH's National Institute of Dental and Craniofacial Research (NIDCR) and a large, diverse, multi-disciplinary team of more than 400 experts.

The report updates the findings of the 2000 publication and highlights the national importance of oral health and its relationship to overall health. It also focuses on new scientific and technological knowledge — as well as innovations in health care delivery — that offer promising new directions for improving oral health care and creating greater equity in oral health across communities. Achieving that equity is an ongoing challenge for many who struggle to obtain dental insurance and access to affordable care.

"This is a very significant report," said NIH Acting Director Lawrence A. Tabak, D.D.S., Ph.D. "It is the most comprehensive assessment of oral health currently available in the United States and it shows, unequivocally, that oral health plays a central role in overall health. Yet millions of Americans still do not have access to routine and preventative oral care."

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE

BY SARAH CHAPIN

One of the two most prescribed anti-seizure medications may increase the risk of fractures for children with epilepsy, a study published in Epilepsia found. The paper examined the effects of levetiracetam and oxcarbazepine, two common anti-seizure medications, on bone fragility of children between the ages of four and 13. Researchers found that levetiracetam was not related to fractures, but oxcarbazepine was associated with a higher risk of fracture for children with epilepsy.

Finerenone reduces the risk of cardiovascular morbidity and mortality in patients with mild-to-moderate kidney disease and type 2 diabetes. That's the finding of late-breaking research published in the New England Journal of Medicine. Diabetic kidney disease develops in approximately 40% of patients with diabetes and is the leading cause of chronic kidney disease worldwide. Some patients progress to end-stage renal disease, but most die from cardiovascular diseases and infections before needing kidney replacement therapy.

Women ages 70 and older and men ages 20-49 were more likely to have uncontrolled hypertension despite taking blood pressure-lowering medications, according to new research presented at the American Heart Association's Hypertension Scientific Sessions 2021. The meeting is the premier scientific exchange focused on recent advances in basic and clinical research on high blood pressure and its relationship to cardiac and kidney disease, stroke, obesity and genetics. According to the American Heart Association, nearly half of adults in the U.S. have high blood pressure, which increases their risk for heart attack, stroke, kidney disease and many other health conditions, including severe complications from COVID-19.

A new plaque on the Black Heritage Trail honors Richard Potter.

Black Heritage Trail honors Richard Potter

On August 7th a Black Heritage Trail plaque was placed in Andover to honor the village's namesake, Richard Potter. Potter, who lived from 1783 to 1835, was one of America's first celebrities, a status he earned by traveling the country performing magic and ventriloquism. That he was a Black man who performed in every state makes his story that much more remarkable. Born the son of an enslaved woman in Massachusetts, Potter was performing in circuses and learning the magic trade in England by his early teens. By 1811, he was performing on his own back in the United States. According to the Andover Historical Society, "Richard had often performed at Benjamin Thompson's tavern in Andover and liked the area and the people. He purchased a 175-acre farm in 1814 and built a home that became a showplace. The neighborhood soon became known as 'Potter's Place.'" The Historical Society has also preserved the site where Potter and his wife, Sally, are buried, near the old depot, which serves as the Society's headquarters and museum. It's also a hub on the Northern Rail Trail, popular with cyclers.
