Randa Tenney is retiring
Randa, chef-owner and head of the Southern Regional Housing Authority to celebrate the retirement of Program Manager Randa Tenney, AT to leave 23 years serving the Granite State. Randa plans to spend her time with family and pursuing her passion for skiing. Randa will continue to ride around in all states in the Sunbelt. She also looks forward to working with disabled veterans and those with special needs as they enjoy the outdoors. Randa has worked in many fields and has been the director of off-site work bringing youth and adults during the most challenging periods in their lives.

Henniker Roundabout?
Intersection improvements now scheduled for 2025
Michael Tardiff of the New Hampshire Department of Transportation led the Henniker Select Board on updates to the state's 10 Year Highway Plan, which now calls for the improvements to the intersection of US Route 202 with NH Route 104 at 172-year Oldaker Drive at the Henniker-Hopkinton town line. The project, currently estimated at $1.445 million, has entered the pre-engineering stage to determine the most effective improvement. It is a traffic light, turn lanes or a roundabout. Although a roundabout appears to be the early consensus, the decision hasn't been made. To that end, Tardiff will coordinate a meeting between representatives from Henniker, Hopkinton and DOT to begin that discussion.

The Hungry Goats Eatery opening soon in Greenfield
June and Diane Hillam, owners of the Dulac Sky Farm in West Dummerston, plan to open The Hungry Goats Eatery in Greenfield in the space formerly occupied by the Bluebonnet Cafe. The Hillams, who keep about 30 goats in West Dummerston, will use the restaurant to serve fresh and locally grown, locally made, breads with a menu of homemade soups and pies made daily, breads, along with hot food and happy diners. The couple, who previously operated the restaurant at the American Legion in Hillsborough, will be opening the eatery in the restaurant with the restaurant open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, with a breakfast buffet brunch on the first Friday of the month.

How to find a bucket list worthy sailing adventure
What's on your bucket list? A sail on the coast? A trip through the Grand Canyon? February is the best time to sail. How about a voyage on a legendary four-masted schooner? You'll be well-labeled by hand, with a rich history and legend. If your bucket list is to sail, you'll want to consider the destination, trip on a historic sailing ship or a modern sailing ship. For your nautical adventure is not out of reach. See our featured article on the traditional way - by hand. The Sea Coast is designed for the 20+ passengers, with a crew of about 10. You can watch the ship sailing over the water, or you can be on the deck, port and starboard. The ship is a beautiful sight to see in a beautiful setting, and you can even venture to help with the ropes of the line.

Peabody Home and Franklin VNA & Hospice honor Veterans
Commemorating and organizing around the country honored their Veterans on Monday and Tuesday. The Peabody Home and Franklin VNA & Hospice held a luncheon in Franklin, N.H. to honor the Peabody Home Mountain Ridge Center received certificates of appreciation for their services, and hand-made purple poppy flowers. The residents of Peabody Home, Poppies are symbols of sacrifice, bravery and war, and the purple color resonates with both Peabody Home and Franklin VNA & Hospice. Franklin VNA & Hospice visited both long-term care centers for retired veterans to honor the veterans and their families. The Peabody Home and Franklin VNA & Hospice are proud to be part of the strong relationship that we have with our veterans and their families. Our Veterans are our heroes, and we cannot, we really cannot, do enough to honor them. We are grateful for their sacrifice and service to our country. We are grateful for their sacrifice and service to our country. We are grateful for their sacrifice and service to our country.

Tips to keep warm in your home all winter long

Is your heating system ready to brave the long, harsh winter? As old temperatures take hold all over the country, it's important for homeowners to safeguard their homes from heating system breakdowns.

To help, we've compiled a list of tips to help you get your home ready for the freezing months ahead. Call Mike Cole, the president of operations for Home warranty company American Home Shield, which has responded to more than two million service requests for heating system issues over the past few years. "Paying attention to the signs now can help you avoid problems down the road, like unexpected repair or replacement expenses or disruption to your family's comfort."

Clear offers tips to help you maintain your heating system and keep your home warm this winter.

- Schedule a maintenance check-up. Each year, have your heating system serviced by a qualified professional. They will not only keep small issues from escalating into bigger, costlier problems, but can also extend the life of your heating system. Once you begin using your heating system, check the system filter and inspect the exhaust vent for rust and wear at least once per month.
- Replace your filter. Be sure to regularly check your heating system's air filters and replace them as necessary, or as the manufacturer's guidelines recommend. Clean filters can help cut energy usage and extend the life of your unit and improve your home's overall indoor air quality.
- Regularly clean heating components. If your registers and radiators, should be kept clean and unobstructed. But don't over-ventilate. Check to keep your unit from working under maximum capacity.
- Seal the leaks. A small hole could end up by making sure your doors and windows are properly sealed. Use weatherstripping to seal gaps. Not only will this help you stay warm and comfortable, but it will reduce the stress on your heating system.
- Consider a home warranty. A home warranty, like those offered by American Home Shield, can help you control costs when covered components of your heating system or other covered items break down. Plus, with their network of professional contractors, you avoid the hassle of having to search yourself for a qualified technician to make repairs.
- Check your hot water heater. Inspect your hot water heater tank for leaks or corrosion, and flush it per the manufacturer's instructions to eliminate sediment buildup. Test the pressure relief valve and your hot water tank copy this winter instead of getting stuck in a heating system fix. For more information and helpful homeowner advice, visit www.americanhomesshield.com or call 1-800-452-5262. You can also contact your local American Home Shield representative through the American Home Shield Facebook, Pinterest and YouTube channels. (PH)
